Shortage — A Concern In Florida

Pair Of Pre FUN Auctions Total 9 Million

Early indications about the 2006 rare coin market point to a continuation of the bullish trend and jubilation that was firmly established in 2005. This information is via the hot spot for the new year in Orlando, where the Florida United Numismatist Show and auctions are in full swing. On January 4, after observing nearly a full day of activity, one dealer surmised that a severe demand and/or supply imbalance may exist. As expected, many dealers were actively trying to buy some nice material for customers and to improve the stature of their depleted inventories. Unfortunately, many were quickly dismayed because of the lack of choice material available on the bourse. It seemed that everyone was on the same page and there were not enough "attractive and interesting" rare coins offered to satisfy all of them. Consequently there are a lot of want lists and back orders that remain unfulfilled. On the other hand it's great that things are looking so positive as we begin a new year but it will obviously take a concerted effort just to locate more rare coins to have a shot at completing transactions.

It is a seller's market, with no apparent problem for those few dealers trying to sell in Orlando, as they had waves of buyers to choose from. Cost, for the moment is secondary. If the coin has any exceptional merits at all it is quickly sold. Why? "Because there is just a lot of cash out there..." said another dealer.

The financial markets are making rare coin purchases look attractive. Many first year coin buyers in 2005 are trying to add to their positions. However some new 2006 customers are also looking to buy coins immediately. Many active buyers agree that a combination of economic forces is necessitating their demand. Dealers say the economy is displaying an inflationary bias. Additionally, Gold bullion springing out of the 2006 gate to a level comfortably above $500 also favors greater rare coin demand. The weakened U.S. dollar has also provided an incentive for some. Of course perception has a lot to say about the state of things and the perception is that prices are heading higher. Naturally, the cream of the numismatic crop is the first to sell. So any coins that are considered to be premium quality for the grade are quickly bought. Coins that possess greater rarity are also being snapped-up on the spot at FUN. Key dates from any series are facing serious demand as well with one dealer emphasizing that better Choice and Gem examples have become primary targets on the bourse.

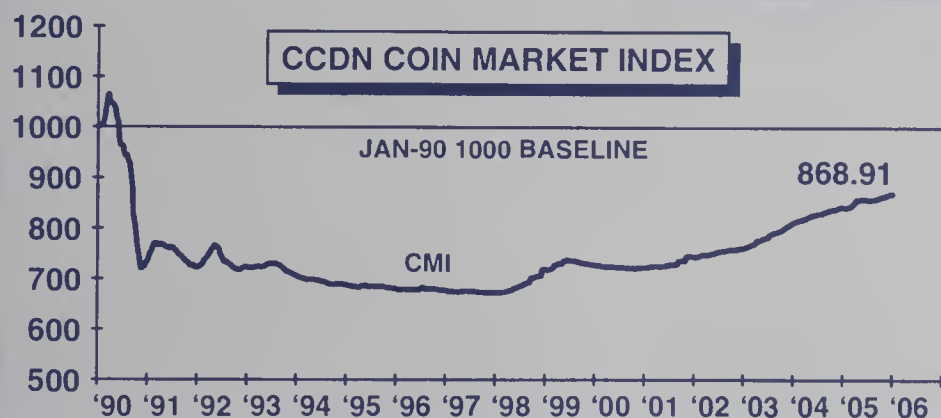

As most dealers still have ample cash reserves courtesy of the December coin buying draught, the sight-unseen market is off to an unexpectedly strong start considering the liquidity pressure from show and auction activity. Sight-unseen plus signs are a further indication of the extreme shortage of quality material. As always, some discounting is expected preceding a major show and auctions yet this week's declines seem to be limited to a few easily replaced Silver Commems, Walkers and Proof Singles.

Big ticket items are leading the way with a number of advances. Proof Gold is climbing up to 7% higher with many denominations participating. Popular Silver Commem issues are also in demand with keys such as the Isabella Quarter, Lafayette Dollar and Hawaiian Half moving up. Type is solid with Copper dominating as Large Cents in Choice, Very Choice and Gem ascend to levels more commensurate with their true rarity. Double digit percentage gains were common among Copper with Liberty Cap Large Cents vaulting more than 56 percent in MS64RB. Liberty and Shield Nickels are higher in PR65 and PR66. The $5 Indian is gaining attention among Gold Type. Collectors want MS63 and MS64 examples because of a huge jump that appears at the MS65 level. Meanwhile, generic Saints are still finding hordes of enthusiastic buyers. Common date Walkers in MS64 also increased a notch for both PCGS and NGC. We also observe continued activity targeting much ANACS graded material as a change in ownership and grading philosophy finds many wanting to get on board in anticipation of perhaps more elevated values for this revamped product. Still, a few doing their (Auction 101) homework could have snared up the following as a hefty 46% profit was had by one Bidder when a 1936 Mercury Dime graded NGC PR66 fell through the cracks for only $920 with a sight-unseen offer waiting at $1,700. A 1934 Walker graded MS66 by PCGS was hammered down at some 12% under current sight-unseen money and a pair of scarcer Morgan Dollars (1891 & 1880O) graded MS65 by ICG realized up to 31 percent below standing sight-unseen Bids.

The Prescott Collection auction by American Numismatic Rarities realized more than $5 million. This January 3rd sale preceded the FUN show. We listed a few of its many highlights. The Superior Elite Coin Auction already claimed $4 million on January 2nd.

2006 Market Very Active So Far

1885 Trade Dollar Changes Hands For $3.3 Million

The Florida United Numismatist Show turned out to be a pretty good one for the majority of dealers who made the trek to Orlando. Many of the them that left the colder climates found the weather to be pleasantly warm and the bourse to be quite hot. With scores of new collectors and investors entering the arena we find an early 2006 rare coin market that is doing just fine, enjoying the strong demand that characterized it the last few months of 2005. Of course virtually anything Gold was a major factor within the heated action occurring inside the convention center. With designs on breaking more records, the yellow metal remains a considerable force to reckon with as aggressive buyers looked to replace rapidly selling Gold coins. Most Dealers with varied and eye appealing inventory were also very pleased with the level of activity at FUN with many transactions being completed in prompt succession. Yet for many, the same concerns that plagued them last year remain. The supply of fresh material is just not available in quantities to satisfy this voracious demand. Buyers are still out there with want lists in hand, but unfortunately many of those desired dates and denominations are squirreled away in major collections without any immediate plans of hitting the market. Some are hoping that escalating prices paid at public auctions and on the bourse might persuade collectors into changing their minds by selling some much needed material. The consensus is if the offers are high enough then eventually someone is bound to bite. With this in mind at least one major want list coin can now be crossed off the list. On January 11, we learned that the finest of only five known 1885 Trade Dollars was bought for $3.3 million in a private transaction by Heritage of Dallas. The anonymous buyer is putting together one of the finest coin collections in the country. The seller of the NGC PR66 example was John Albanese of Far Hills, New Jersey. The classic rarity, formerly in the Louis E. Eliasberg Sr., Collection sold for $907,500 at auction in 1997. The coin again sold in 1999 for $1.5 million. This is the second rare coin to surpass the million dollar threshold in this very new year.

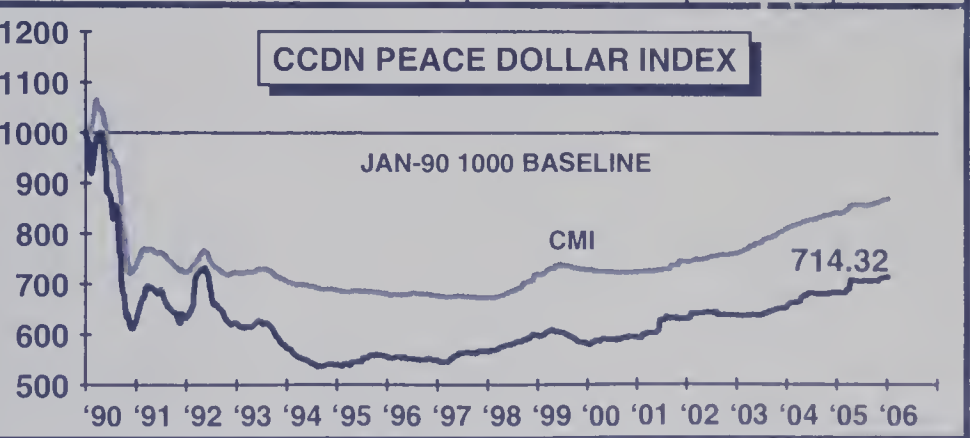

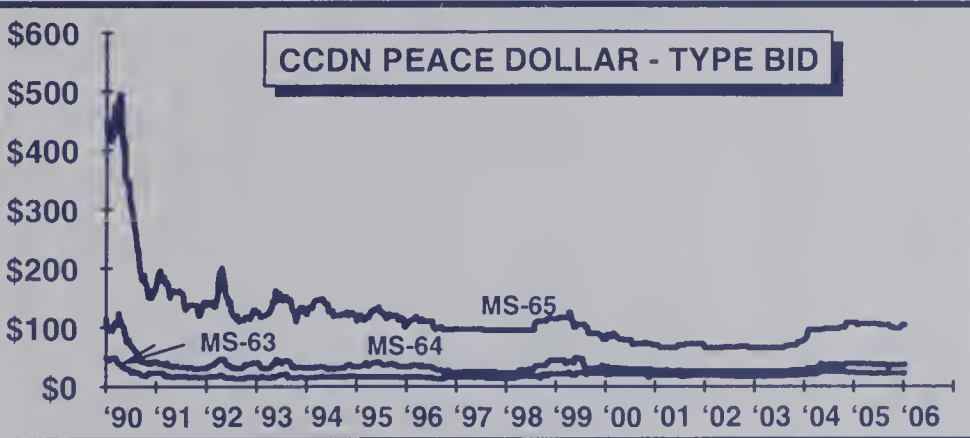

Taking all of this into consideration the sight-unseen market is still under some pressure due to the barrage of auction lots that hit the market during the first week of the new year. Many consignors understand that the coin market is very strong, so they often raise their expectations and reserve on many coins that they consign. This quantity of coins hitting the market also puts a strain on cash and credit positions. There must be enough available funds to absorb this material or prices will suffer. Consequently it is understandable to find some coins trading at lower levels. We know that it is becoming tougher to gain an advantage over one's competition but those that do their homework stand to benefit the most. However, it is difficult to understand why so many coins continue to sell below active sight-unseen Bids. For example even in the midst of an early copper frenzy we see that an 1804 Draped Bust Half Cent graded MS63BN by PCGS sold at auction for $1,495 for a quick 13% profit on a standing Bid. Then there was a NGC MS64 1925-S Peace Dollar hammered down at $299 with a sight unseen Bid waiting at some 19% higher. A popular Isabella Quarter graded PCGS MS65 sold at auction for $2,530, 6 percent below Bid and a NGC MS65 1878 7TF reverse of '79 Morgan realized $1,380 at auction, 10 percent below its sight-unseen Bid. Hopefully a few dealers are happily taking advantage of these opportunities. Mint State Type, Proof Type, Silver Commems, Morgan and Peace Dollars, Walkers, Mercs, Buffaloes and Proof Singles all had a mild case of discounting this week. Dealers often look to blow-out some stale material that has been adorning their inventory for too long a period. For them, unfortunately, others have also seen these coins at shows throughout the year as well. Still, auctions are a great venue for these no longer wanted rarities as cash is waiting. On the positive side, the sight-unseen market is also displaying strength in select areas. Gold Commemoratives and Early Gold Type remain very strong. Among the Gold Commems, nearly every issue in MS64 or better are posting higher offers. At least one well known west coast dealer is in the hunt for early Gold Type as $5 Gold from 1797-1829 posted a sizable advance in MS63 and MS64. The same buyer is also looking for $5 Capped Bust from 1807-1829 in MS63 increasing sharply with 55 percent gains since last month. $10 Gold from 1797-1804 in MS63 and MS65 is also wanted by this aggressive buyer and realized 45 percent and 51 percent gains respectively. Two tough Mercs, 1926-S in MS64 and 1945 in MS64FB each jumped more that 12 percent.

Finally, Proof Gold is actually telling us more about the state of the market by what's not happening. You don't see any minus signs, despite many recent auction sales of Proof Gold. This is certainly an area of the market that is finding buyers and it also indicates that the bull market remains solidly intact in early 2006. It also tells us that five-figure sums appear plentiful and available for high powered rare coins.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

You probably haven't seen our work.

All you'll see is a beautiful coin.

A common first reaction to a professionally conserved coin is wonderment. Conservation reduces the ill effects of improper storage or exposure to environmental contaminants — substantially improving a coin's visual appeal.

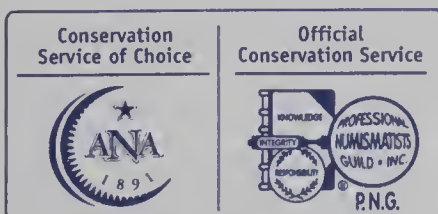

Most conservation projects involve only the removal of surface impurities, enhancing the vibrancy of the coin's original patina.

Specific conservation focuses attention on a small area of a coin's surface to remove a spot or debris. This eliminates a visual distraction and removes the impurity that may cause further deterioration.

By returning a coin's surface to its original state, its natural beauty shines through. The professional conservation goes unnoticed, and the result is a beautiful coin.

Record $1.9 Million For 1927-D Saint New York Auction Claims $8.9 Million

For many dealers, strong cash reserves, good walking shoes and vitamin supplements will be mandatory if they are going to have the stamina to keep up with the torrid pace this market has set in January. In a continuation of the rousing start of the new year, nearly $9 million was hammered down in New York at the recently concluded John J. Ford, Jr. and Americana sale hosted by Stack's Jan 16-18. With virtually no time to digest this sale many dealers had to pack their bags for the Houston Money show which is next on their taxing agenda in Texas on January 20-22. For many professional dealers they seem to have little time for anything else as it has been virtually one show and auction after another. Yet few are seen complaining and want to take advantage of this hot market right now. All this activity is further enhanced because it is the beginning of a new year and dealers are anxious to place some nice coins with their customers. Dealers know that when the market is so strong and expected to remain so throughout the year, it is prudent to place coins with their customers as early in the year as they can. Many believe that delaying these transactions today may result in a lost opportunity. For if and when that special coin returns it quite possibly will be at higher price. A bit of a catch-22 but many dealers would rather see their customers get the best value that they can now. Naturally, there are many things to consider before making any transaction. Fortunately dealers have a lot of tools at their disposal such as population reports, the internet and immediate access to communications via cell phones in the palms of their hands that weren't available to them only 20 years ago. Certainly today's savvy collectors are aware of this and also want to acquire as much valuable information as they can before acting. They want to feel confident about each coin they buy today so there won't be too many problems later when it comes time for them, or their heirs to liquidate their holdings. That's why many collectors and investors are careful in choosing a knowledgeable dealer to assist them. They know that a dealer's experience and guidance will go a long way in helping them make intelligent choices.

Gold coins continue to shine in all segments of the coin market with Gold Spot becoming increasingly more volatile as it continues to move higher. The $20 Saint-Gaudens series is not only popular with collectors but it has already made its mark in 2006 as two Gem 1927-D keys crashed the

$1 million barrier. The latest trade goes to an anonymous east coast collector. He paid more than $1.9 million for the PCGS MS66 Eliasberg specimen 1927-D $20 Saint-Gaudens key. The sale was reported by North American Certified Trading, a division of Spectrum Numismatics on January 18. This is the second 1927-D to sell for over $1 million this month as an NGC MS65 realized more than $1.32 million at the FUN Signature Auction by Heritage. For those on a more modest budget common and rare date Saints are also higher this week. MS61 and MS65 common dates jumped by 7 percent and 5 percent respectively since last week for both PCGS and NGC. This depicts the strong demand for Mint State examples of these popular Double Eagles. Some better dates had solid advances since last month. A 30 percent gain was seen for 1916-S in NGC MS65 while an NGC MS66 1926 had nearly a similar increase. In MS64, the 1916-S jumped 15 percent for both PCGS and NGC. We do note that some softness is occurring among Silver Commemoratives. Dealers obviously know that they can replenish this stock at nearly anytime. Still, we do see as many as two dozen common issues dropping from 5-12 percent. Some of them include: the Boone Bicentennial, 1936-D San Diego, Long Island and Bridgeport issues. Morgan Dollars are quiet but common MS66s are inching up to a higher Bid of $250. Discounting is evident among the volatile Franklin Half Dollar market with many continuing to sell at auction for well below current sight-unseen Bids. Consider a PCGS MS65FBL 1952-D that sold at auction for $88 while at least two dealers are offering to pay $124 sight-unseen.

One area of the market that hasn't slowed its pace since last year is that of the ultra rarities as a triumphant trio have been sold privately or at auction for over $1 million each to start off the 2006 campaign. As we previously noted Stack's auction in New York realized nearly $9 million. There were many enthusiastic Bidders indicative of a strong market. We listed a few of the many highlights.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Sharp Gains For $50 Pan-Pacs & $4 Stellas Silver Sees 1987 Levels At $9.55

The rare coin market has been able to maintain the momentum it achieved in 2005 as even higher price levels usher in 2006. Those that were nervous about the market's initial adjustment to the flurry of "January white sales" can probably relax as strong demand for coins is still very much a part of the equation. New collectors are entering the market in January but there's more here. Dealer liquidity is going to continue to play an important role in the level of demand as we maneuver our way through February. The large number of auction lots waiting in the wings next month will have a huge say as to the staying power of the current bull.

Most astute dealers that have assessed the market don't ascertain that much has changed, economically, to reverse their thinking. They believe that the 2006 rare coin market will only add to the increases that it has already achieved. Of course Gold continues to rage and will be a strong force as it was last year. Yet now we observe that Silver is making a big play, pushing to $9.55 per oz with obvious designs on double digits. This sometimes overlooked player has posted a 39% gain since January 28th 2005 and with it attained levels not seen since 1987 when PCGS MS65 Morgans were trading sight-unseen for $270. Many precious metal analysts, believe that increased volatility in bullion will cause some wider up and down swings this year. Of course "Black Gold" may have something to say about Yellow Gold. Some analysts believe that crude oil prices have helped to sustain Gold's robust levels. We note that oil prices are not only holding their high prices at the pump but continue to push a bit higher on the world markets. Depleted inventories are another aspect of the market that can provide a solid demand source that will keep it healthy. Yet, if demand for Silver and Gold bullion continues to push higher this year it will only prove to be a continued catalyst for onlookers on the sidelines to enter the numismatic realm.

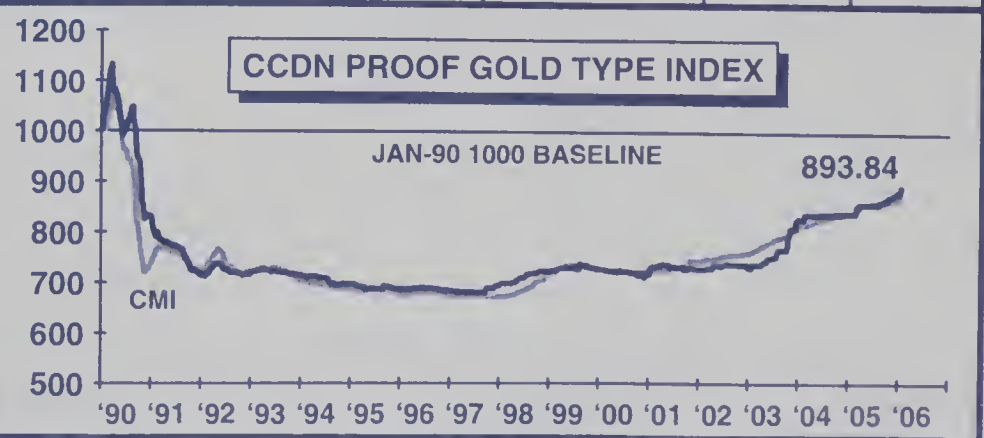

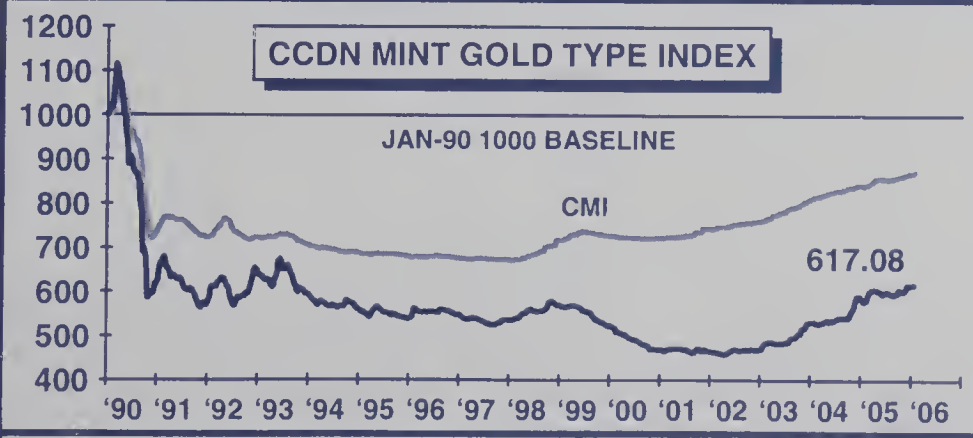

Dealers continually need fresh coins to offer their customers. Interest is not only maintained but seems to grow as each batch of fresh material arrives. Unfortunately dealers have had to pay top dollar so the higher prices passed along make them a little more difficult to sell. At the same time rare dates and keys to most series are needed in quantity at virtually any price. Consequently competition is increasing as more dealers participate for this material. Strong demand and higher price levels characterized the Houston Money Show, but unfortunately sufficient quantities of material just weren't available. The Jules Reiver Collection auction, still in progress as this is being written, is already realizing exceptional Bids. Half Cents and Large Cents are finding interested buyers all over the place. These Bids are not for Gem quality examples. Instead these powerful results are for rare varieties that may have a myriad of problems. We are talking about Circulated examples with environmental damage, scratches, corrosion, etc. Still, rarity and variety sell well and that is very evident today. Next, Bowers and Merena, Superior and the Goldbergs will all be holding pre-Long Beach auctions in California from February 4-8 in Beverly Hills.

For its part, the sight-unseen market is also displaying bullish tendencies. Demand is evident as coins are needed and the sight-unseen route may be an unexpected pleasure for some. Popular key issues are the ones targeted among the Silver and Gold Commemoratives. The Isabella Quarter, Lafayette Dollar and Hawaiian Half are headed higher. These issues are necessary for any serious Commem collector. However other Commems are also participating with the Monroe Doctrine taking top honors with a 15 percent jump in PCGS MS65. Among Gold, both $50 Panama-Pacific Expo issues have vaulted higher in PCGS/NGC grades of MS61 and MS62. In MS61, the Octagonal leaped 42 percent while the Round increased 27 percent. Select better date Carson City Morgan Dollars are advancing. This includes: 1879-CC Capped Die, 1885-CC, 1889-CC and 1892-CC. Incidentally, the 1892-CC soared 17 percent in MS61 for both PCGS and NGC. Key Dollars also moving higher include the 1886-O in MS64 and the 1934-S in MS62 and MS65. Common date Walkers are slightly higher in MS65, MS66 and MS67. Early coins still find the greatest demand. Capped Bust Quarters are finding buyers among Mint State Type while Proof Type remains solid at current levels. In MS64, PCGS Capped Bust Quarters turned in a 40 percent gain. Mint State Gold is holding on to its past gains while the Proof 1879 $4 Flowing Hair Stella is higher in several grades. Usually a 10 percent gain, while pretty good doesn't make the headlines. However check out the Proof 61 and Proof 62 percent gains for the Stella this week. The NGC PR61 jumped more than 15 percent at $71,000 Bid.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets. Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks, sell list, coin show, and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase, or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "l" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" - Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN albeit, on a sight basis.

Coin Presentation Redefined.

Bring the Pride of Your Collection into Your Home or Office with an NGC Photo Proof.

*Just one of the ways

The coins in your collection are among your most cherished possessions. Yet, because of their value, many of your finest and most interesting pieces must be securely locked away. While you'd love to keep these prized examples at home to display for family and friends, this risk has until now made it impractical. Now you can bring the satisfaction of presenting your finest pieces back into your home and office with the PHOTO PROOF digital imaging and presentation service from NGC. With PHOTO PROOF, you can share the joy of coin collecting with young and old, while your coins remain safely stored in a vault.

Gold Plows Ahead Undervalued Market Segments

Last week we identified the existence of higher prices for 2006 with only one month completed. How long the bull market lasts depends on a number of variables that interact with it in the world markets. It also depends on our economy and the strength of the collector base. If we were to judge it by the recently concluded Reiver sales triumphant and somewhat fanatical results, both collector coins and its base of support has been fortified. Certainly some new comers may ask if it is prudent to buy at today's levels? Many dealers still see a lot of areas that represent good value for their customers, even at the higher levels. Despite the sharp increases in select areas for the past few years additional segments remain undervalued, in their opinion and therefore a bargain if you can find coins. One such area may be within the Mercury Dime series. With ongoing demand and supporting Bids following Ms. Winged Liberty on a weekly basis, some are surprised to see that in a series loaded with scarce and rare coins that this group as a whole is at a virtual standstill since February 2, 2001. Mint State Type encompasses a broader scope yet here too, over the last 5 years we only observe about a 5% increase in the CCDN Coin Market Index.

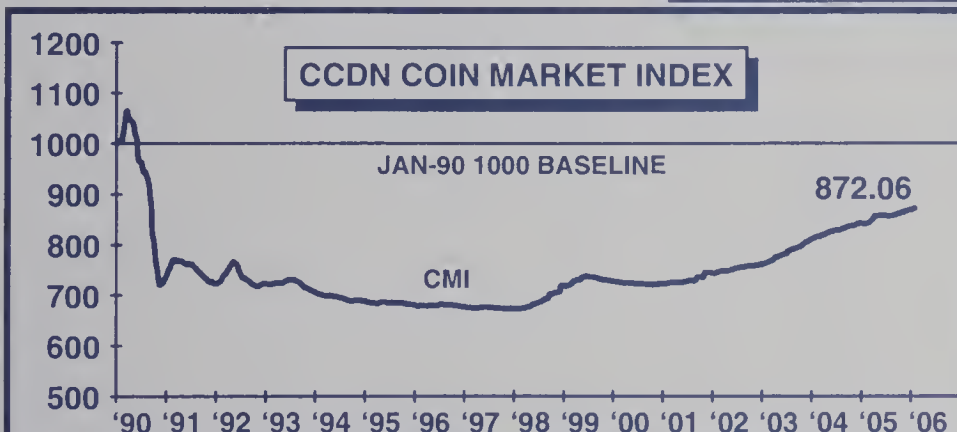

So, will February cast a shadow on the momentum realized in January? Certainly most have become much too sophisticated to let the whimsical muses of an east coast groundhog foretell the future direction of the weather. We are not clairvoyant, yet in light of this market's current activity we feel confident that the majority of dealers and hard core collectors would be comfortable in saying that at least 6 more weeks of this bull climate will likely continue. Dealers confirm that there's still a lot of money sitting on the sidelines waiting for its entry into the rare coin market. However, the strength seen in select higher priced rare coins may mean that more than just investment money is earmarked for our market. Several high-powered collectors are also willing to pay strong money for these numismatic treasures as well. Has this been the case for $4 Stellas, $20 High Reliefs and $50 Pan-Pacs? Expectations are equal to the task at hand with a lot of optimism echoing from the bourse at coin shows and the floor at public auctions held countrywide. Demand is also seen as an important driving force for these sentiments as dealers try to position themselves for the next round of auctions and shows. California auctions by Bowers & Merena, Ira & Larry Goldberg, Superior and Heritage will give us important clues to the market's staying power as thousands of more coins become available. Another factor is Gold and Silver. The precious metals must be considered as a formidable ingredient for this sustained and powerful demand. Some analysts have warned that the metals may be ahead of themselves and that profit taking could be around the corner. Still, few if any have thrown in the towel as they believe that the continuation of the secular bull market for the precious metals remains intact. Higher Bids for bullion sensitive material are a result of this continued need. Interest from additional buyers is gaining as well, due to the glowing media reports touting strong prices for Gold and Silver not seen in over 20 years.

Naturally the myriad of auctions combined with the Long Beach Expo is drawing away some of the sight-unseen market's focus. Still, Bids are holding relatively firm as most inventories remain soft and demand solid. The bright spot is Gold. Mint State Gold is finding buyers for several denominations in multiple grades. PCGS, NGC, ICG and ANACS are all enjoying higher Bids. Indian Type Gold is especially strong with $3, $5 and $10 examples increasing in several grades. Buyers believe that continued opportunity remains in these issues and quantities are needed. High Reliefs are scoring huge gains for PCGS, NGC and ICG in grades from MS61 thru MS65. PCGS and NGC each leaped 27 percent in MS63. MS63 appears to be the grade of choice this week among Gold as $2.50

Liberties and $10 Indians soared 15 percent and 13 percent respectively. Mint State Type is sporting many supporting Bids throughout. The star in this category is the Capped Bust Half Dollar where increases are seen in several grades. The increase is strongest for the MS62 grade, up 5 percent for PCGS and 4 percent for NGC. ANACS is displaying robust activity with Liberty Seated Half Dimes, Dimes, Quarters and Halves participating. Draped Bust and Barber Half Dollars are also higher. Proof Gold is attracting more buyers with plus signs seen for Gem $2.50 Indians, up 5 percent, one percent increase for $3 Princesses in PR64 and a pair of 3.5 percent gains for $20 Liberties in PR65 and $20 High Reliefs in PR67. Sight-unseen 5-figure Bids are the nature of Proof Gold and an example of ample money available for major rarities. The balance of the sight-unseen market is steady.

Type Attracts Higher Sight-Unseen Bids "Heated" Pre-Long Beach Sales Yield $15.6 Million

The bull market definitely remains in place but was a little subdued during dealer set-up day. Expectations were running very high preceding the show but the sharp drop in Gold and Silver just prior to its opening may have taken away some of the excitement. By the 2nd day, Gold and Silver rebounded and so did the show's excitement. However many of the dealers that we talked with were frustrated at their inability to find nice material. Want lists are growing and these collectors are anxiously waiting to buy rare coins. The age of many of these collectors ranges from their 40s thru the 50s. For the most part, these are educated, well-heeled professionals that are developing a passion for collecting coins. They are rather knowledgeable within the series of their choice and they aren't afraid to spend hefty sums if the right coin comes along. They are buying everything from early Bust material thru the popular series of Cents thru Dollars. One dealer said that Standing Liberty Quarters are hot. He believes that this is one of the areas of the market that has lagged behind other series. His customers are looking for attractive examples that possess Full Head detail. Unfortunately, he lamented, "they are just hard to find." Nevertheless, dealers are out there looking for these coins but it is becoming more difficult for them to find and buy them. Another concern is the extreme volatility in the marketplace. The prices keep increasing at a rapid pace and they are having difficulty keeping up with their businesses. Years ago it was a lot easier when they readily knew the value of a particular coin as prices remained stable. Today, they are constantly checking their inventories and are re-pricing coins at their current values. This additional work takes them a lot of time and that makes for very long days.

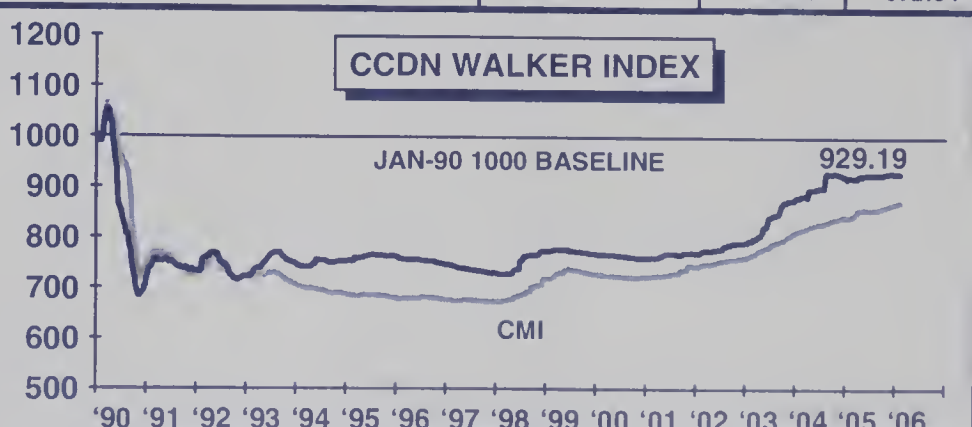

Auctions have dominated the attention of dealers in recent days. The February 5-7 Pre-Long Beach Elite Coin Auction by Superior realized over $5.1 million. The Pre-Long Beach Sale by Ira & Larry Goldberg brought in another $10.5 million. We listed a few highlights from each. Demand for certified coins spilled over to the sight-unseen market. Type is usually one of those items that is high on most wish lists. Strong increases are appearing this week for quality Type coins led by Copper Half Cents. Draped Bust, Braided Hair and Classic Head examples have posted some impressive weekly gains. Braided Hair in PCGS MS65RB skyrocketed 20 percent to $1,200 Bid. In Red it jumped 14 percent. Capped Bust Half Dollars were receiving strong Bids as well. PCGS MS62 examples climbed 14 percent while NGC MS63 finished with over a 6 percent spike. At the other end of the spectrum, an NGC MS67 Liberty Seated Half Dime with Arrows example fell 11.2 percent to $7,275 Bid. The prohibitively high cost of collecting every date of the series has made collecting by Type popular. York County Maine and Wisconsin Commemorative Half Dollars pushed higher in MS65 thru MS67. Common date Morgan Dollars are a bit higher in MS65 and MS66, now Bid $108 and $255. Some common late date Buffaloes are also up in high grades. Early Gold issues remain strong with $5 Capped Bust 1807-1812 leading the pack this week. Early Gold was pretty active in 2005 and looks to be doing fine in 2006. Mint Gold Type is among today's most in-demand coins. Plus signs continue to be omnipresent throughout our Bid columns each week although Gold's volatility may affect its short term progress. Still, the overall trend for Gold appears headed to crack the $600 plateau sometime this year.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers and are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

CIRCULATION & ADVERTISING Betty Morris

6 Month: $67.41; 1 Year: $117.81; 2 Year: $218.81

The Fine Print
The ICG Seven Day Guarantee - ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. Example: If your 10 coin Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CONECA world and ancient coins. "Days" are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. Nothing in this offer precludes or supersedes the terms and conditions on the ICG grading submission form.

Classic Silver Commems Rack Up Gains Mint State Type Advances

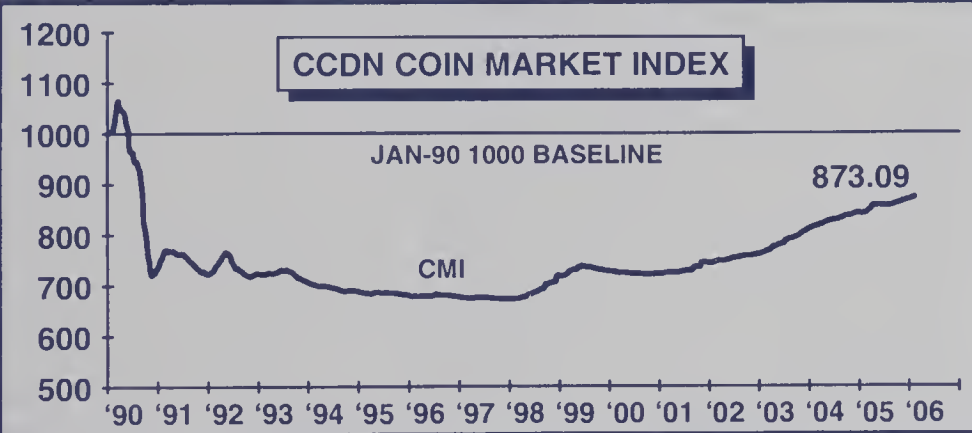

The rare coin market was sizzling as the Long Beach Expo approached and it stayed hot throughout the show. Obviously there is still a lot of demand chasing after specific coins. Buyers are aggressively looking for value and coins that have solid potential for future appreciation. Although rare coins remain in a bull market it is still important to do your homework before taking the plunge. Many of this new breed of high tech collectors are busy utilizing the impressive array of statistics at their disposal to capture some potential diamonds in the ruff. Yet most collectors do rely heavily on the sage advice of their dealer experts before making that final decision and acquisition. Some professionals that we talked with at the Long Beach Expo feel more comfortable and confident placing their money in rare coins that have an added allure to them. For example, a rarity with a story or interesting attribute or historic anecdote does wonders, just like luster, eye appeal or exceptional strike; this can set a coin above the rest. On the other hand increased volatility in the precious metals can make for many a sleepless night if you are not completely confident in yours, and your dealer's convictions and choice prior to taking ownership. Bullion related coins will be at the mercy of this increased volatility and this should be an important consideration before you buy or sell. Certainly patience and research will help put you in the right place at the right time. This comparative advantage goes a long way towards making a good purchase and an even longer way when it comes time to sell.

The sight-unseen market is interesting in two respects this week. First, sight-unseen Bids are evident in several areas, reflecting the strong demand for rare coins. Apparently the gap between demand and supply is still large enough to entice dealers to Bid aggressively for certified material, even if it means not being able to see the coin first. With prices continuing to climb almost daily, dealers want to secure some material now. After all, they have customers waiting in the wings to view their new purchases. In another aspect that's indicative of today's volatility and volume in the market, we continue to find coins selling below current sight-unseen Bid. Of course this discounting means lost money for someone who wasn't paying attention and easy pickings for some alert dealer or collector. It isn't surprising when you consider the large number of auction lots hitting the market around major coin shows such as the Long Beach Expo. Sometimes coins are sold quickly to raise funds allowing one to be vulnerable to "bottom feeders". Such may have been the case as a 1954S Franklin Half graded PCGS MS66 slid by for $161 as a $215 sight-unseen Bid was standing by. Or what about a PCGS MS66 1953-S Washington Carver Commemorative selling for $300 at auction, 20 percent below its $375 sight-unseen Bid. We also noticed a PCGS MS66 1898 Morgan Dollar realize $437 at auction in spite of the $490 sight-unseen Bid. To be sure, discounting is just a byproduct of an active market but as these examples reveal it could pay solid dividends for those ambitious dealers willing to do a bit more homework. Still the overall strength appearing in the sight-unseen market is just another indication that the bull is still with us. This week's increases also point to the power of this extraordinary demand. Silver Commemoratives powered forward this week with several issues celebrating double digit advances. The Antietam, Hawaiian, Hudson, Spanish Trail and Columbia, S.C. Half Dollars scored solid gains in multiple grades. Classic Silver Commems are favorites because they offer collectors a series with many designs that represent important periods and times in our history. In the past year many of the Classic Silver components have shown a spirited increase in Gem and we have listed several of the top single performers. Common date MS64 Morgan Dollars are slightly higher, gaining more than 2.3 percent. Morgan Dollars continue to retain a large, active base of buyers. Similarly, generic Peace Dollars in MS65 recorded a nearly 2 percent increase. Mint State Type is solid, reflecting most dealers' opinion that want lists are loaded with takers of this material. No Cent Liberty Nickels top the list with a 19 percent jump for PCGS MS65 examples. This is a popular Gem that most Type collectors desire. Shield Nickels and Barber Half Dollars also advanced in Gem. Gold Type is generally quiet as bullion retreats. Barber Quarters dominated the Proof Type Bid columns with slight gains in PR64 thru PR66. Walkers are also taking a hike as many from 1934 on, are packing as much as a 9% gain in Gem or better.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Introducing the boldest, most courageous coin book ever... THE COIN COLLECTOR'S SURVIVAL MANUAL® FIFTH EDITION by Scott A. Travers

"The most important coin book ever written... a spectacular tour de force that surely will be proclaimed an instant classic – and undoubtedly will stand for years to come as the gold standard for coin books on consumer protection and investment." –Ed Reiter, Senior Editor, COINage

Consumer advocate Scott A. Travers, reveals trade secrets on how you can make money and avoid even the smallest mistakes in the rare coin marketplace in his new Random House book. This straight-forward guide candidly examines grading controversies and the popularity of registry sets, playing the "crack out" game with third-party encapsulated coins, and the dangers of online auctions and coin doctoring.

1,200 consumer protection caveats give you the most candid advice on how to buy and sell coins profitably, whether it's a sleeper found on the bourse or a multi-million dollar rarity seen at auction. Detailed photographs of coins with genuine and difficult-to-detect artificial toning give you unprecedented side-by-side comparisons.

Illustrated with more than 260 state-of-the-art digital color and black and white images of coins, this 400-page guide packs a powerful, one-two punch. It combines a thorough update of earlier editions of The Coin Collector's Survival Manual with another of Travers' seven acclaimed books, How to Make Money in Coins Right Now. Both were bestsellers in their own right, and now both are available in a single, updated and timely volume. Among the topics covered in the new mega-book:

- Coins overgraded by grading services (text page 79, color photos insert page 13).
- How you can capitalize on the gyrations of gold prices when buying rare and generic gold coins. What specific coins you should buy when gold is moving up, and how to minimize losses when gold prices are falling (page 157).
- Extraordinary insights and secrets of crack-outs and getting lucrative upgrades from third-party grading services. Well-known dealer Jim Halperin tells how he made millions in profits by resubmitting coins and expands his secret list (page 140).
- Exposing the pitfalls and avoiding the perils when buying coins through online auctions (page 212).
- Detecting altered, counterfeit and "doctored" coins (page 126).
- How the popular registry set programs have changed the numismatic market, and how to use registry sets to your advantage (page 187).
- Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when not to do anything (page 251).
- Comprehensive discussions by leading experts about taxes and tax consequences on buying and selling numismatic items, including record keeping, estate planning secrets, retirement plans and in-kind exchanges (page 284).
- Security issues now facing the most advanced collectors and investors after 9/11 and natural disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina (page 318).

This is the book about the coin business "you can't afford to be without." Newsweek

"Should be read before a single coin is bought - and read again and again!" Coin World

"...if followed closely, it should help [you] do far more than just survive; it should point the way to prosperity." The New York Times

"A significant contribution to the consumer protection literature...must reading for any potential investor who believes it is better to buy a book first than to have to hire a lawyer later." Barry J. Cutler, former Director, Federal Trade Commission Bureau of Consumer Protection

Now you can survive and make money in coins right now!

The Fine Print
*The ICG Seven Day Guarantee - ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. Example: If your 10 coin Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CONFIDENTIAL world and ancient coins. "Days" are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. SEPTEMBER 1997

BULL MARKET CONTINUES IRISH AUCTION PRODUCES STRONG PRICES

across the market

by Kevin Foley

The Market for collectible paper money continued its pattern of broad strength. Lyn Knight's recent offering of the 1911 Irish Collection at auction in conjunction with an associated paper money bourse can be regarded as a success. The Irish event was one of no less than five paper money shows which have or will be held this year.

The ability of the marketplace to support a growing number of dedicated specialty events demonstrates the growing breadth of the collector-dealer base. A prediction made a decade ago that 1997 would see five successful paper money shows might have been greeted with laughter. Yet, that is precisely what we will have this year.

LARGE SIZE TYPE NOTES

Collectors continue to be very much focused on this area. The growing demand continues to exert upward pressure on prices. Buyers also continue their emphasis on eye appeal, focusing on how generally attractive a note looks, regardless of its technical grade. This results in an overlapping of prices from grade to grade. An especially nice looking example of a lower grade commanding a higher price than a piece of a technically superior grade.

The upper end of the quality spectrum, Choice and Gem Notes are experiencing more demand than existing supplies are able to support. The result is a continuing pattern of price increases. Collectors seeking Gem Notes soon learn that once they get beyond the half dozen or so most common notes their quest can be quite a challenge.

This recognition results in some unexpectedly high prices at auction. When multiple bidders focus on the same notes and realize it may be months or even much longer before another example is offered, the price guides tend to be abandoned as a bidding aid.

SMALL SIZE TYPE NOTES

Small type continues to grow in popularity. Early Federal Reserve Notes are especially prominent on collector want lists. These once shunned notes amply demonstrate the growing breadth of the market.

A decade ago they could typically be acquired for the most modest premiums over face. Whatever difficulty collectors faced in finding such notes were generally related to the fact that the inventory of a dealer's effort to acquire them. Today the growing demand has called forth greater supply and early finders are often rewarded in significant auction results. The price market continues to be the focus of intense collector interest. Prices in this specialty area are expected to stay, the more unusual or spectacular the better the price. It seems that no matter how many errors are stored at an auction, bidders want even more.

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY

Fractional continues to be the spot of the specialty area. While very scarce and the highest quality Choice and Gem material enjoy strong demand, common pieces in more ordinary grades are less in demand.

There is simply more Fractional available than collectors want to have. The result is that when offered from dealer inventories, it can move quite slowly. When offered at auction, prices are some times rather spotty.

For buyers this can represent repeated opportunities to acquire notes at relatively attractive levels. Until more people want to buy fractional this overall pattern can be expected to continue.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES

National Bank Notes continue to enjoy considerable collector interest. "Type" National Notes existing in larger quantities and sought as representative of their general design type rather than for their issuing bank, are much in demand at the higher quality levels. Buyers of such material can be quite frustrated at their inability to find what they are looking for. Too many buyers and not enough available material can only translate to higher prices in the future.

Demand for National Notes whose value is predicated on the scarcity of the issuing bank remains at historically high levels. Since collectors continue to specialize geographically, prices are also very much dependent on where a note is from in addition to its rarity. Some states are very much in demand while others enjoy far less vigorous buyer interest.

Dealers who fail to keep informed of the many individual state markets can easily find themselves "burned" in a scarce note from a state with limited collector interest.

MISCELLANEOUS

The market for Double Date Notes remains quite strong but continues to move toward the type of geographical specialization which characterizes the National market. Thus, place of origin can be just as if not more important than general rarity.

Confederate Notes continue to be very popular as do Stocks and Bonds.

The Greensheet reports the national currency market on a monthly basis.

Walkers Being Chased By Higher Bids

$7 Million Sealed Bid Auction Scheduled

The sight-unseen market continues to serve its purpose for those dealers who trade coins in this high tech fashion. Whether buying or selling, sight unseen Bids can be hit when dealers need to raise cash quickly or when a hectic show circuit and bourse action has devoured some of their bread and butter inventory and is in need of replenishment. Regardless of the reason or season, this well tuned medium allows transactions to be promptly completed in real time, free of negotiations. Just a quick scan of current offerings; see something you need or want to unload? Oulla, press a button, payment and merchandise are then exchanged, usually within days. This nifty system also allows cash strapped dealers to evaluate their inventories and sell off coins that they have been unable to move for much needed funds. Money received may be utilized to buy a deal or for any other unexpected expense. Often though, it's the deal that necessitates a sight-unseen hit. That's because you never know when an unusually good collection is going to walk through your door and you need to have funds available to take advantage of the opportunity. Buyers on the electronic trading networks are happy when their Bids are hit because they are usually able to acquire select coins at bargain levels. One active sight-unseen market maker said that Bids aren't being hit as frequently right now. Naturally he gives credit to the generally strong rare coin market. He believes that the continuing bull market is mostly responsible for this condition. Retail sales for most are doing very well and this provides ample funds for current business needs. Also, dealers have been doing better than expected at shows. Many have been able to sell some coins for better prices than they had originally intended, putting them in a better cash-flow position. So, it all adds up to a smaller number of coins slated for a sight-unseen (quick) sale. However this doesn't mean that sight-unseen buying has totally dried-up. One dealer said that he was pleased recently when he was able to buy some "sizable lots" sight-unseen. Some of the coins bought included: Proof Type, Mint State Type and some Gold. Denominations such as $2.50 Indians, $5 Liberty and $10 Liberty and Indians grading MS61 thru MS63 are among those issues often sought-after in this forum. This week's higher sight-unseen Bids continue to reflect the bull market that remains in place. Among Mint State Type, Barber and Seated Liberty have been actively changing hands. Barber Halves in Gem have now increased for two consecutive reports, up more than 11 percent in MS65 and MS66. Proof Type grading PR65 thru PR67 has transacted sight-unseen action as well. Check out the 20% increase for PR66 Red 2¢ pieces. Potentially undervalued issues are receiving large Bid increases this week. Walking Liberty Half Dollars are stepping lively these days as double digit increases found their way to more than 3 dozen examples in grades MS64 thru MS67. These increases are primarily targeting the middle dates from 1934-1940. An MS64 1940-S brought the strongest gain with PCGS examples vaulting 80 percent while NGC soared 60 percent. Peace Dollars often take a back seat to its less shy cousin, the Morgan Dollar, however it is the Peace Dollar that's making a serious statement with a huge advance for the 1922-S in MS66. PCGS examples are up an incredible 51% at $6,800 while NGC specimens increased more than 36% at $6,000 Bid. Savvy dealers simply believed that the existing Bids were low and unrealistic when compared to market levels. Despite these increases buyers have doubts that their new Bids will be hit, although they hope they are successful.

Common date Morgan Dollars moved slightly higher in MS65 and MS66 for both PCGS and NGC. Silver Commems have been riding a wave of buyers recently as Bids continue to push higher. Again, it's the popular Hawaiian and Spanish Trail doing well this week with the latter issue up in several Gem quality grades, including a steep 19% in MS67. Also, the "Plymouth Rock" solid 1920 and 1921 Pilgrim issues are each sporting a gain of more than 5% in Gem this week. Other Gem quality coins doing well included a 25% jump for a 1929-S Buffalo Nickel in PCGS MS66. Discounting was rather light this week with just a few issues trading below sight-unseen Bid such as a 1873 Open 3 Quarter Eagle graded NGC MS61 finding a new roost at $276 while a sight-unseen offer of $346 was left on the table. Franklin Halves were also heard from as a 1952 NGC PR67 was hammered down for $278 some 22% below sight-unseen Bid. Several 1930's and 1940's Walkers missed the wave of increases as well with Gem or better material realizing as much as 15% under current blind Bidding. Finally, over 7 million dollars of certified coins and currency is being offered for sale by "Sealed Bids Only" through Capital Coin Fund Ltd. II, with a deadline of March 29th in Ohio. Some powerful pieces are on the block including, a 1795 13 Leaves Eagle graded MS65 by PCGS. An 1835 Classic Head $5 NGC PR68 and a Center Bust 1795 Dollar graded NGC MS66. Currency buffs will also have a field day as 2 dozen $10,000 Notes from the Binion hoard will be auctioned. Much of the remaining material offered consists of generic high grade Morgan Dollars, Proof Singles, Gold Type and Silver Commemoratives.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through careful study of market activity including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks, sell orders, and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "l" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

Every Numismatic Library needs copies of the latest addition to the COIN DEALER newsletter family of publications:

the Backsheet

Now that we have your attention, we really haven't started an additional newsletter — but your library should include Back Issues of our publications. Back issues are available two ways:

You can purchase small quantities to fill in missing issues, to obtain articles necessary for your research, or to follow your special interests. You may also combine your order for back issues of any of our publications to obtain the lowest price:

1-10 issues - $2.50 each • 11-25 issues - $2.00 each • 26 & over - $1.50 each

Or, you can purchase complete sets of back issues for really dramatic savings:

Complete set of the weekly Coin Dealer newsletter (Greysheet)
 from June 14, 1963 to December 23, 2005, now includes 2,169 issues.
 At $1.50 each this would normally cost $3,254, but a complete set
 is only $2,200.

Complete set of the monthly CDN Monthly Supplement
 (formerly the Monthly Summary)
 from August 1976 to December 2005, now includes 352 issues. At $1.50 each this would normally cost $528, but a complete set is only $405.

Complete set of the CDN Quarterlies
 from January 1992, to December 2005, now includes 168 issues, a complete set is only $185.

Combined weekly CDN (Greysheet), Monthly Supplement & Quarterlies
 now includes 2,689 issues, and extra savings at only $2,675.

Complete set of the weekly Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (Bluesheet)
 from August 22, 1986 to December 23, 2005, now includes 947 issues.
 At $1.50 each this would normally cost $1,421, but a complete set
 is only $1,000.

Complete set of the monthly Currency Dealer newsletter (Greensheet)
 from September 1980 to December 2005, now includes 304 issues.
 At $1.50 each this would normally cost $456, but a complete set
 is only $350.

3,940

Strong Demand Seen In Several Areas Spot Silver Claims Double Digits

Today's collectors are certainly a formidable force to be reckoned with because they are able to back up their vast numismatic knowledge with a significant amount of disposable income and resources. Consequently we continue to monitor numerous record breaking prices being realized at public auction as well as via private transaction. There's no doubt that the activity level in the coin market has been escalating, at times rapidly. The number of coin shows, auctions and lots per sale has also increased. This means that many dealers are spending a growing number of hours each day just trying to keep their businesses ahead of the curve. They know their customers have special needs now and that other options exist if those needs aren't satisfied in a reasonable amount of time. It goes without saying that dealers have to be on top of their game at all times or lose their edge to someone else. Nevertheless, the strength of the general coin market is also spilling over to the more specific, but useful sight-unseen market.

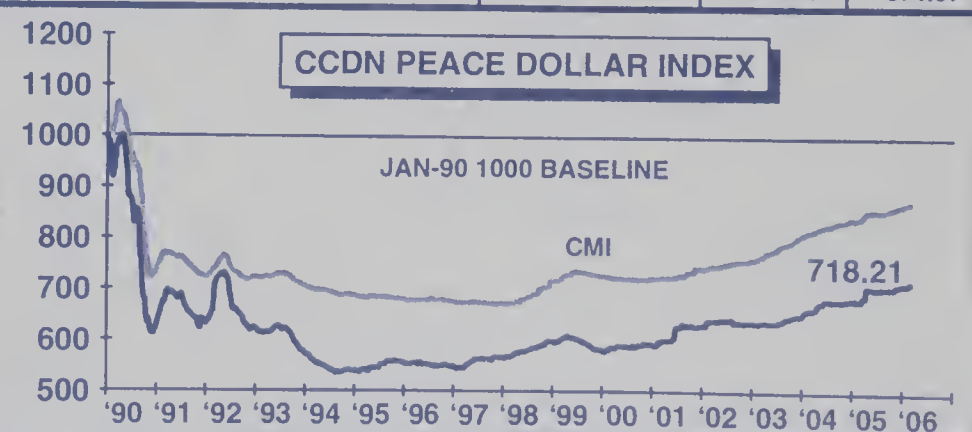

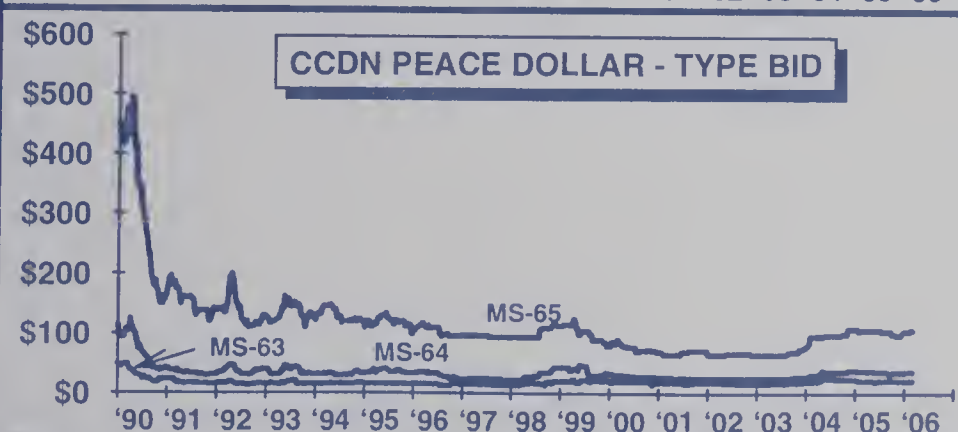

Key dates and early Gold have become of primary importance to Bidders this week. We know that the key dates have played a major roll in the bull market since its inception and the same fervor and excitement surrounding these rarities is still with us today. Walking Liberty Half Dollars is one of those popular early 20th century series that has captured the attention of many a collector. Spanning just over 30 years, it is a doable task for those trying to complete the set. However, this series does have some tough challenges for collectors attempting to complete Choice Brilliant Uncirculated and better sets. It only takes a cursory glance through this week's Bid columns to see that several key dates are dazzling us with advances. Savvy dealers have increased their sight-unseen Bids, in some cases substantially in an effort to grab one or two for a ready-to-buy customer or for their depleted inventory. Not surprisingly, the keys 1919-D & S along with the 1921-D & S have become the primary targets. The 1921-D leaped from 16-25 percent for MS61 and MS62 examples in PCGS/NGC holders. Late date ANACS Walkers made some stellar gains of their own with the 1942 and 1943 grading MS66 sharing a 33% increase. We see that renewed enthusiasm has also found ANACS material featuring impressive gains for Commemoratives (some up more than 100 percent!), Morgan Dollars, Peace Dollars, Mint State Type and Proof Type are all participating. Just look at an undervalued 1922-S Peace Dollar in ANACS MS66 jumping an incredible 100% to $2,500 Bid. Could these massive increases be fueled by the prospect of a new grading philosophy that coincides with the release of ANACS' new standard size slab? ANACS has also announced that they will only encapsulate problem-free coins in their new larger streamlined holder and reserve the old smaller holders for problem coins. Sight-Unseen Bids are higher for ICG Gold, with the early Type, Proof and Mint State segments all moving up.

Among PCGS and NGC Morgan Dollars, it's the semi-key 1885-S that's making the noise, increasing as much as 37% in the lower Mint State grades. The 1883-CC, 1885-CC and 1883 also stand out among a barrage of plus signs this week. However with Silver Spot crashing the $10 per ounce barrier at $10.15—are the common dates poised to surge as well? Proof and Mint State Type generated strong interest, too. Liberty Seated coinage, Barber Halves and Trade Dollars were the Proof Type stars. Capped Bust Halves and Draped Bust Dollars took bows for Mint State Type. A PCGS MS65 Capped Bust Half climbed an impressive 58% to $6,500 Bid. Gold Type is strong, reflecting the improving Spot price now trading in the mid $560s per ounce. PCGS Type 3 Gold Dollars topped the list with MS65, MS66 and MS67 soaring by as much as 46 percent. Other Gold Gems with impressive advances include: $3 Princesses, $10 Liberty, Motto, $10 Indians, $5 Liberty, Motto and No Motto issues. Of course this increased activity opens the door for some discounting. That means opportunities are, once again, knocking. Several coins trading below sight-unseen Bid since our last report include a 1936-D Texas Commemorative grading PCGS MS67 selling at auction for $413, nearly 14 percent below Type Bid at $480. There was an 1890 Liberty Seated Dime Graded ICG MS64 auctioned at $211 leaving a standing sight-unseen Bid some 25% higher on the table. Modern collectors missed a chance as a 1972/72 Lincoln Cent grading NGC MS64R sold for 36% under sight-unseen money. An 1891 Quarter Eagle graded MS63 ANACS flew away at $644, well below a sight-unseen offering of $795 giving someone a possible 23% profit. Many dealers and collectors currently attending the March 1-4 Palm Beach Florida show and auction will hope to be as lucky. The next stop for most dealers will be the Baltimore Coin and Currency show scheduled for March 16-19.

Your Rare Coins — ICG's Rare Talent A Winning Combination!!

Keith Love
ICG's Senior Grader

Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

J. P. Martin
ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Higher Sight-Unseen Bids Abound March Madness Awaits In Baltimore

The explosive nature that has been indicative of the rare coin market since the beginning of the year is still with us. Now as spring is upon us the somewhat dramatic swings which have now began to characterize the precious metals markets are playing a role in the bull's run. As Gold and Silver spot prices attempt to rival nearly 25 year highs there is a greater risk for those players looking to test the waters in bullion related coins. Certainly the passionate nature of the metals game can make for a pleasant surprise for some or for those entering at the wrong time a rather painful encounter. It is advantageous for dealers to play the part of economists and analyze world events. Insuring that they do their global homework and attempt to stay on top of the market is now mandatory for several reasons. Dealers know that today's savvy collectors are actively looking to buy Mint State Gold and a well timed purchase will pay dividends for the dealer. Yet if the market and spot prices surge ahead before coins are bought, then disappointed customers are sure to look elsewhere. A knee jerk reaction to this is for some buyers to purchase quantity and strive to have ample inventory. Yet if the customer should back out for any reason or the spot price should drop like a rock, most would have to wait for the market to rebound or sell off a portion at a loss. Dealers need to protect themselves from these circumstances as best they can and educating themselves and their customers and potential clients is the best first step.

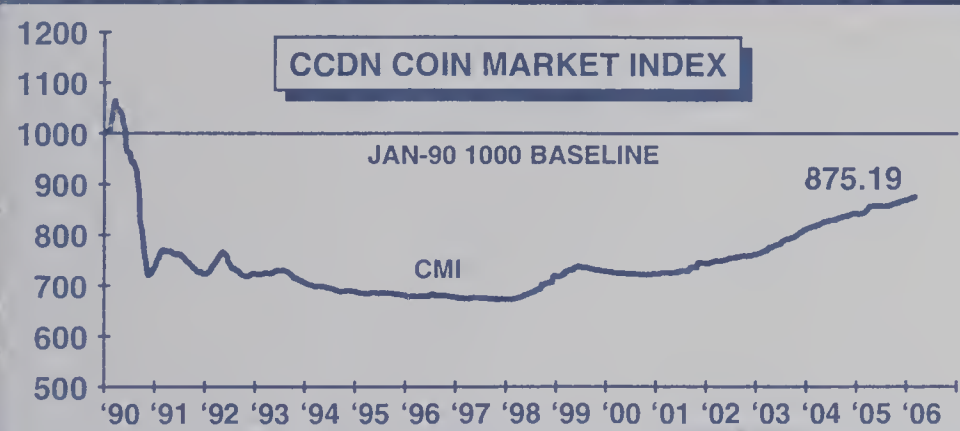

Many of today's knowledgeable buyers know that the current premium above bullion level is such that it favors the numismatic coins. Consequently demand for these coins has stayed strong and buyers are waiting for opportunities to jump in the market. The bull market for Gold remains in place and many of these buyers see any significant decline as a possible entry point for their money. With this in mind, this week has been especially difficult for some as Gold and Silver sustained rather sharp drops in short order. However strong demand continues for common date Gold and Silver coins as seen throughout our charts. Morgan and Peace Dollars have remained rather firm. Mint State Type Gold has also been able to hold on to its levels despite the sharp decrease in metals. The highlight this week (for Mint State Gold) has been the same highlight that we've seen since January 1st. The $3 Princess remains the reigning royalty with additional increases being entertained in MS64 as well as the lofty and scarce Mint State 66 level up 9%. PCGS has only encapsulated 151 examples in MS66 while NGC adds another 97. Proof Gold is active and increasing. At first, the advances might appear rather insignificant but when you consider that these coins are mostly four- and five-figure rarities it makes it that much more impressive. Five Proof Gold denominations posted increases with four placing multiple grade plus signs. Increases range from 3% to over 9% percent for NGC PR65 $2½ Liberties. Gem is certainly the hot ticket as PR65 thru PR67 are preferred. For example, a $90,000 sight-unseen Bid is now offered for PCGS PR67 $20 Saints. Early Gold is remaining hot as well. $5 Capped Head Small Size is now commanding a $100,000 Bid for PCGS MS65 examples, up an astounding 33%. Mint State Type is selectively impressive as Gem Liberty Seated Half Dollars and Dollars are advancing. MS65FB and better Mercury Dimes are showing some spring! A blanket of plus signs is seen ranging from 3% to an incredible 67% higher for a 1931 in PCGS 65FB, Bid at $500. Buffalo Nickels are also heard from with several PCGS Gem examples rising. An ever widening gap between Bids for PCGS and NGC slabs is developing within Buffalo Nickels as with the Mercury Dime series. Popular Silver Commems are receiving interest with the Isabella Quarter, Hawaiian and Spanish Trail Half Dollars taking the lead. Generic Morgans in Gem are higher for both PCGS and NGC slabs.

The March 7 Smythe New York City Winter auction claimed $1.3 million. A PCGS MS63 1795 Flowing Hair Dollar realized $218,500 while a 1909 PCGS PR65 $5 Indian grabbed $40,250 highlighting the sale. Stack's March 7-9 Auction is nearly complete garnering an impressive 2-day total of nearly $9 million. Several certified highlights include: an 1834 Large Cent (N-7) graded PCGS PR60BN bringing $43,700; an Original 1836 Gobrecht Dollar graded PCGS PR63 brought $28,750 and an 1911D Indian $5 NGC MS64 claimed $46,000. The "March Madness" continues as American Numismatic Rarities New York Connoisseur's Collection sale is up next, March 14-15 in Baltimore. Bowers and Merena will then host the Baltimore Auction March 16-17. The Baltimore Coin and Currency Convention March 17-19 should draw many from the collector rich metropolitan areas. We have listed some of the many highlights from the Bowers and Merena Auction.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Auction Frenzy Continues Claiming $12.7 Million Dealers Take Aggressive Want Lists To Baltimore

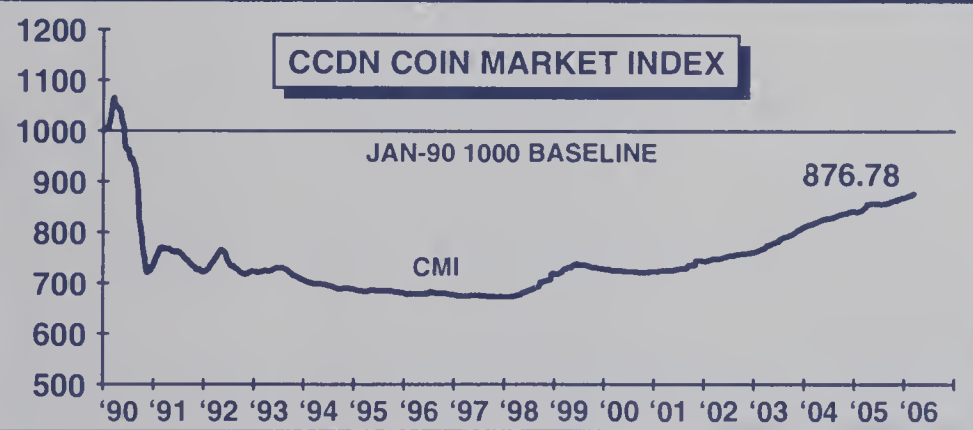

One Baltimore auction is in the books and another is a work in progress as the Baltimore Coin and Currency Convention rolls on. The New York Connoisseur's Collection by American Numismatic Rarities held March 14-15 in Baltimore was a tantalizing appetizer, whetting the voracious appetite of many in attendance, generating an impressive $12.7 million. (We have listed several of the many highlights). Yet considering the generous number of auctions already held in February and early March the need for rare coins remains unsatisfied. That's because the strong demand continues unabated with new piranha like collectors entering this pool of buyers all the time. This demand is serious! Dealers have scores of customers that are ambitious and affluent enough to chase after many key and semi-key dates. For example, one well-healed collector is currently working on completing the $10 Indian series. Naturally one of his needs includes the famous 6 figure 1933 Eagle but there are also several other dates on his list that would be stoppers for most collectors. Then of course, nipping at the dealers heels are many newcomers, also anxious to have their want lists filled. As the rare coin market maintains its bullish ways early in 2006 more people are entering the competition. The growing awareness of the excellent numismatic dividends displayed in 2004 and 2005 was further enhanced for many after the addition of some Gold and Silver coins to one's portfolio. To be certain the "American Eagles"; a convenient way to buy the precious metals, soon led many beyond bullion's boundary. For example, the current small premiums that exist above bullion in say Morgan and Peace Dollars make many entry level rare coin enthusiasts' decision an easy, prudent choice. These Silver Dollars in Very Good thru Extremely Fine have been increasing as Silver does, along with a bit of a numismatic cushion. Similarly, we are finding the same pattern taking place for low grade Uncirculated Dollars. Rare coins also make a lot of sense to some of these bullion buyers so they are willing to give it a try.

The sight-unseen market is actively reflecting some of this demand. Generic Morgans displayed a 3 percent or more gain for MS63 and MS65 examples. However it is the Peace Dollars that are the brightest bulb burning in this week's Dollar market. They were highlighted by several key date jump Bids. The popular 1921 High Relief increased 25 and 28 percent respectively in MS61 and MS62. The key 1928 also made strides in tandem in grades MS61-MS63 with increases ranging up to 16%. Demand is also overflowing for Silver Commemoratives. These Classic Commems offer a different alternative for one's bullion dollar. These numismatic beauties boast some historically significant themes and designs about people and romantic places of a bygone era that adds to their allure. More importantly these low mintage coins are generally quite affordable, even in high quality. Many are readily available in MS65 and MS66 for under $1,000 with several Gems that Bid less than $300. Plus signs for this material are found in abundance as sight-unseen Bids increase for primarily MS65 and better. The tough Hawaiian Sesqui-centennial is flashing a $7,000 Bid for PCGS MS66 representing a 16 percent gain. However, PCGS MS65 Long Island and Pan-Pac issues soared more than 40 percent each. Yet Mint State Type took top honors as dealers aggressively Bid for select material. Check out MS61 and MS62 1794-1795 Flowing Hair Half Dollars. They skyrocketed 110 and 81 percent respectively giving more credence to collector's growing fascination with early Type. Most will settle for the 1795 issue as the 1794 examples are prohibitively more expensive and difficult to locate. The combined PCGS and NGC census indicates that only 501, 1795 examples for all varieties are known so it isn't easy to capture one. Gold Type remains healthy but the real strength appeared among Saints where better dates are marching, commanding strong increases. An NGC MS64 1925-S leaped 25 percent to $30,000 Bid. Buffalo Nickels charged forward, led by the 1914-D semi-key's 33 and 34 percent jump for PCGS and NGC MS63 examples. Walking Liberty Halves scored some gains for Proof and Mint State examples in high quality 65 thru 67 grades. Standing Liberty Quarters are stronger with many issues, Full Head and non, climbing by as much as 10%. Discounting cash could be gained from Franklin Halves where several sold again at auction for below current sight-unseen Bids. It's hard to ascertain the true market here, perhaps the upcoming release of the 2006 Franklin Commemorative Dollars will help bolster their cause.

The Santa Clara Collectibles Expo is the next big event scheduled for March 30-April 2 in California. Superior will conduct the Santa Clara Elite Coin Auction March 30-31. Some of the many highlights include: a PCGS MS60 1851 Seated Liberty Dollar; an NGC MS63 DMPL 1889-CC Morgan Dollar; a PCGS PR66 1915 $2.50 Indian; an 1879 PCGS PR62 Cameo $4 Flowing Hair Stella; and, a PCGS AU55 1797 $10 Capped Bust, Small Eagle.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets. Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

Introducing the boldest, most courageous coin book ever... THE COIN COLLECTOR'S SURVIVAL MANUAL® FIFTH EDITION by Scott A. Travers

"The most important coin book ever written... a spectacular tour de force that surely will be proclaimed an instant classic – and undoubtedly will stand for years to come as the gold standard for coin books on consumer protection and investment." –Ed Reiter, Senior Editor, COINage

Consumer advocate Scott A. Travers, reveals trade secrets on how you can make money and avoid even the smallest mistakes in the rare coin marketplace in his new Random House book. This straight-forward guide candidly examines grading controversies and the popularity of registry sets, playing the "crack out" game with third-party encapsulated coins, and the dangers of online auctions and coin doctoring.

1,200 consumer protection caveats give you the most candid advice on how to buy and sell coins profitably, whether it's a sleeper found on the bourse or a multi-million dollar rarity seen at auction. Detailed photographs of coins with genuine and difficult-to-detect artificial toning give you unprecedented side-by-side comparisons.

Illustrated with more than 260 state-of-the-art digital color and black and white images of coins, this 400-page guide packs a powerful, one-two punch. It combines a thorough update of earlier editions of The Coin Collector's Survival Manual with another of Travers' seven acclaimed books, How to Make Money in Coins Right Now. Both were bestsellers in their own right, and now both are available in a single, updated and timely volume. Among the topics covered in the new mega-book:

- Coins overgraded by grading services (text page 79, color photos insert page 13).
- How you can capitalize on the gyrations of gold prices when buying rare and generic gold coins. What specific coins you should buy when gold is moving up, and how to minimize losses when gold prices are falling (page 157).
- Extraordinary insights and secrets of crack-outs and getting lucrative upgrades from third-party grading services. Well-known dealer Jim Halperin tells how he made millions in profits by resubmitting coins and expands his secret list (page 140).
- Exposing the pitfalls and avoiding the perils when buying coins through online auctions (page 212).
- Detecting altered, counterfeit and "doctored" coins (page 126).
- How the popular registry set programs have changed the numismatic market, and how to use registry sets to your advantage (page 187).
- Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when not to do anything (page 251).
- Comprehensive discussions by leading experts about taxes and tax consequences on buying and selling numismatic items, including record keeping, estate planning secrets, retirement plans and in-kind exchanges (page 284).
- Security issues now facing the most advanced collectors and investors after 9/11 and natural disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina (page 318).

This is the book about the coin business "you can't afford to be without." Newsweek

"Should be read before a single coin is bought - and read again and again!" Coin World

"...if followed closely, it should help [you] do far more than just survive; it should point the way to prosperity." The New York Times

"A significant contribution to the consumer protection literature...must reading for any potential investor who believes it is better to buy a book first than to have to hire a lawyer later." Barry J. Cutler, former Director, Federal Trade Commission Bureau of Consumer Protection

Now you can survive and make money in coins right now!

Commems Heat Up As Pan-Pac Slugs Soar Dealers Seek Relief From Coin Draught In Santa Clara

The Coin and Currency convention in Baltimore, once again demonstrated the solid demand that continues to support a robust rare coin market. Dealers were especially pleased with the activity level and interest that was seen throughout the week that was crowded with events. Yet after the hammer fell on the last auction lot and the bourse was closed; most want lists remain plentiful and the number of coins needed continues to grow. It seems that for every single coin that's found, two more are added to the list. Dealers will attempt to get some coins fast as the rights of spring are at hand and with it a forecast that points to a bull market continuing to bloom and prosper. Regardless of their immediate plight, most dealers are in high spirits heading to California where they hope to regroup March 30-April 1 at the Santa Clara Expo. Here, Superior will host the 2006 Santa Clara Elite Coin Auction March 30-31. As a bonus the show will also feature the finest known certified set of 1915 Panama-Pacific Exposition coins on display. This strong pre-show attitude we alluded to stems from a growing demand for an ever widening array of coins. Dealers are selling everything from bullion related material thru rare date and Proof Gold. It seems that many of today's collectors have a voracious appetite for the coins that they once appreciated and coveted in their youth. Many of them still have those little blue Whitman cardboard coin albums that they remember trying to fill. Now, being more financially secure and settled, they are able to fill in the key and semi-key dates that eluded them long ago. Dealers tell us that increasing demand for Circulated better dates of all series has forced prices of these coins to unprecedented levels.

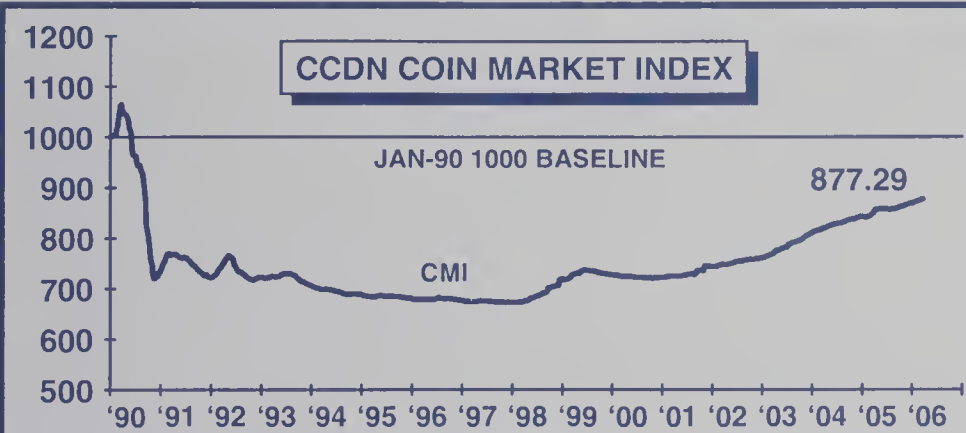

This week's sight-unseen market reflects the continued need for cash to cover ever increasing auction and show transactions. March has already hammered down thousands of auction lots. It's really quite simple. Dealers need credit or cash to pay for the higher winning Bids. They also need to have enough cash to allow them to secure any deal that may come their way in the interim. Frequent shows and auctions mean that they need a lot of capital up front. Many often use the sight-unseen market to raise additional funds and we are seeing more of this activity. Taking this into consideration discounting is quite prevalent this week. Common Silver Commemoratives and Morgan Dollars are some of the coins experiencing this weakness. For example, notice the extremely common 1881-S Morgan Dollar declining in NGC and PCGS MS67.

Each sustained more than a 6 percent drop at $750 and $775 respectively. This kind of activity usually increases when the volatility is greater. When prices move up too fast it can catch you by surprise. However those able to stay on top of the market can also benefit immediately. Using this week's Market columns, notice the PCGS MS66 1936-D Columbia Commemorative that sold at auction for only $300 (23 percent below Bid) while an outstanding sight-unseen Bid stood at $390. A PCGS MS65 1882-CC Morgan Dollar sold for $315 at auction despite a $360 offer for even the worst example. An ICG 1937S Buffalo Nickel graded MS67 realized $211 while a 47% higher standing sight-unseen Bid stood in the wings. An 1854 Three Cent Silver Type II graded PCGS MS64 slid through the cracks at auction bringing only $633 some 21% under sight-unseen money. Check out the 1915S Pan-Pac Half graded MS65 by PCGS, hammered down for 18% under a blind Bid.

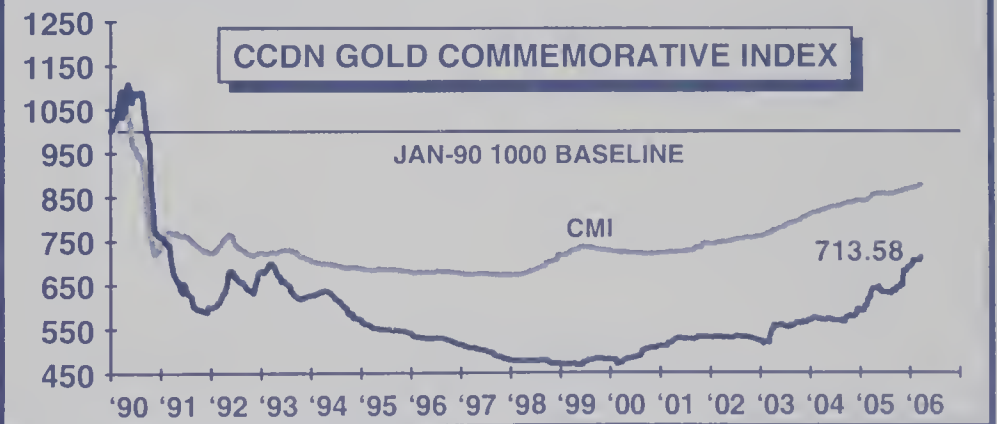

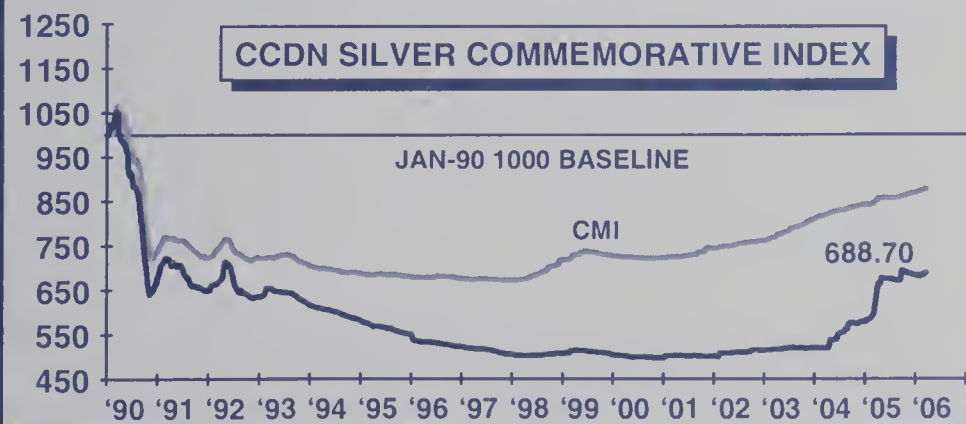

Interestingly, Silver Commemoratives are dominating the market this week. More than 90 advances have occurred, led by the 1935 PCGS MS67 Hudson Half Dollar rocketing 45 percent to $10,000 Bid. Much of the interest seems to be targeting the quality Commems grading MS65 and better. These Commems are a good choice because you can buy Gem caliber specimens at a reasonable price. Pan-Pac Gold Commems are receiving strong higher Bids and it's the gargantuan $50 Round and Octagonal examples doing the damage. This week's gains range from 10-15 percent for MS61 and MS62 examples. Still, even in this low Uncirculated category it takes more than $40,000 to buy one. The chart below illustrates this dynamic duo's surge in price over the last 12 months. Mint State Gold Type is steady with a few Indian series on a continued warpath realizing some gains. PCGS and NGC $5 and $10 Indians are higher for MS61 and MS62 grades. Strong interest continues to target the $3 Princess. Notice that PCGS and NGC MS63 and MS64 grades are pushing higher. A $10,500 Bid representing an 8 percent gain is now in place for MS64 examples. However double digit losses took place for Type 3 $1 Indians getting scalped in PCGS MS65 thru MS67, and for PCGS MS65 Motto $5 Liberties. Selling some common Type Gold is a convenient way to raise some quick additional funds and this is indicative of the current market. The balance of the sight-unseen ensemble is fairly quiet with the exception of the 8-9 percent increases for NGC and PCGS 1951 Franklin Halves in PR65 and PR66.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks. wholesale and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that the exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guarantee or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase, or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "tm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" - Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

COMMEMORATIVES

Market Springs Ahead On Higher Gold & Silver Dollars And Mercury Dimes Attract Strong Bids

The rare coin market has roared through March in fine fashion. Now that one quarter of 2006 is in the books it is interesting to see that the prognostications of most dealers for this year were "right on the money." Through the end of 2005 this rampaging market had been operating in such a bullish manner it was widely conceded that some profit taking was overdue. Still, many dealers seeing the expanding playing field in front of them believed that the bull trend would continue in 2006 and that is exactly what has taken place so far this year. Based on this information, most probably wouldn't be surprised to see many minus signs finally adorning this week's sight-unseen market. After all, the hearty band of dealers already in California participating in the 2006 Santa Clara Elite Coin Auction by Superior as well as the Santa Clara Expo that follows would likely sell-off unwanted material, sight-unseen, just to raise some cash. However, inventories are running so lean these days, dealers have not been able to locate and buy all the rare coins that they need to replenish their business' life blood. In some instances dealers are holding on to some otherwise stagnant stock just to have an inventory! This all too familiar scenario was confirmed after the Baltimore Show.

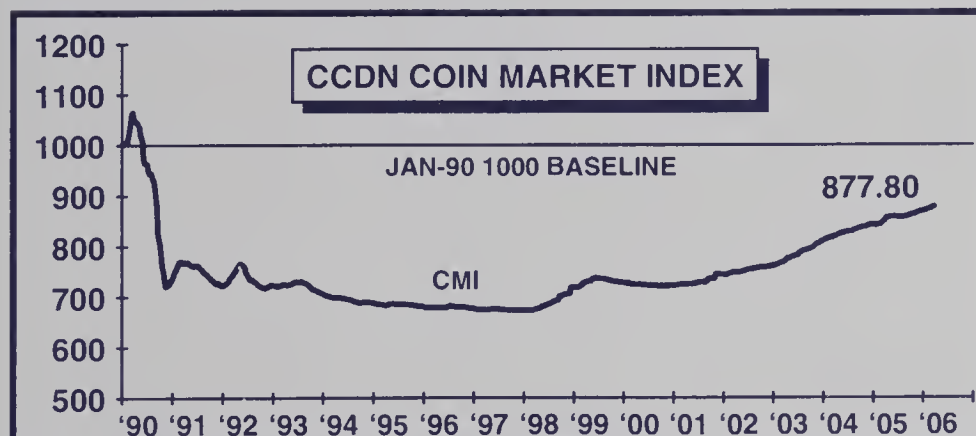

Compounding the situation, we know that most professional numismatists had a banner 2005, and with those glorious profits, Uncle Sam must be paid his share. Still in spite of the fast approaching April 15 tax day deadline the powerfully strong demand for coins continues. Overriding all the negatives, the new quarter begins where it left off, with the market springing ahead.

The continued catalyst for this rare coin rampage has been delivered again courtesy of the hot metals arena. Increasing Spot values have certainly provided most of the ammunition in this on going rally. Initially, Silver, (posting over a 25% gain since Jan 6) supplied most of the fire power, grabbing the headlines by zooming past $10 and now crashing through the $11 per ounce barrier—one that hasn't been seen since 1983. Meanwhile Gold can't be stifled either, making some noise of its own by, once again, showing its dominance by cracking the $580 per ounce plateau to levels not seen for over 25 years. With it, Mint State Gold Type is enjoying continued prosperity. Prudent money is chasing the higher $20 denominations and why not? The numismatic premium over melt has dropped to levels that make them extremely attractive right now. Saint-Gaudens $20 in MS61-MS63 and $20 Liberties, Type III in MS61 and MS62 are all displaying increases from 1.3 to 3.5 percent this week. Other areas of the sight-unseen market are also very strong. Morgan Dollars, a longtime popular series, is posting some amazing increases. The scarce

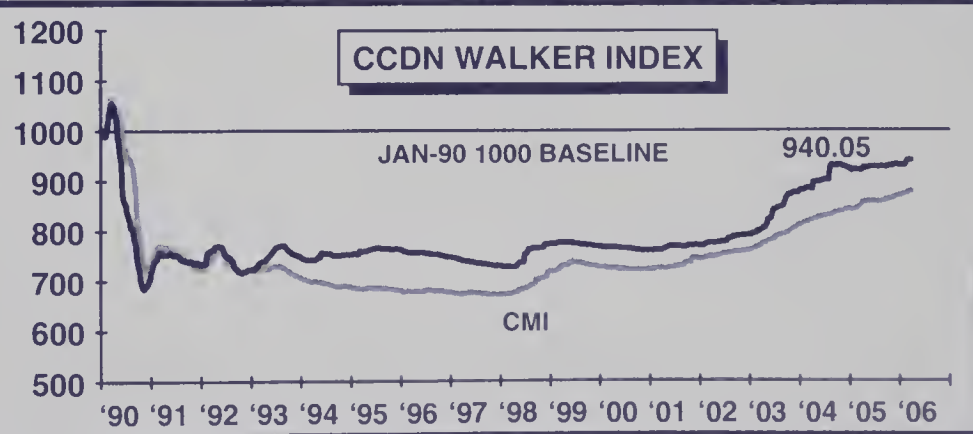

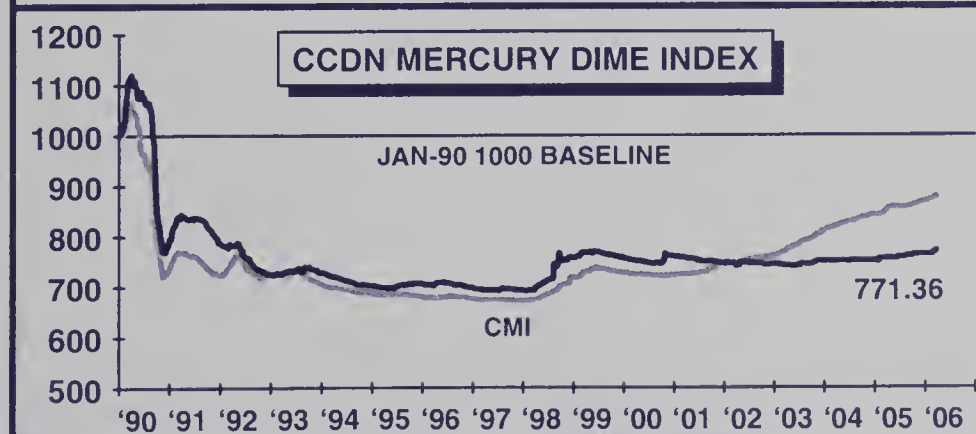

Philadelphia 1899 leads the pack displaying sizable double digit gains in MS61-MS63. Be sure to also check out some significant increases for several better San Francisco, New Orleans, and Carson City issues of the 1890s as well. Not to be out done, Peace Dollars had a strong week for many MS63 and MS64 semi-keys. Sometimes things aren't quite what they first appear. Take the popular Mercury Dime series. At first glance this ensemble may not seem to be doing much when compared to the overall strength of the CCDN Coin Market Index. Ms. Winged Liberty certainly looks to be in a rut, not breaking a sweat. But just feast your eyes on the chart below where 11 examples are on the fast track accelerating by as much as 73% since Jan 6, 2006. Demand has been building in this sleeper series for some time and it has resulted in sharp increases this week ranging up to 29%. Dealers are targeting the high quality, Full Band examples grading MS65 and better. The need is for common dates, semi-keys and even a few keys. Notice the 10 percent hike for PCGS MS65FB 1942/41-D at $14,000 Bid. The largest jump goes to a 1924 Philadelphia. A PCGS MS66FB is now needed at $440 sight-unseen, 29 percent above last week's Bid. Silver Commemoratives, which are usually the fodder used to sell-off and raise funds in a pinch, find themselves posting some slight gains as the 1923-S Monroe Half in PCGS MS67 bucks this trend entirely, soaring to $10,500 Bid. Among Gold Commems, we see that the Grant Memorial in MS65 and MS66 has pushed higher as well for both PCGS and NGC examples. There is not much discounting taking place as we alluded to earlier. However, the upcoming show and auction may give some an opportunity to capitalize on those not paying close enough attention to sight-unseen Bid.

For dealers, it's the early dog days where they need that extra stamina to endure the grueling auction and show schedule. Coast-to-coast travel makes it even more difficult. Long Beach to Baltimore, Baltimore to Santa Clara, and Santa Clara to Atlanta for the ANA's National Money Show April 6-9 (dealer set-up day on April 6) where early expectations are already looking good.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Atlanta ANA Underway

Gold And Silver Add Fuel To Market

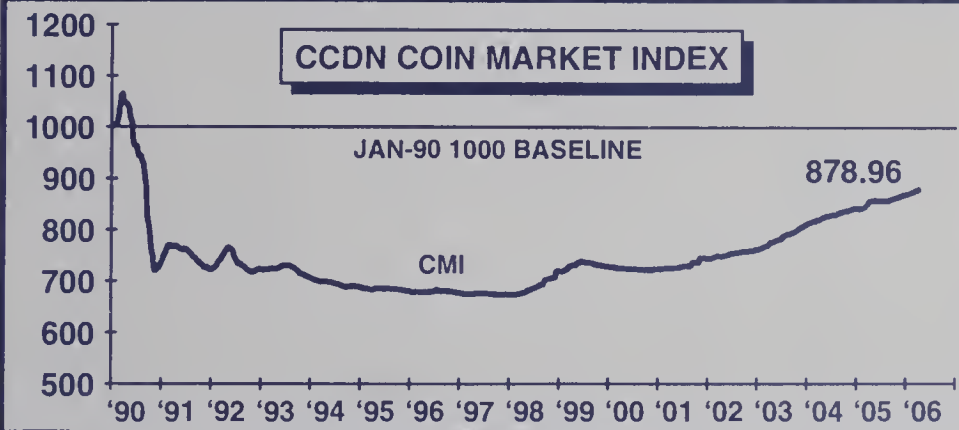

April begins the same way that most of the first quarter finished, demonstrating unbelievably strong collector demand for rare coins. Now, only one week into the second quarter, this bull gets an immediate test as the American Numismatic Association's National Money Show is underway in Atlanta. This huge numismatic gathering in Georgia should be a veritable field day, allowing those looking for coins an opportunity to finally achieve some of their goals. Sellers will be smiling because they will be on the receiving end of the strong money being paid for their material. Yet in addition to regular clients, dealers know that they will have to address the throng of new collectors entering the market place. They must carefully embrace this new breed of enthusiast for they are not only holding a greater amount of disposable income, but they are market savvy as well. This combination makes them a force to be reckoned with. Many of them have done their homework and are looking to buy coins that are above average or "PQ" for the grade. They want coins that possess superior eye appeal, and are willing to pay stronger money for them. Of course to help facilitate positive results; pre show through post show wholesale activity is expected to be brisk.

As the upward bias in the precious metals continues, Gold and Silver remain dominant fixtures and have done more than their fair share to stimulate demand. The likelihood of $600 per ounce Gold and $12 Silver is at hand but the ramifications of those numbers could be even more significant.

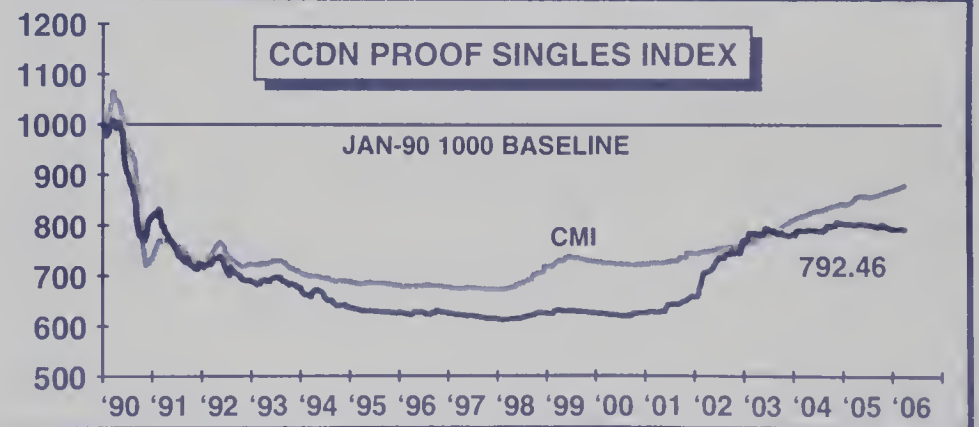

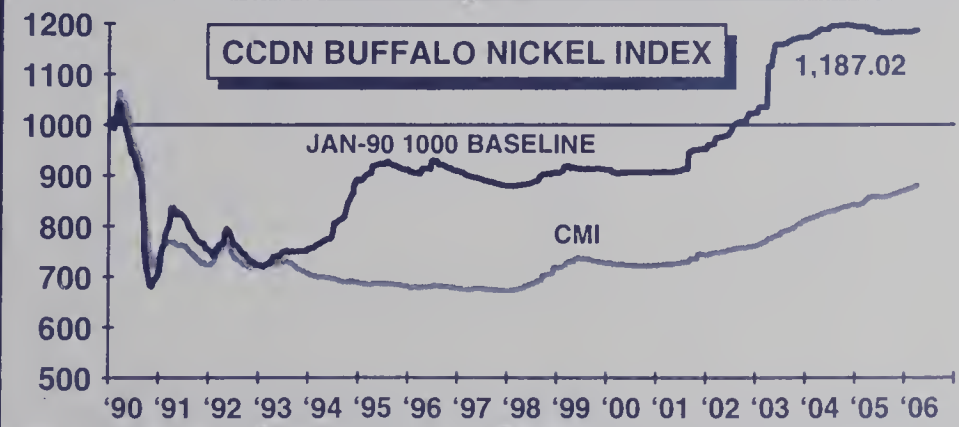

Dealers have been monitoring the added customer traffic entering their shops. These novices are interested in information about buying and selling Silver and Gold. Dealers are helping to answer their questions and to direct their needs in a prudent fashion. Most dealers know that satisfying bullion needs may result in numismatic purchases as well. It is this group of new players that may give the market its second wind going forward. Still, dealers see strong demand targeting quality rare coins. Naturally these coins are becoming more and more difficult to find. We know that the shortage of fresh, original material is still the largest problem facing buyers today. However there is also a growing need for average material as well. After all, dealers need to buy something to sell.

Increases in the sight-unseen market again this week are further evidence that this upward trend is still here. Dealers are becoming a little more resourceful by posting attractive increases for select ANACS and ICG slabs as well as PCGS and NGC. Potential bargains are out there for those willing to put forth some effort. Gold Type is paving the way with most issues gaining ground while riding bullion's coattails. Small denominations are in favor with the smallest, $1 Indian, Type 3 up 27 percent for an NGC MS66 example. Other PCGS and NGC small denomination Gold realizing double digit gains include: MS63 and MS64 $1 Liberty, Type 1; $5 Indian in MS63; and MS62 $3 Indians. Sharp gains are seen among select Mint State Type. Draped Bust Dimes, Small Eagle (1796-1797) soared 35 percent to $20,000 Bid for PCGS MS64 examples. These early Dimes are considered to be undervalued by several experts. Unfortunately only 8 have been certified at that level. Silver Commems are usually jettisoned first when cash is needed. Despite the start of the ANA's National Money Show and conjoining auction, Commems remain solid. Be sure to check out the huge 43 percent spike for the Monroe Half in PCGS MS67 at $15,000 Bid. Good luck trying to find one, as PCGS has only graded 4 at the level with none finer. The Isabella Quarter has advanced nicely in PCGS MS65 thru MS67 while the Lafayette Dollar is higher in MS63 and MS64 for both PCGS and NGC. Morgan Dollars are steady with just a few being discounted while Peace Dollars scored a slight increase as generic MS65 examples are now Bid at $108. Proof Type features Morgans in demand with PCGS PR67 examples now Bid $8,500, up nearly 12%. The upper end of the market appears awfully powerful as well with more than 2 dozen plus signs crowding the Proof Gold Type column. Strong five-figure Bids are a sign that plenty of money is sitting on the sidelines waiting to enter the game. The Proof Gold increases ranged from 2-12 percent. A PCGS PR64 $2½ Indian took top honors with its $9,000 Bid, $950 higher than it was one week ago. A few issues sporting greater than 5 percent increases include: PR64 thru PR67 $20 Saint-Gaudens; PR65 thru PR67 $5 Indians; and PR64, PR65 and PR67 $10 Indians. Buffalo Nickels have been solid for some time but be sure to notice the 17 percent leap to $20,000 Bid for the popular and rare 1937-D 3 Legged variety in PCGS MS65. Also, a pair of PCGS MS65FB Mercs, 1916 and 1938-S flashed advances at $120 and $110 respectively. Walkers had a good week too. They are led by advancing high grade Denver Mints from 1936, 1937 and 1939. For those sellers not doing their homework here are a few examples that sold at auction this week with money left on the table. Take the 1946 Iowa Centennial graded PCGS MS65 bringing $161 equal to 15% under sight-unseen money. A 1903O Morgan Dollar graded MS64 by PCGS slid past the radar at $259 with a standing offer for $300 as well as an NGC MS66 example of 1888 selling for $374 some 12% under blind money. A Proof 65 1942 Walker graded by PCGS claimed $517 as a sight-unseen Bid, some 10 percent higher watched.

Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey
ICG's Senior Numismatist

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg

Preservation. Identification. Appreciation.

Your notes deserve the best. That's why PMG developed this holder—combining the qualities that collectors value most.

The PMG holder...

...Is made from the highest-quality, inert materials. Since there are no openings or perforations, it guards against environmental hazards and contaminants.

...Uses a heavy-gauge material, ideal for long-term storage. Its durability provides superior protection even for notes printed on the thinnest papers, such as Obsolete and Confederate banknotes.

...Features a large label that displays precise and specific information about your note, including a full attribution, pedigree, and graders' comments, as applicable.

PMG's primary commitment is to provide accurate and consistent grading of paper money—to impart confidence and reliability. This also includes understanding what numismatists want from a holder. And that's why we are bringing a new standard of impartiality and integrity.

Dollars Find Buyers As Old Gold Rolls Collectors Taking Coins Off The Market

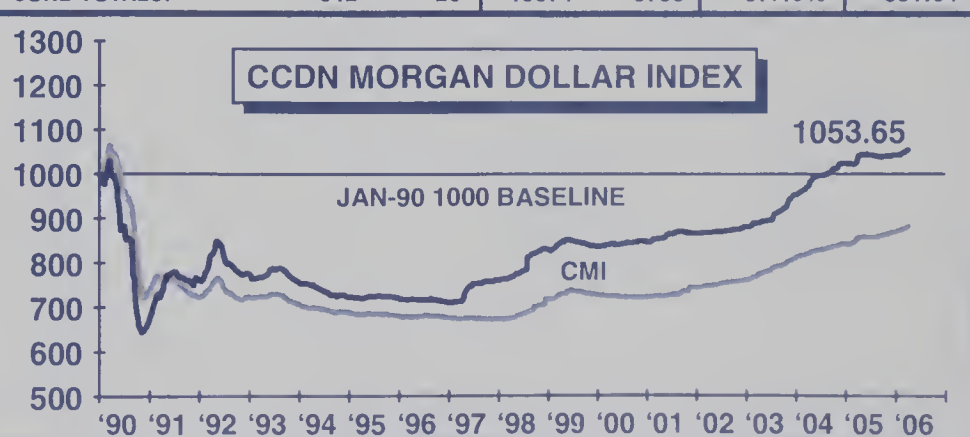

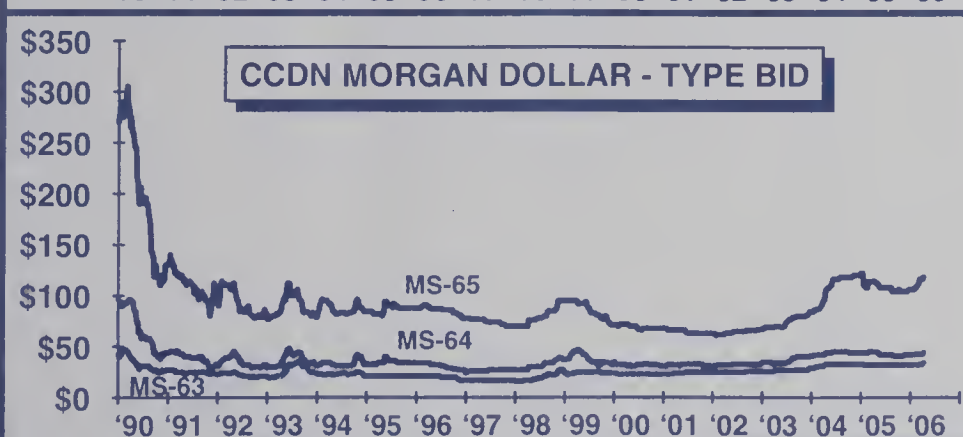

Early April confirms the continued strong demand for coins that has characterized this flourishing market for some time. The ANA's National Money Show in Atlanta was also dominated by this same strong sentiment. Here dealers were observed readily buying and looking to buy as much quality material as they were able to get their hands on. Whether the transactions be wholesale or retail that's why they came. The name of the game today is being able to have a sufficient number of attractive coins for stock and for their customers. Unfulfilled want lists continue to provide upward pressure on prices as buyers wait in an ever increasing line for those coins. It's been a tough road, but dealers haven't given up because they have an obligation to their customers as well as to their businesses life line. Unfortunately, many buyers were still struggling to buy coins on the bourse as the pickings there remained quite slim. Much the same story played out at the ANA auction as dealers fought with collectors for trophies. This prompted one dealer to say, "If I can find it (any problem-free coin) then I can buy and sell it. This "Field of Coin Dreams" analogy rings true, for if a dealer has a quality coin for sale, buyers will appear. The trick is to locate the goods at a reasonable price.

Not surprisingly, Gold received quite a bit of attention in Georgia, as Spot flirted with the $600 per oz. plateau. Small denomination Gold was extremely active. A Gold specialist said that $5 and $10 Indians have nearly dried-up, especially in MS63 and MS64. At these grade levels the price still makes sense because they become prohibitively higher priced at MS65 and above. Another sign of a bull market is the diverse nature of today's demand. Collectors have been taking common and rare dates off the market and they aren't as quick to sell them, not even for a short term profit. Nearly all better date Liberties and pre 1835 Gold are experiencing strength. Scarce and rare dates that are available and pleasing for the grade are bringing above current levels. However there just isn't enough of it to meet the demand. The sight-unseen market, which usually experiences a lot of discounting following a major show and auction hasn't really lost a step. It's obvious that the strong desire to buy coins due to depleted inventories and continued customer demand is embracing any avenue towards that end. Early Gold is front and center realizing outstanding demand and increases this week covering nearly the entire section. The thin availability of this rare material is not able to cover the vehement demand, and consequently Bids have been increased substantially. Notice that this need is not shy and will accept multiple grades from Choice AU thru nearly impossible to find MS65. As we traverse from rare to common the story remains the same. Generic Gold Type is moving higher as $600 Gold Spot becomes more believable. However buyers are looking for select high quality MS65 thru MS67 PCGS coins. $5 and $10 Liberty and Indian examples are being targeted with $5 Indians in PCGS MS66 up 28 percent. Silver Commemoratives have been very strong as buyers are quietly taking much Gem and better material off the market. Little discounting and continued demand makes Commems an attractive choice. Gold Commems are highlighted by the $50 Pan-Pac Round's 15 percent gain in MS64. Morgan Dollars are enjoying their own brand of prosperity. No doubt a higher Silver Spot, now at $12.89 per ounce is playing a primary role. Interestingly, the correlation between the surge in Silver Spot and the effect on MS65 Morgans has many looking to make a market as blind Bidding is $118, actually less than their $122 Bid in January 2005 when Silver Spot was only $6.48 an ounce. Here we have a case where the Spot price has nearly doubled and Bid for Gem Dollars is lower. We also note that MS62 and better generic examples are moving a bit higher this week. Common date Peace Dollars are also participating in MS64 and MS65. Type has been deemed undervalued, according to dealers at the National Money Show. Notice the increase for select Mint State Half Dimes this week. PCGS MS63 and MS64 Draped Bust examples jumped 35 and 28 percent respectively. Proof Type is generating its own demand as full Red Two Cent pieces, Shield Nickels and Type 1 Buffalo Nickels in Proof 65 and better condition attract Bidders. Proof Buffalo singles also received a boost in similar grades. Interest in the bison has spread to business strike Gem examples as 1913 PDS Type 1 and 1934 to date issues enjoy Bidder's attention. The strong draw for Gem quality coins, sight-unseen, may be an indication of greater trust and acceptance of the third-party grading services. Of course we know that the insatiable demand for material must also be given credit.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Introducing the boldest, most courageous coin book ever... THE COIN COLLECTOR'S SURVIVAL MANUAL® FIFTH EDITION by Scott A. Travers

"The most important coin book ever written... a spectacular tour de force that surely will be proclaimed an instant classic – and undoubtedly will stand for years to come as the gold standard for coin books on consumer protection and investment." –Ed Reiter, Senior Editor, COINage

Consumer advocate Scott A. Travers, reveals trade secrets on how you can make money and avoid even the smallest mistakes in the rare coin marketplace in his new Random House book. This straight-forward guide candidly examines grading controversies and the popularity of registry sets, playing the "crack out" game with third-party encapsulated coins, and the dangers of online auctions and coin doctoring.

1,200 consumer protection caveats give you the most candid advice on how to buy and sell coins profitably, whether it's a sleeper found on the bourse or a multi-million dollar rarity seen at auction. Detailed photographs of coins with genuine and difficult-to-detect artificial toning give you unprecedented side-by-side comparisons.

Illustrated with more than 260 state-of-the-art digital color and black and white images of coins, this 400-page guide packs a powerful, one-two punch. It combines a thorough update of earlier editions of The Coin Collector's Survival Manual with another of Travers' seven acclaimed books, How to Make Money in Coins Right Now. Both were bestsellers in their own right, and now both are available in a single, updated and timely volume. Among the topics covered in the new mega-book:

- Coins overgraded by grading services (text page 79, color photos insert page 13).
- How you can capitalize on the gyrations of gold prices when buying rare and generic gold coins. What specific coins you should buy when gold is moving up, and how to minimize losses when gold prices are falling (page 157).
- Extraordinary insights and secrets of crack-outs and getting lucrative upgrades from third-party grading services. Well-known dealer Jim Halperin tells how he made millions in profits by resubmitting coins and expands his secret list (page 140).
- Exposing the pitfalls and avoiding the perils when buying coins through online auctions (page 212).
- Detecting altered, counterfeit and "doctored" coins (page 126).
- How the popular registry set programs have changed the numismatic market, and how to use registry sets to your advantage (page 187).
- Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when not to do anything (page 251).
- Comprehensive discussions by leading experts about taxes and tax consequences on buying and selling numismatic items, including record keeping, estate planning secrets, retirement plans and in-kind exchanges (page 284).
- Security issues now facing the most advanced collectors and investors after 9/11 and natural disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina (page 318).

This is the book about the coin business "you can't afford to be without." Newsweek

"Should be read before a single coin is bought - and read again and again!" Coin World

"...if followed closely, it should help [you] do far more than just survive; it should point the way to prosperity." The New York Times

"A significant contribution to the consumer protection literature...must reading for any potential investor who believes it is better to buy a book first than to have to hire a lawyer later." Barry J. Cutler, former Director, Federal Trade Commission Bureau of Consumer Protection

Now you can survive and make money in coins right now!

Turbulent Markets Require Strict Attention

Rare Gold Mirrors Gold Spot's Advance

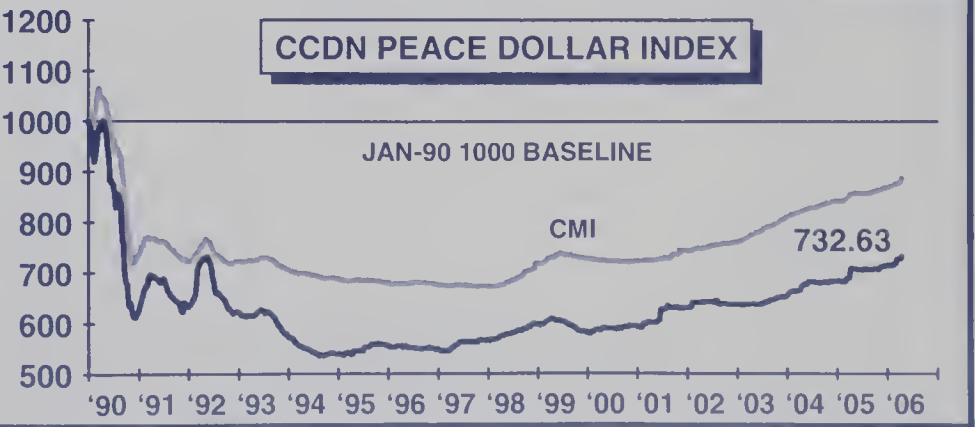

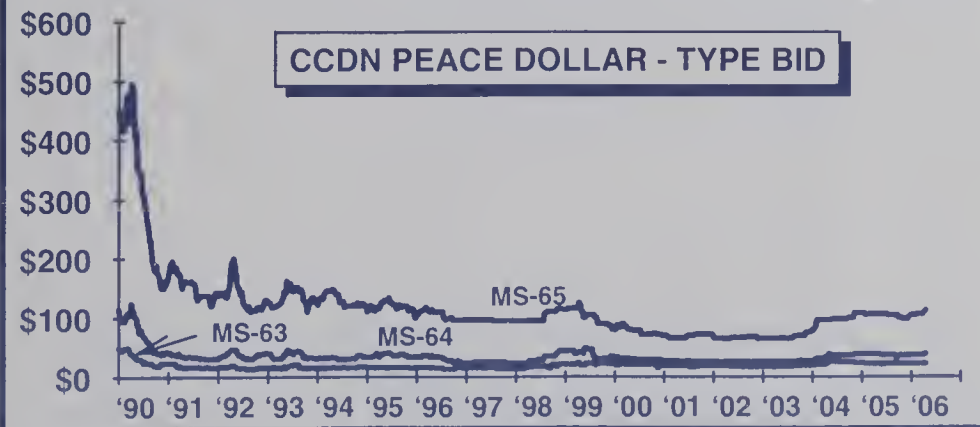

To say that the rare coin market is operating on all cylinders would be an understatement. The pedal is literally to the metal as Gold and Silver Spots are giving the rare coin market a dynamic one-two punch that's pushing bullion sensitive material appreciably higher. This high octane performance is also adding fuel to those coins that take on a more numismatic flavor. The solid demand for common and rare date material is just fantastic as the market forces have come together providing an explosive blend that is carrying us to these sustained higher levels. Gold had breached the $640 per ounce level in Wednesday's after markets, but has since retreated below $620 on expected profit taking. Silver has demonstrated unbelievable demand of its own by flying past $14 per ounce before settling in at $14.50. It too, suffered when investors took some money off the table forcing it back to the $12.00 range. It's no wonder the metals have had many dealers excited but also very nervous. It's a situation where the extremely volatile nature of the metals means a mistake could prove costly. Is the secular bull market in the metals still intact? This is a question that's very much on the minds of dealers that have to navigate in this flammable financial atmosphere. We know most analysts remain bullish however; due to volatility, pricing coins is now done when the buyer asks for a quote. Additional worldwide factors have also played a significant role here. The record high oil prices have done more than their share to stimulate the metals. Oil catapulting over $70 per barrel pushes inflationary fears to the forefront as many seek security by buying precious metals. Iranian nuclear threats and a war on terror that shows few signs of ending only adds to the misery index. This scenario should make for an extremely interesting Central States Numismatic Society Convention in Columbus, Ohio April 27-29. PNG Day will start the ball rolling on April 26.

The sight-unseen market is displaying a large number of increases this week. These increases occurring in several areas of the market demonstrate the amazing, continued demand for rare coins. Dealers are still doing their best to satisfy the needs of their customers but their inability to buy all the coins they need has left many feeling weak from utter frustration. Rare date and Proof Gold are an absolute standout this week. All eyes are on Gold these days but it's the rarity factor that's driving their decisions. Saints had an incredible week with increases totaling in the hundreds of thousands. Big time collectors with big time bucks are busy playing this game of high stake acquisition. The percentage increases are unbelievable. A PCGS and NGC MS64 1930-S is up 107 and 93 percent respectively. Rare? Yes, as a mere 17 examples combined in MS64 have been encapsulated by both grading services. Perhaps more impressive are the 20 Saint-Gaudens examples that produced nearly 50 percent and greater increases. No bullion factor with Proof Gold as Bidders are looking to buy 30 PCGS issues in grades PR64 and above of nearly all denominations. The advances are solid across-the-board, highlighted by an 11 percent increase offered for a $10 Liberty in PR66 at $40,000. Mint State and Proof Type along with Mint Gold Type are all solid too. Proof Type found PCGS PR65 Flying Eagle Cents grabbing top honors soaring in with a 25 percent hike. Liberty Seated Dollars posted slight advances in several grades among Mint State Type. On the heels of Silver's surge it's easy to see why generic Morgan and Peace Dollars are having a good week. Increases are appearing for both PCGS and NGC examples with a multiple of grades and dates participating. Leading the pack of Morgans is the inaugural 1878 San Francisco delivery seen jumping 11% for PCGS MS67 examples. These wonder coins are tough, as only 19 have been graded as such by PCGS with only a single coin higher. Other gains span from 2-7 percent for both Dollar Types. Aggressive buyers are looking for quantity here and would be happy to get their hands on as many coins as possible. The unheralded 1927 Peace Dollar is making some noise of its own sporting up to 16 percent Bid increases for MS62-MS64. Silver Commemoratives have displayed remarkable demand in early April and that interest continues this week. The 1892 and 1893 Columbian issues are leading the charge in PCGS MS67 with 20 and 36 percent gains respectively. However there are 3 dozen more Commems moving higher covering a wide range of issues and grades. Gold Commems are generating plenty of power on their own with many fashioning over 3 percent increases for both PCGS and NGC charts in MS64 and better. Discounting, while minimal and reflecting the strong need for coins, is still taking place. Take the 1939 Walker, graded MS66 by PCGS running by the hammer unnoticed at $322 nearly 22% below blind money. Several Morgans also fell through the cracks including a 1904 specimen graded ICG MS65 sold for 27% below sight-unseen money at $1,525. A 1952 Franklin Half grading MS66 by NGC has a standing sight-unseen offer of $94 on the table, yet old Ben too fell victim by some 23%.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers - are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

The ICG Seven Day Guarantee™ is a new way for a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. If you do not submit coins by the deadline, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, and special coins. There are no working days and no business days. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. Nothing in this offer is intended to represent the best way to submit coins to ICG's grading system in any form.

Finest Known 1792 Half Disme Claims $1.3 Million Heightened Demand For Type Prevails at CSNS

Prices for rare coins are phenomenally strong as a legendary American Numismatic icon stepped up to the plate and hit a towering home run in Columbus, Ohio. Here at the CSNS convention auction, the flowing locks of Ms. Liberty were seen streaking around the bases as the finest known 1792 Half Disme graded as SP67 by PCGS was sold for $1.32 million.

Dealers have long attributed the expanding collector base as a healthy element for this bull market that has remained potent throughout. Yet, aside from absolute rarity (mentioned above) a lot of credit is still being given to the precious metals' dazzling supporting role. Gold and Silver's exploits are often tied to rare coins because the conditions that prevail for increasing metals' prices are often favorable for raising rare coin values. Inflationary periods, and more importantly, the fear of future inflation cause collectors and others to look for insurance. That often means adding some Gold and Silver to their core holdings. They know that the economic conditions that make their dollar's value worth less are a time when they want to have some precious metal in their portfolios. Record prices being established for oil on the world markets is a perfect recipe for increased inflationary jitters as many investors jettison dollar denominated assets. Consequently, Gold and Silver and rare coins are enjoying very strong bullish markets. Once again, after much volatility due to some profit taking, Gold and Silver have inexorably marched towards the upper end of their earlier established peak levels. Of course many factors continue to determine their fate and we expect the sharp volatility to persist. Yet higher Gold continues to spawn an increase in bullion orders and also for the attractively priced $20 Saint-Gaudens and Liberties. Other classic Gold denominations are also experiencing demand. Much of this enthusiasm is due to the favorable premium seen on the numismatic coins. They are trading closer to their intrinsic value making them an attractive alternative to bullion. Needless to say, Gold will remain a hot commodity at the Central States Numismatic Society Convention in Columbus, Ohio April 26-29. Expectations are soaring for dealers because the market has maintained its lucrative position and momentum with one third of the year completed.

For its part, the sight-unseen market is reflecting the overall demand that we see at auctions and on the bourse at coin shows. So the need today is great and Bids, including sight-unseen Bids have been escalating. Auctions haven't completely satisfied their demand. So, many have posted Bids, sight-unseen, in an effort to rectify this shortfall. Morgan Dollars have been extremely active, primarily due to Silver's boost. Common dates have moved up slightly to $126 with a few dealers vying for PCGS and NGC examples grading MS65. However a few select common dates are even entertaining a $128 Bid. Quantities are needed by several dealers at these higher levels. Semi-key, 1891-O is 26 percent higher at $3,900 Bid for NGC examples. Copper is enjoying record prices on the commodities exchange and also some incredible Bids in our Type sections. Red Indian Head Cents and 2-Cent pieces are needed in PR65 and better grades. PCGS Proof 66 Red Indian Cents rocketed 63 percent to $1,600. Mint State Copper is equally impressive with increases adorning high grade early Half Cents and Large Cents. MS62 thru MS65 Bust Type is strong with two PCGS MS64 issues being noteworthy. Draped Bust, Heraldic Eagle Dimes have jumped 30 percent to $13,000 Bid while Capped Bust Halves are 29 percent higher. A 27 percent burst by a PCGS MS65 1917 leads a hand full of Walking Liberty Half Dollars advances. PCGS and NGC Proof Walkers are in motion too with the 1936 scoring big in PR61 and PR62. Mint Gold is led by the 26 percent leap by PCGS MS65 $2.50 Liberty issues. Proof Gold Type is following last week's showing with some additional plus signs. Silver Commems continue to attract multiple Bidders, especially for those popular and scarce issues. Take a look as the coveted and tough to find in high grade Hawaiian and Hudson Halves, realizing increased Bids as PCGS MS65 Hudsons are up nearly 15 percent. Yet the top honors go to MS66 Norfolks as they climb nearly 17%. A trio of PCGS Gold Dollar Commems is up in MS65 and MS66. A few 1916-17 Mercury Dimes are attracting attention and higher Bids rounding out the diverse nature of today's demand. As always a few numismatic bargains seem to slip through the cracks at public auction. Among Morgans, an NGC MS62 1878 7/8 Strong Tail Feathers was able to slide by, selling for $105, 14% below the standing offer available from at least two dealers. A 1939 Walker graded MS66 by PCGS also crept by unnoticed at $322, as apparently a blind offer of $410 wasn't seen. Another 1939, this one being a Washington Quarter graded PCGS MS67 heard the gavel fall at $195 nearly 22% under the sight-unseen offer of $250 left on the table. Finally a 1937D Buffalo graded ICG MS67 was captured for $116, an incredible 42% below sight-unseen money.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit on a sight basis.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or bond that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "l" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "ll" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder
In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis

1794 Flowing Hair Silver Dollar

The coining of a silver crown, as dollar-sized coins of the world are known to numismatists, was for centuries a distinguishing mark of national sovereignty. Thus, it was very important that the U. S. Mint produce such a coin as soon as possible so that the United States could take its rightful place among the nations of the world. This goal was stymied for a time by the inability of the Mint's assayer and chief coiner to meet their very high security bonds. It was not until 1794 that benefactors were found to post these bonds, permitting the Mint's officers to coin silver and gold.

Just 2,000 silver dollars were minted in 1794, all of them on October 15. Some 242 pieces were rejected as unfit, leaving a net mintage of only 1,758 coins. As may be seen from this rare example, these coins were weakly struck in places. The Mint lacked a coin press of sufficient power to make coins as large as the silver dollar, and this denomination was not resumed until a larger press arrived the following May. A mere 120-130 1794 silver dollars are believed to still exist today.

Momentum Strong As May Begins

Gold, Silver & Sight-Unseen Bids Move Higher

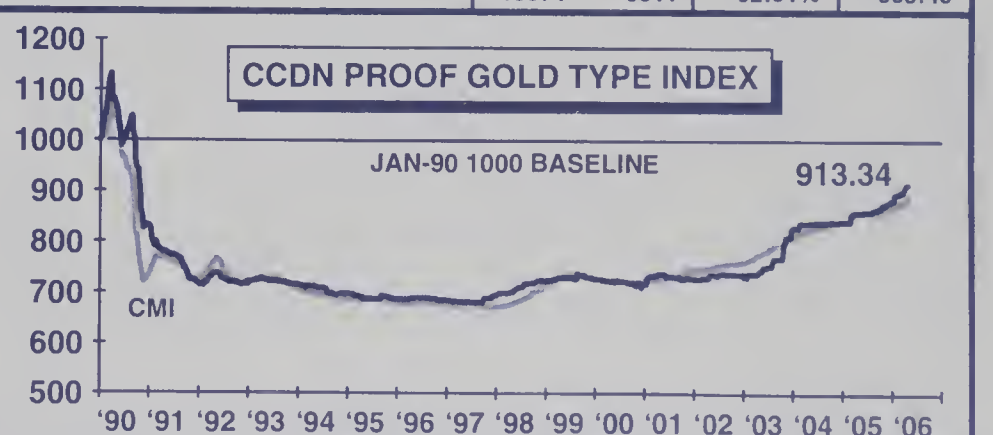

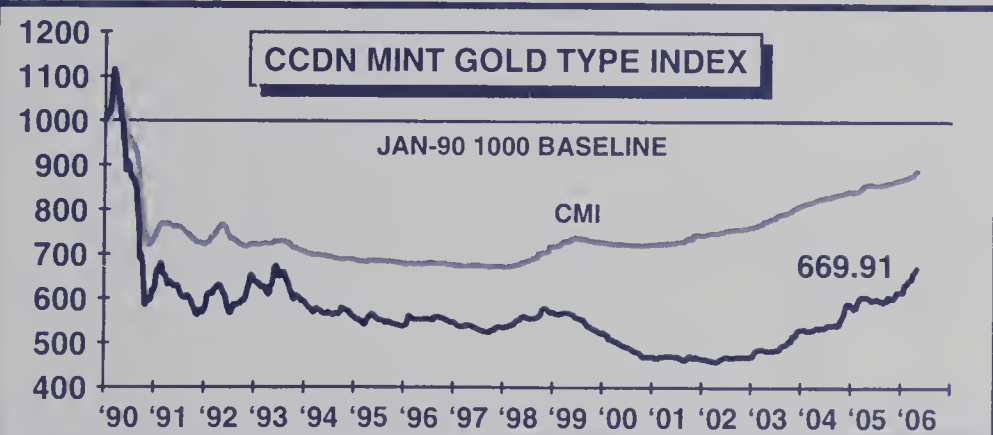

As we observed last week, incredible prices are being paid for some of the marquee attractions that have been appearing at public auction. This trend has been with us for much of this bull market and it certainly looks as if those rare headliners will be the focus at upcoming sales. These huge prices are being paid for major rarities and condition census material for several reasons. As many dealers' inventories are running on empty they have been looking to fuel up where they can. Unfortunately, they usually find themselves vying with collectors and well-healed enthusiasts at every turn for the same material. Dealers have had to pay top dollar just to have new inventory and be able to offer their customers a nice selection. They are all too well aware that many of today's collectors are rather sophisticated and excellent students of past price performances and population reports. They also know that many of the more affluent buyers they are dealing with are securing material that in many cases may not see the light of day for several years. Consequently, dealers look to buy top quality and rare coins that not only fit that mold resulting in a sale, but even more importantly to keep their clients satisfied and as repeat customers. As metal mania continues its volatile expedition to higher ground these increases give investors and collectors the incentive to further diversify their portfolios. Certainly as Gold powers past $670 per ounce and Silver flirts with $14 per oz., these are positives that bode well for the continued health of the rare coin market.

The recently concluded Central States Numismatic Society show and auction confirmed the continuation of the raging bull market. Dealers agreed, though not so much from a public buying binge but from sustained wholesale activity taking place on the bourse. The tremendous need for rare coins seems to trump any other problem they face. Still, trouble locating an overload of want list coins is a good position to be in despite all its difficulties. Activity in Ohio also demonstrated select demand in several areas of the market. These sentiments have echoed over to this week's sight-unseen market where dealers are actively posting selectively, higher Bids. As a result it appears that May is getting off on the fast track. Silver Commemoratives are taking a respite this week after a steady number of weekly increases in April. However, that doesn't seem to be the case with Gold Commemoratives. Strong demand is attacking this short series with sweeping increases covering the higher grades from MS64 thru MS67. The top dog among the Gold Commems is the 10 percent increase by the massive and expensive $50 round slug as a PCGS MS62 1915-S Pan-Pac claims a $48,500 Bid. On balance other increases ranged from 3-7 percent, for a nice weekly move. Both Morgan and Peace Dollars have benefited from sharply rising Silver bullion values. It isn't as though they needed any help as both are among the most popular series. With the influx of new collectors, demand for common dates is growing and so are Bids. Morgans are displaying higher sight-unseen Bids for Gem quality MS66 issues, now at $285 for either PCGS or NGC examples. We also note some increased interest for MS64 and MS65 grades as well. Additionally, select better date Dollars are sprinkled among the gainers. For example, an 1890-O is a better date in MS64 and better. Gems approach $1,000 so it not so surprising to see the 11 percent Bid increase for PCGS MS64 examples, now at $222. A PCGS MS65 1923-S also jumped 11 percent to $2,500 Bid. MS62 thru MS66 Common date Peace Dollars are strong, with MS65 and MS66 issues posting double digit gains. The Type markets are firm with Proof 3-Cent Copper-Nickel and 20-Cent pieces leading the pack. Mint State Gold is solid with $2.50, $5, $10 and $20 denominations participating. Mercury Dimes begin May with interested buyers searching for grades MS65 thru MS67 with Fully Split Bands. Overall the gains are rather strong but an NGC MS65FB 1942-S at $50 Bid leads the way with a 25 percent spike. However even with this sizable increase, PCGS graded specimens are being Bid 40% higher than the NGC material. On the opposite side of the ledger, the popular 1945-S Micro "S" fell some 17 percent as a PCGS MS67 traded at $220. A bit of discounting is somewhat evident in other areas this week. However that's to be expected after a $16.8 million Heritage auction took place at the CSNS show in Columbus, Ohio. Auction bills will be coming due soon and dealers must raise some cash to cover them. Coins selling below Bid this past week either meant an opportunity lost or captured. The choice is yours as a trio of Mercury Dimes were auctioned off via Teletrade, realizing as much as 25% below sight-unseen money. Heritage auctions also saw some Walkers tripping by as much as 10 percent and a small heard of Buffalo Nickels also fell under the money by 5% and more. Closing on a more positive note, many increasing Bids observed for both ANACS and ICG products are a further indication of the expanding strength of the overall market.

Your Rare Coins — ICG's Rare Talent A Winning Combination!!

Keith Love
ICG's Senior Grader

Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

J. P. Martin
ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey
ICG's Senior Numismatist

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer
ICG Grader

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg
ICG Grader

Sue has been in the rare coin business for six years. Her discerning "eye" and work ethic has made her an important part of the best team of graders in the rare coin industry.

Auction of NGC-graded Damon Collection yields excitement, fierce competition, and record values.

Bidders from around the world participated in a true numismatic event on March 23, 2006, competing for coins from the estate of Samuel Mills Damon, in an auction conducted by Doyle New York.

The sale more than doubled the high pre-sale estimate, with many lots selling for multiples of their posted value ranges. Earning top billing were a group of Hawaiian Dollars. Two examples graded NGC MS67 and a lone NGC MS68 all capped the $100,000 mark, setting auction records for these coins.

We are proud to say that the collection was certified by NGC. An offering this important deserves nothing less than the rarest commitment to numismatics.

- ◆ Each coin encapsulated by NGC included the pedigree S.M. DAMON COLLECTION to recognize the special achievements of an extraordinary collector, active a century ago.

When the greatest collections go to market, they go with NGC.

Rare Coins Stay Hot As Precious Metals Rocket Dollars & Gold Type Push Higher

The rare coin market hasn't relinquished any of its phenomenal strength gained over the past four years. Of course the sustained precious metals mania has had something to say about that as $700 plus per oz. Gold is now a reality. Silver has also made a gallant stand adding further punch to the equation as it crosses $15 per ounce. These most recent precipitous increases in the metals have come on the thundering heels of earlier advances, solidifying their remarkable bull market run. As both bask in their quarter-century highs the other white metal, Platinum is also spiking ahead, continuing to set new all time highs, now at $1,300 per ounce. This resulting in heavy profits to those that bought Uncirculated Platinum, Gold or Silver American Eagles at just about any time in the past. Precious metals continue to increase even with the announced quarter percent increase to the Federal Funds Rate. Although rate increases of this type are often perceived as a buffer to keep inflation in check it usually is a negative for the metals, a non interest bearing asset.

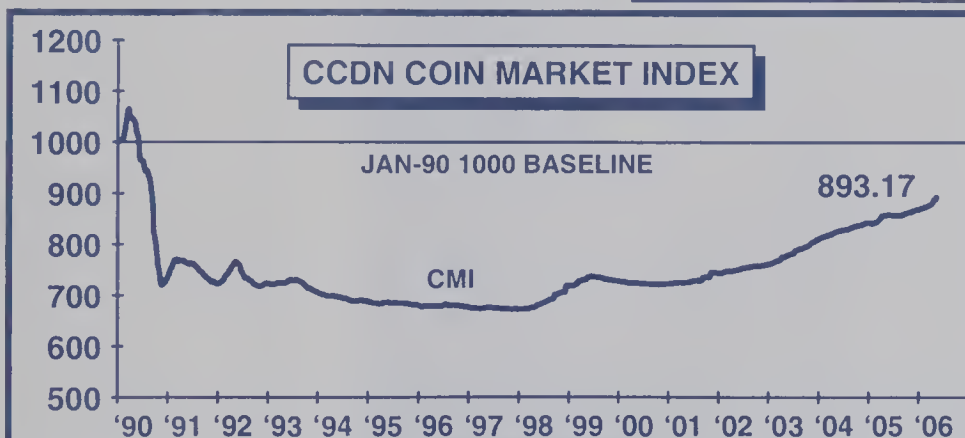

Dealers will have to keep one eye on the economic front and the other on the calendar as four auction companies have substantial sales planned later this month. Stack's begins this spring salvo in New York with sales taking place May 23-25. Bowers and Merena follow on May 26 from Anaheim, California. Next, Ira & Larry Goldberg C&C and Superior host the Pre-Long Beach auctions May 28-30 in Beverly Hills. In total, thousands of lots, including rarities will cross the auction block. Of course dealers are ecstatic to see this wealth of material hit the market at one time as their proverbial cupboards are nearly bare. The opportunity to acquire coins for their customers will be upper most on their minds as they get ready to compete with other buyers and collectors during this auction marathon. As usual, they will want to be in a strong cash and credit position so they can act on behalf of their clients and themselves. The sight-unseen market is one arena that allows them to raise cash quickly as well as being able to buy a coin or two in an instant.

Despite the few declines within Silver Commems, the California Jubilee is making noise in MS61 thru MS64 for both PCGS and NGC. The gains are solid at 4-5 percent for each. Gold Commems feature the Sesquicentennial and the $2.50 Pan-Pac with multiple Bid jumps in several Mint State grades. A powerful statement is being made among Dollars as generic Morgans put on a show with MS62 thru MS67 gaining ground. Generic Prooflike Morgans Dollars are also hot and perhaps still undervalued. One consideration for acquisition is for the registry buffs as PCGS will soon be making changes that affect the numeric ranking of Prooflike Morgan Dollar sets. Now only 22 scarce and rare issues that are non PL certified, may be included in the set and still be considered complete. Meanwhile, Peace Dollars are buoyed by higher common dates in MS65 and two keys, 1921 and 1928 advancing in MS61 thru MS63. Washington Quarters find better dates soaring. Of course the market power revs higher when you examine Gold Type. The $5 Liberty and Indian are commanding attention with substantial increases in several grades, led by the 38 percent spike by the PCGS MS65 $5 Liberty with Motto at $3,860 Bid. However other Gold denominations are joining the party as bullion tests higher ground. Just think, a year ago $20 Liberty and Saint-Gaudens issues in MS61 and MS62 were Bid at $490 and $500 respectively. Today, they are 43 percent and 41 percent higher at $700 and $705. This is the case for both PCGS and NGC examples (see the chart at left for comparison of all Mint State grades). Early Gold Type is equally powerful. Proof Gold also had a good week with 10 PCGS issues advancing up to 8%. A few Mint State Type issues are receiving serious offers. PCGS Capped Bust Half Dollars impress in grades MS61 thru MS63, with the MS61 rocketing an astonishing 56 percent higher at $750.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

PROOFLIKE MORGAN DOLLARS

Saints March And Dollars Roll Auction Assault Begins In New York City

May, thus far, has maintained a positive collector climate as fervent demand continues to blossom and grow. Yet just like the current east coast weather pattern it has also displayed some powerful volatility. Concerns within the financial arena and related economic news has raised havoc within the precious metals, these very beacons which had been responsible in great part for the radiant glow and continued growth of the numismatic arena. Yet as many of the commodity markets have dominated with multi year highs concerns with interest rates, the dollar and the price of oil continue to play an integral role. While Copper may be setting a record at over $8K per ton; weary eyes are taking in the April CPI, indicating a 0.6% increase. This was only 0.1% greater than expected but was the largest move in the last 3 months causing the stock market to plunge; suffering its largest single day loss in three years. Gold retreated below $700 and Silver fell below $13 per oz as profit taking ensued. Many analysts firmly expect the precious metals to resume their bullish trend but caution to prepare for a bit of a roller coaster ride on the way. Now more than ever collector/investors, need to be on alert as the metal markets seem to ebb and flow more rapidly on the wave of daily financial data. Common date Silver Dollars and Gold Type are inevitably linked to these movements as well so it is very important that one maintains an awareness of these ongoing economic activities.

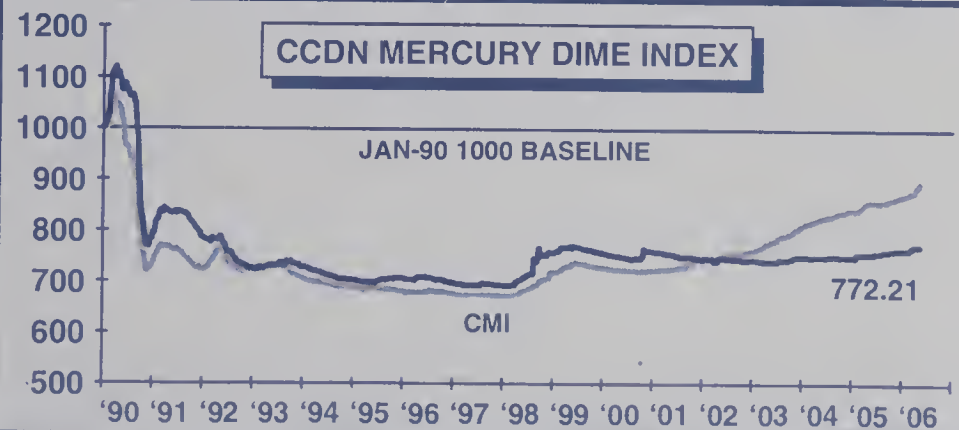

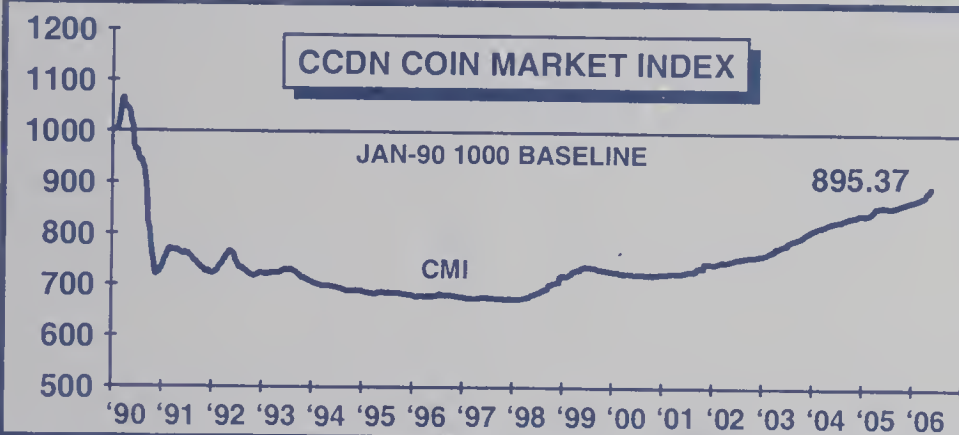

Meanwhile, dealers are making their final preparations for the upcoming rigorous auction schedule that will close out the month. As most players have armed themselves with enough cash and credit, they only hope that their stamina holds out as they expect stiff competition as they seek some success for themselves and their customers. It all begins May 23 in New York City and travels to Anaheim and Beverly Hills before culminating in Long Beach, California. There are thousands of auction lots to view and little time to do it. However this is a very necessary activity as dealers want to be able to fill some of their customer's long neglected needs. Major auctions invariably attract the very rare and expensive items, and often those are the coins that are front and center on want lists. With all this auction build-up you might expect the sight-unseen rare coin trading to be on the quiet side with discounting dominating. Not so, as we iterated at the top, strong demand has enveloped this market and increasing Bids are breaking out in several areas.

The drop in Silver bullion has done little to quell the demand taking place in the Morgan and Peace Dollar series. The quickly moving Spot Silver price may have caught many by surprise as these majestic cartwheels were selling at just over melt. Those looking to board the Silver express were happy at being able to buy common date circulated Morgan and Peace Dollars at these levels. However, savvy Bidders stepped in and prices began to escalate. This week, common date Morgans in MS63 thru MS67 are awash in plus signs. Increases for PCGS and NGC examples are found throughout the series with the $150 Bid for MS65 specimens turning in a strong 7 percent increase from last week's $140. Yet it's not only the common dates that are doing well among Dollars. Several 1878 inaugural entries and Carson City issues are scoring some points as dealers try to nab some of these popular dates for their customers. Peace Dollars are led by the 16% jump to $7,000 Bid for the tough PCGS MS65 1925-S. Only 34 have been graded with none higher. Just take a look at the chart, tracking the positive exploits of pre 1921 Morgan and Peace Dollars in the last year.

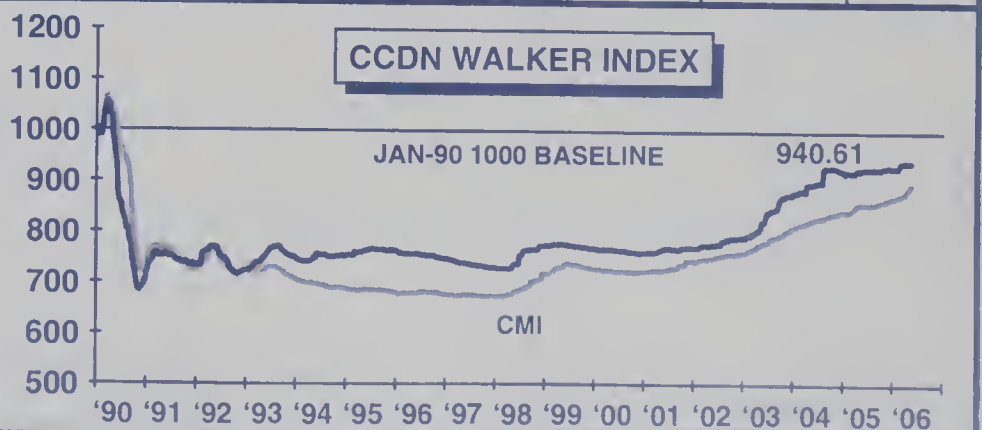

Mint State Saint-Gaudens are enjoying strong increases for several dates through MS65. The 1914 issue scored strong double digit gains across-the-board in grades from MS61-MS65. That wasn't all as more than 220 plus signs are seen attacking both PCGS and NGC issues with strapping increases. Gold Commems also sparkled this week. These ongoing advances stayed in a narrow 2 percent range for MS64 and better examples. Proof Gold Type is another area of the market where minor increases are found. In this case, it's the $10 Indian moving higher in PCGS PR64 and PR65 with the PR64 gain topping out at 3 percent. Note the $2,000 bump for PCGS PR67 $20 Saint-Gaudens, now $102,000 Bid. Overall solid demand is being maintained for Silver Commems, Type and other series. Buyers are cautiously trying to accumulate material without having to overpay. They know that prices have increased over the last year and they recognize that these higher levels have put a strain on a few of their customers' budgets.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity and nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of a bid to support a high Bid. As Trades which are near or below current Bid, CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

For Duke's Creek, the Choice was NGC

The finest set of Dahlonega Mint coinage ever assembled was built over a period of 20 years. When it was first certified by NGC in its entirety, NGC Chairman Mark Salzberg commented that it is "one of the finest collections of any type ever put together. It's great to know that there are still real collectors who set a goal for themselves and achieve it." The nature of this accomplishment is astounding, as more than 75% of the coins comprising this set are finest known for their issue.

Coins from the Jeffrey Fisher – Duke's Creek Collection were returned home to Georgia during Heritage Auction Galleries' official ANA auction conducted on April 7, 2006 in Atlanta, which "produced spirited bidding and several record prices," according to Heritage President Greg Rohan.

As with the Eliasberg, Damon, and Reiver Collections, NGC was chosen for its proven track record of consistent, accurate grading, and overall commitment to numismatics.

When the best collections go to market, they go with NGC.

Gold Sustains Sharp $36 Drop 1854-S Quarter Eagle Nabs $161K In Fine

It had been expected for sometime and due to the complexities of world events and markets, profit taking hit the precious metals in a big way this week. It culminated in a selling frenzy that featured a one day $36 drop in Gold equaling 5.4 percent to $637.50 per ounce. Putting all of this in perspective, it is the single largest drop for the yellow metal in 12 years. The correction, a precipitous jolt to say the least, is looked at by some optimistic analysts as a buying opportunity. As we go to press, Gold has indeed recovered somewhat and is now trading at $650, an all important resistance level. Of course, even the most pessimistic coin dealers on the receiving end of this stern wake up call realize it's the nature of the business. A necessary evil that plays havoc when you are attempting to complete bullion transactions for your customers. Not wanting to get caught in the crossfire of such rapid market swings volume buyers will have to remain on their toes.

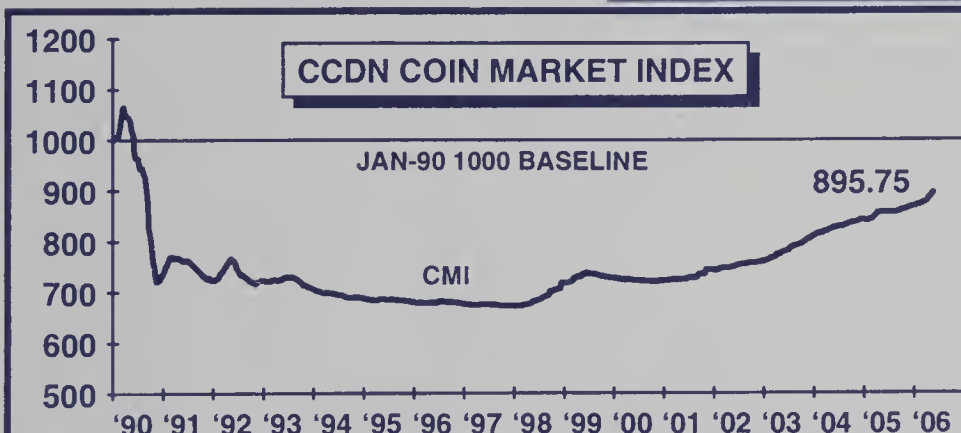

Dealers have no time to anguish over this as they regroup and head west to Anaheim, California for the Coin & Collectibles Expo. Set-up day, May 24th was deemed relatively quiet as many dealers were still too busy resolving bullion related issues at home. Those in attendance were hungry for business. Most of them were just trying to buy coins. Several said that depleted inventories were the main culprit for this condition and their immediate need to beef up stock is taking high priority. Their need is great, but unfortunately heavy competition is taxing their efforts at being successful. Most are in quest of "fresh material." They are looking to buy a wide range of dates and denominations that will be of interest for their customers. One dealer that was searching the bourse for better date Gold said he has orders waiting to be filled for just about all of the Indian Gold and Saint-Gaudens series. For example, one of his customers wants to buy the legendary 1933 $10 Indian in any grade. Better date Liberty Gold is also sought-after, especially select Charlotte and Dahlonega Mint material. He likes to buy rarities in the $1,500-$6,000 price range as this is the level his customers feel comfortable buying. Collectors of course are looking for coins that represent a good value. Usually, better date Gold leads market rallies but that hasn't been the case this time. Instead we have seen that Type, early Gold, key dates and other areas have taken this bull by the horns. That's why some value hunters are targeting dated Gold. One dealer said that there is a shortage of MS63 and better Gold Type. A lot of this material has "dried-up," and that the sharp drop in bullion certainly hasn't rattled any of his customers into selling.

In the meantime, Stack's Gala May 23-25 auction has been partially completed realizing $6.5 million with the Northern Bay Commemorative collection up next. We have listed a few of the many highlights. Weary dealers have little time to rest as the Bowers and Merena auction, along with two Pre-Long Beach sales by Superior and Goldberg C&C are on deck. Topped off by the Long Beach Expo scheduled May 31 thru June 3. Buyers are hopeful that the multiple auctions and big Southern California show will allow them to come home with some much needed trophies. The extreme volatility in Spot Silver hasn't squelched the demand for common date Morgan and Peace Dollars one iota. Generic Morgans are still finding higher buyers in grades MS65 and MS66. We hear that there is a strong buyer out there in need of a quantity of these coins for a program. This order may be filling up quickly, especially with prices at these levels. PCGS and NGC Peace Dollars are up in MS64 to $43 and NGC MS61 common dates vaulted more than 8 percent at $13 Bid. Gold Type is correcting as well with several issues rolling back a bit this week. The largest percentage loser was the $3 Gold Princess in PCGS MS64 at $10,045 Bid, down 4.3 percent, while the NGC equivalent gave up 3.4 percent. More bullion sensitive Gold Type also eased back finding MS61 Type III $20 Liberties and Saint-Gaudens lower. Proof Mercury Dimes got a huge boost as one sight-unseen buyer offered more than a 100 percent advance for quantities of PR65 and PR66 1938 examples. This prompted at least one happy seller to quickly hit the Bid.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks, sell lists, coin show and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase, or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "l" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

Early Type Set Changes Hands At $2 Million Beverly Hills Pre-Long Beach Auctions Hit $23 Million

Dealers were upbeat during the opening hours of dealer set-up day, May 31, but their initial optimism wasn't able to overcome their disappointment over the continued deficiency of fresh material that they desperately need. While a few of the dealers thought that the activity level on the bourse was down a bit, they blamed the obvious lack of nice coins as the culprit and not a weaker market. Many of them have come to the Golden State seeking just that, Gold and other rare coins. Rare date Gold as always is highly sought-after on the floor and was vigorously contested at the two pre-Long Beach auctions in Beverly Hills. One dealer we spoke with was able to secure a few pieces but that certainly wasn't enough to satisfy the overwhelming demand from his customers or to help stabilize his depleted inventory. Happily, he managed to buy two NGC AU58 Gold rarities on the bourse. One, an 1803/2 $5 and the other the coveted 1854-O $3 Princess. Certainly this dealer and many others are in need of more substantial purchases before they leave California. More buzz on the Long Beach bourse during set-up included details of a multi-million dollar transaction that took place over the past two weeks. Legend Numismatics of Lincroft, New Jersey sold a complete date and major variety early Type set of Copper and Silver regular issue coinage from 1793-1800. The buyer, Don Willis of Premium Numismatics, Huntington Beach, California paid an amount in excess of $2 million. The deal was comprised of 41 coins that included famous numismatic pedigrees such as Garrett, Eliasberg, Norweb and Pittman. This fantastic collection was hand picked and secured over a 10 year period by the foresight and prudence of Legend Numismatics. All of the players on this formidable roster are graded by PCGS. The grades range from EF40 thru MS64 with many desirable AU and better examples. Consider a PCGS AU53 1793 Flowing Hair Half Cent from the Garrett collection as well as a 1793 PCGS AU55 Sheldon 2 Chain AMERICA Cent from the fabulous Norweb collection. A 1794 Flowing Hair Dollar in EF40, the Gainsborough example last appeared on the market in September 1980. The first year of issue Dollar is facing extraordinary demand today. Premium Numismatics has already sold (retail) more than half the coins from the deal to their customers. This included four early Bust Dimes that they placed with clients on May 31.

The sight-unseen market is expectedly quiet this week. For one reason, the sharp profit taking in the precious metals is continuing. Gold is now trading below $630 per ounce, a $100 decline from its recent high. Silver has also dropped precipitously to below $12 per ounce. Still, all the analysts agree that this bout of profit taking was necessary and healthy for a bull market that, they believe, is still very much intact. Secondly, the major show and auctions are consuming much of the attention and efforts of dealers. Still, most levels are holding and with dealers still in need of material it's just a matter of time before Bids begin climbing. Isabella Quarters in MS65 and better are hot while select Gold Commemoratives are moving higher. Notice the interest in the $2.50 Pan-Pac in MS65 and MS66. The $50 Pan-Pac slugs are also moving higher with increased Bids recorded in multiple grades. Proof Mercury Dimes are grabbing the attention of some Bidders as the 1936, 1938, 1941 and 1942 move up with the 1938 issue up 7 percent. ANACS coins appear to be improving with increasing Bids targeting several issues. Today's dealers are trying to buy value wherever they can. At least one dealer is offering 50% of Bid for any ANACS slabs labeled as cleaned.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

*The ICG Seven Day Guarantee - ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions.
Example: If your 15 coin Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey
ICG's Senior Numismatist

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg

Precious Metals Succumb To Profit Taking

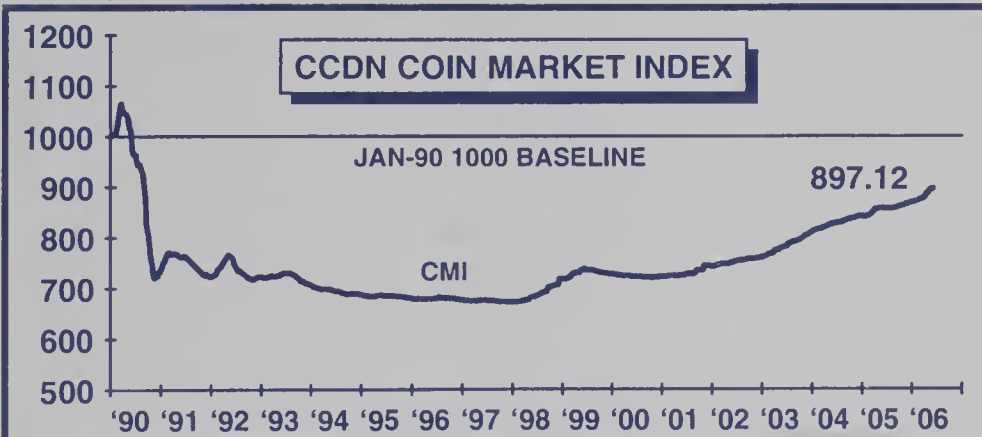

Amazing Opportunities Seen

The precious metals arena remains under immense pressure again this week as world events dictate while further consolidation and profit taking takes hold. Analysts are quick to point out several market related forces for stimulating the decline. Some of them include: a strengthening U.S. Dollar; Federal Reserve Chairman's remarks indicating additional likely interest rate hikes and the easing of tensions between Washington DC and Iran, and the elimination of terrorist Al-Zarqawi. Still, most forecasters have expected these dramatic declines and have now seen them come to fruition with Gold now trading under $610; Silver below $11.10; and Platinum dipping beneath $1,200 per ounce. The sharp sustained increase in each made them ripe for a major correction. Yet, these declines haven't been cause for too much concern by dealers as they continue to face extraordinary rare coin demand from their customers and other dealers. The lack of low population coins as well as the shortage of fresh material was again fully exposed in California during the Long Beach Expo and its surrounding auctions. Coins that measured up to the strict needs of those serious collectors in attendance were bought with not much concern about the elevated Asking prices. Dealers have told us that many areas of the rare coin market continue to face strong support at current levels. A major part of this strength must be credited to the aggressive want lists that are still outstanding. Well-heeled collectors are interested in inquiring rarities and better dates from many series including Gold. They are even willing to pay strong money for high quality examples of rarities that go well into the upper echelon six-figure category.

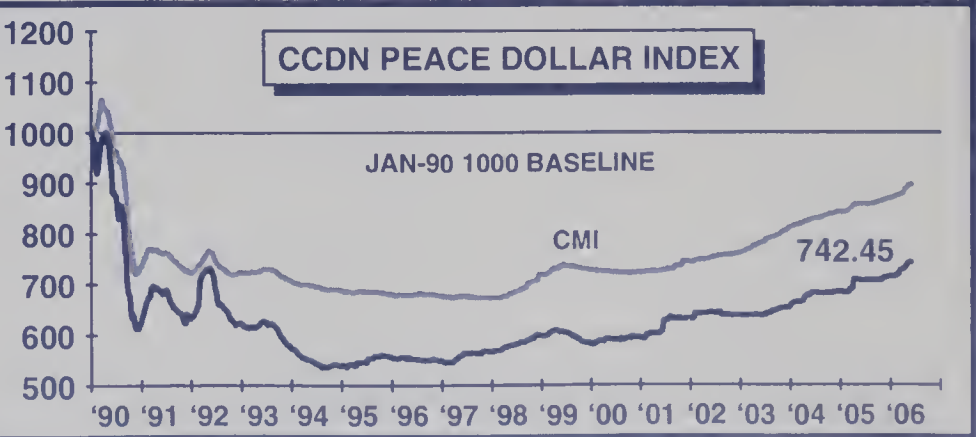

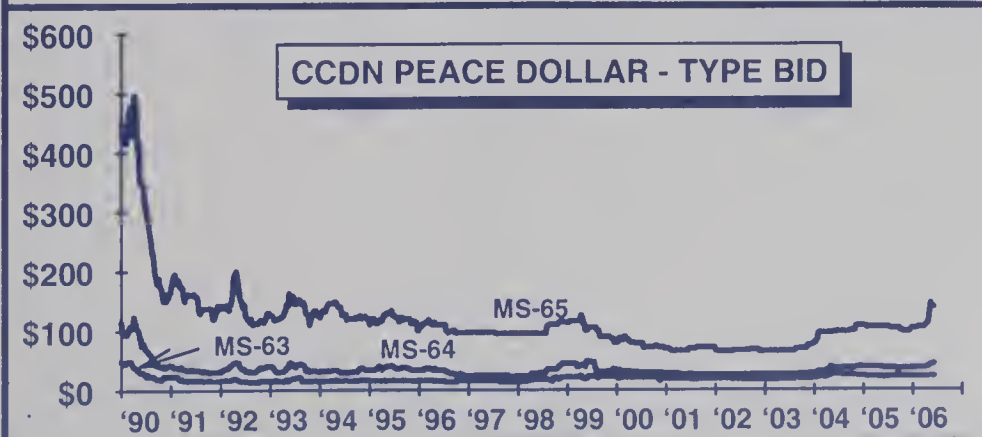

For its part, the sight-unseen market is a dichotomy this week with solid demand pushing Bids higher amidst a host of discounting. The Morgan Dollar series has been among the market leaders and while there are a number of gains, most are relatively small. However, the 22 percent jump for 1921-D in NGC MS64 is a solid one as two Bidders are vying for 15 examples at that level. More importantly are the two $1,150 Bids representing 16 and 17 percent increases for PCGS and NGC respectively for the popular 1880-CC in MS65. Again, Bidders are looking for this "CC" date in quantities. Discounting also hit the Morgans with dealers taking advantage of recent increases by selling some of the higher grade common dates mixed in with a few better dates. One of the biggest areas of support, sight-unseen, is very similar to the strength that we are currently seeing in the sight-seen market. Early Gold of all three denominations and Types are receiving exceptional Bids. However the near 50 percent jump for both PCGS and NGC AU58 examples of the $5 1829-1834 Capped Head, Small Size is leading the pack this week. This huge increase makes sense, because often AU58 Gold is even more attractive and desirable than many low grade Mint State examples. $5 Capped Bust Left from 1807-1812 is also on the move in a number of grades with NGC MS62 and better all higher this week. No Motto $10 Liberties also chimed in with some interest. Proof Type in PR64 thru PR66 is also receiving some interest, especially for Copper-Nickel 3-Cent pieces as well as Shield and Liberty Nickels. Mint State Type gains are found among Draped Bust Large Cents. Buffalo Nickels are displaying the classic mixed market with a few early issues increasing while several others suffer some discounting. Silver Commemoratives are displaying more plus than minus signs. Walkers are mixed while some early Proof Singles are dropping. Generic Gold Type will most likely be displaying additional minus signs as dealers lower their Asking prices in sympathy with the sharp drop in Gold Spot.

With so many auctions conducted recently, a few astute players were able to capitalize on many double digit percentage differences between the auction price realized and current sight-unseen Bids. Check out these results: a PCGS MS65 1881 Morgan Dollar sold for $357 even though a 25 percent higher $478 Bid was already on the table. Or, you could have had a double pay out with two MS67 1882-S Morgan common dates. A PCGS and NGC each sold in successive lots for only $805. Both realized a whopping 13% below the $925 MS67 Type Bid. There would have been no trouble selling them as these Bidders are looking for multiples of each. Among Proof Type, an NGC PR64 1873 Liberty Seated Dime, Arrows sold at auction for $805, more than 28% below the $1,130 Bid or $325 for the taking. The pay day doesn't end there because a NGC MS64 FB 1917-D Mercury Dime brought a minuscule $207 at auction. This was an astoundingly high 67 percent below sight-unseen Bid of $625. Another Merc Dime, a 1923 in PCGS MS66 FB sold for $230. Again, this is a remarkable 38 percent below the $370 Bid. Two Mercury Dimes could have offered someone more than $550 profit. Putting this into perspective the profit alone would be more than the cost of both Dimes. Are you in need of further proof? How about the 1938 Merc graded PCGS PR65 hammered down with buyer's premium for a measly $288? A powerful 45% below a blind Bidder still looking for multiples at $520.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. www.cdnpublications.com

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

LARGE SIZE TYPE NOTES

Large wire types continue over the past year have become even stronger than in the past. Prices, especially for the very highest quality G&S material, have moved in historically high levels. Interest in low and faster serial numbers in particular has continued to grow. A considerable challenge in have met as interest levels and prices have could only have been regarded as exceptionally strong at the beginning of the year.

With the entry of XLS and NCC into the third post-independence financial crisis, the fortunes are appearing with greater frequency, especially in auction offerings. Although quality remains high, there generally has been a tendency at the upper end of the spectrum to overprice. This, in turn, has led to the belief that this crisis will only be a re-run of the years 1986-88, as the market replaces auction and acceptance with a more orderly market. The fact that the market has not yet been established has the immediate effect of attracting a large proportion of buyers to the Paper Money arena. Even a casual perusal of coin pricing publications immediately demonstrates that the final few points of grading perfection in this area lead to exponential price increases compared to the next lowest grade.

Paper Money buyers have always tended to be more collection rather than speculation oriented. Whether the wider availability of third party grading from NCC and PC will lead to a closer monetary focus in this sector

The GreenSheet reports the national currency market on a monthly basis.

MISCELLANEOUS

As noted above, the Shanghai Sale, although by some the most successful, clearly does indicate that the Obscure item has secured a new level of popularity and buyer participation. There was a time not long ago when a bid of around $1,000 or more for a Chinese item might have been big news. The Shanghai Sale provides an indication of a substantial multiple of bids above that level, and even at the end of the five figures, just a few scores of up to 100,000, are the S.C. C. & S. Co. items. The "New Estimate of $1,000,000" is a true story. See $25,000. As other items have been reported by well known firms (Barnes, Simon, Osborn, etc.), the National estimate of $1,500,000 is not far from the truth.

While these results were certainly not typical, a preliminary above-the-market sale for the over-50s clearly demonstrates that the life insurance market has reached a new level of maturity and has achieved a higher price level, signaling to them a new financial environment.

Every Numismatic Library needs copies of the latest addition to the COIN DEALER newsletter family of publications:

the Backsheet

Now that we have your attention, we really haven't started an additional newsletter — but your library should include Back Issues of our publications. Back issues are available two ways:

You can purchase small quantities to fill in missing issues, to obtain articles necessary for your research, or to follow your special interests. You may also combine your order for back issues of any of our publications to obtain the lowest price:

Or, you can purchase complete sets of back issues for really dramatic savings:

Complete set of the weekly Coin Dealer newsletter (Greysheet)
 from June 14, 1963 to December 23, 2005, now includes 2,169 issues.

 is only $2,200.

Complete set of the monthly CDN Monthly Supplement
 (formerly the Monthly Summary)
 from August 1976 to December 2005, now includes 352 issues. At $1.50 each this would normally cost $528, but a complete set is only $405.

Generic Gold & Dollars Mirror Metals Volatility Has Been The Word For June

Last week we brought to the forefront the enormous pressure that was targeting all the precious metals. This week, that balloon finally burst with a vengeance. The sharp decline was long expected by many analysts but the swiftness and severity of the drop probably caught a lot of people off guard. Still, most coin dealers as well as market analysts continue to be up beat and believe that these metals remain in a secular bull market. However, many of the major market players are rather cautious right now as they fear that prices may descend even lower before the bull is ready to charge forward. Who can really blame them with many of the factors that affect the metals turning against them? The Federal Reserve is expected to raise interest rates, again. Increasing rates tend to pressure Gold and other non-interest bearing assets and also support the Dollar. We also note that there has been marginal improvement in the war of words with Iran. The price of Oil has also eased. In Iraq, al-Zarqawi has been taken out of the terrorism equation. The American Dollar, which has been extremely weak on the world markets, has also made a bit of a recovery. Yet in light of these numerous contrary revelations many still hold to the opinion that since most of the negatives are now out and with the precipitous sell-off nearly complete we should at least tread water for a while. Time will soon tell if these dramatically lower levels will entice new buyers. For the interim tension remains evident and bullion sensitive numismatic coins may find that the buying waters are still rough as turbulent waves of future volatility may prevent collectors from sailing on in.

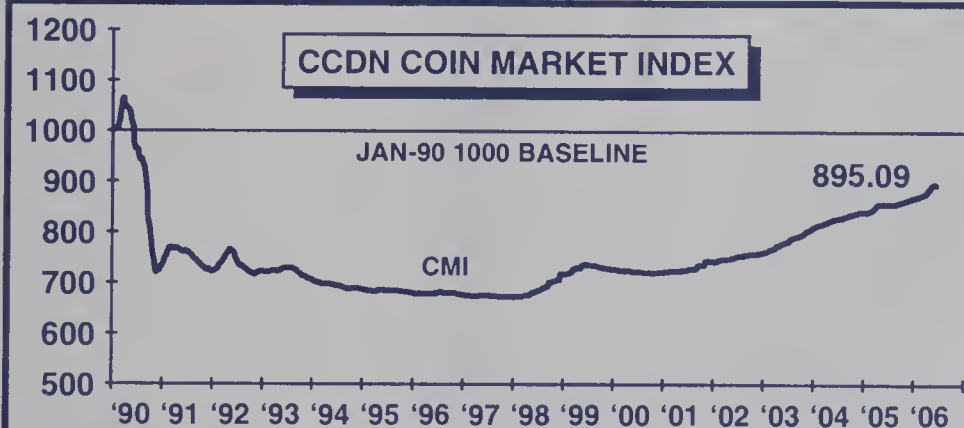

This week's sight-unseen market is now beginning to reflect the results of the huge drops that occurred in those very Gold and Silver bullion markets. Discounting is also quite evident this week as auctions put coins on the block and found many nervous Bidders not willing to extend for select examples. The Silver Commemoratives were rather quiet although we do note some discounting taking place in two 1921 Pilgrim Tercentenary issues in NGC MS66 and MS67. Two high-priced Gold Commemorative rarities traded lower at public auction as an NGC MS67 1905 Lewis & Clark $1 claimed $54,625, down more than $5,000. The second, an NGC MS67 1926 Sesquicentennial $2.50 brought $48,875; $3,625 below last week's Bid. Morgan and Peace Dollars provide us with a clearer indication that something is up with Silver. Common dates, which have proved to be big winners so far this year, have had somewhat of a setback. Check out the large number of lower Bids for NGC and PCGS MS63 thru MS67 pre-1921 Morgans. We are monitoring those dealers offering them for sale at reduced levels as well as the weaker winning Bids occurring at public auction. Similarly, Peace Dollars mirrored the motion in MS64 and MS65. Proof and Mint State Type are hauntingly quiet this week as uneasy Bidders pull back from higher levels. Actually the only plus signs appearing here are seen among the Draped Bust Large Cents. This Type has been heavily sought-after and this week's increases are a continuation of the advances seen last week. Mint State Gold Type is mixed. Interestingly, we see some plus signs targeting the Indian Gold series for the $2.50, $5 and $10 issues. Yet, minus signs are prevalent in the MS65 Gem category and the ultra bullion sensitive $20 Saints and Liberties in MS61 thru MS65. Surprisingly even with this moderate roll back Gold Type enjoys nearly an 11% gain since the year began as revealed within the CCDN Coin Market Index chart.

Rarity still has its appeal as Type III Gold Dollars jump to $2,410 Bid while $2.50 Liberties advance in MS63, MS64 and MS66. Significant rewards can be found for those who are patient and willing to do their homework. Two prime examples are perhaps the result of the volumes of material that appears at public auction. At the recently concluded Long Beach sale which realized $13.5 million, a potential hefty pay day awaited as an NGC PR67 1909 Barber Quarter sold for a remarkably low $1,265 this some 55% below a sight-unseen offer of $2,800. Another to cause consignors anguish was seen as an 1865 Liberty Seated Quarter graded PCGS PR65 brought a mere $1,610 some 42% below a blind offer of $2,780. The buyer of these two coins alone could have turned a fast $2,705 profit! More the reason that dealers need to maintain their liquidity during these times so that they can take advantage of any opportunities like these that come their way.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

"The most important coin book ever written... a spectacular tour de force that surely will be proclaimed an instant classic - and undoubtedly will stand for years to come as the gold standard for coin books on consumer protection and investment." -Ed Reiter, Senior Editor, COINage

Consumer advocate Scott A. Travers, reveals trade secrets on how you can make money and avoid even the smallest mistakes in the rare coin marketplace in his new Random House book. This straight-forward guide candidly examines grading controversies and the popularity of registry sets, playing the "crack out" game with third-party encapsulated coins, and the dangers of online auctions and coin doctoring.

1,200 consumer protection caveats give you the most candid advice on how to buy and sell coins profitably, whether it's a sleeper found on the bourse or a multi-million dollar rarity seen at auction. Detailed photographs of coins with genuine and difficult-to-detect artificial toning give you unprecedented side-by-side comparisons.

Illustrated with more than 260 state-of-the-art digital color and black and white images of coins, this 400-page guide packs a powerful, one-two punch. It combines a thorough update of earlier editions of The Coin Collector's Survival Manual with another of Travers' seven acclaimed books, How to Make Money in Coins Right Now. Both were bestsellers in their own right, and now both are available in a single, updated and timely volume. Among the topics covered in the new mega-book:

- Coins overgraded by grading services (text page 79, color photos insert page 13).
How you can capitalize on the gyrations of gold prices when buying rare and generic gold coins. What specific coins you should buy when gold is moving up, and how to minimize losses when gold prices are falling (page 157).
Extraordinary insights and secrets of crack-outs and getting lucrative upgrades from third-party grading services. Well-known dealer Jim Halperin tells how he made millions in profits by resubmitting coins and expands his secret list (page 140).
Exposing the pitfalls and avoiding the perils when buying coins through online auctions (page 212).
Detecting altered, counterfeit and "doctored" coins (page 126).
How the popular registry set programs have changed the numismatic market, and how to use registry sets to your advantage (page 187).
Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when not to do anything (page 251).
Comprehensive discussions by leading experts about taxes and tax consequences on buying and selling numismatic items, including record keeping, estate planning secrets, retirement plans and in-kind exchanges (page 284).
Security issues now facing the most advanced collectors and investors after 9/11 and natural disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina (page 318).

This is the book about the coin business "you can't afford to be without." Newsweek
"Should be read before a single coin is bought - and read again and again!" Coin World
"...if followed closely, it should help [you] do far more than just survive; it should point the way to prosperity." The New York Times
"A significant contribution to the consumer protection literature...must reading for any potential investor who believes it is better to buy a book first than to have to hire a lawyer later." Barry J. Cutler, former Director, Federal Trade Commission Bureau of Consumer Protection

Now you can survive and make money in coins right now!

Mint State Gold Type Continues Slide Searching For Value In Sight-Unseen Market

The pressure to be more cautious concerning the market seems to be mounting for dealers, but the extremely powerful collector demand is able to push aside many of their fears. Some believe that the market is in an overbought situation similar to what transpired with the precious metals. Still, many analysts believe that the metals continue to be in a bullish trend. This will not only add to its allure, but to the demand for rarities and of course bullion coins. Besides, rare coins are a different kind of animal, and as such they have shrugged-off many of those doubters as it marches on to its own beat. Consequently many dealers retain their positive outlook for continued activity and strong levels going forward. The expanding collector base has provided a solid basis for this optimism, as has the statistics that boast a lowering average age of today's collectors versus years ago. Rare coins are also finding their way to the financially stronger and more knowledgeable collector. As these coins are prudently taken off the market for an indefinite number of years it can only add to the upward price pressure for those examples that remain outstanding.

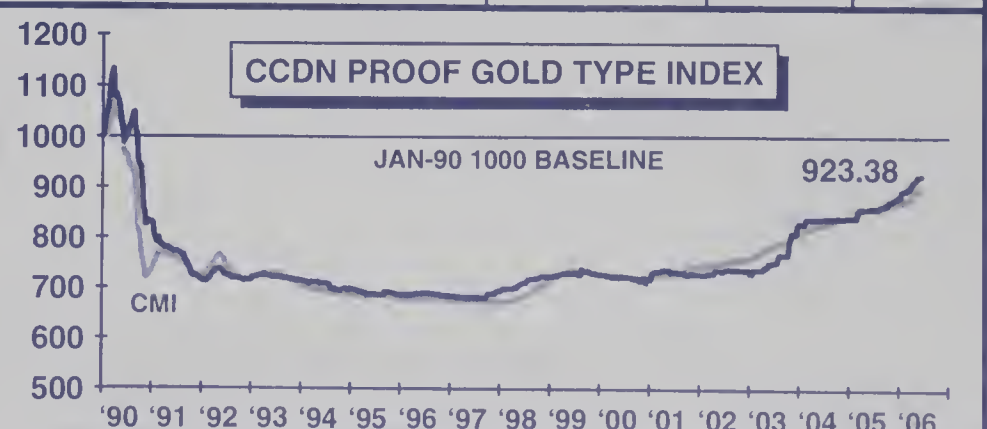

This week's higher sight-unseen Bids are just another example of the strength that exists in the overall rare coin market. Dealers that buy sight-unseen don't expect to receive coins that are among the highest quality for the grade but do know that they will usually receive average material. Still, even those coins with slight distractions represent an excellent value for their customers at these attractive levels. That's what many are looking to provide for their customers and filling some orders is necessary for a successful bottom line. Buffalo Nickels are among the many areas of interest as higher Bids target the very beginning and end of the series. Mint State and Proof Buffaloes are both sporting impressive gains in Gem. A trio of Mercury Dimes jumped by an impressive 17 percent gain or better. A PCGS MS67FB 1929-S grabbed top honors at $1,600 Bid followed by PCGS and NGC MS66 examples of the 1927-D at $1,800 and $1,650 respectively. Type continues to show strength with several Nickel varieties dominating this week. 3-Cent Nickels, as well as Shield and Liberty Nickels all advanced. PCGS MS65 3-Cent Nickels led the way with a 17 percent jump now sporting a $500 sight-unseen Bid. Morgan Dollars are still rather impressive as a whole. The series is actively receiving strong collector interest and it is encouraging for dealers that specialize in this area as well as for the health of the overall market. New Orleans, San Francisco and Carson City issues all continue to receive strong interest from collectors. The popular and desirable 1903-O increased a sharp 9 percent to $475 for MS65 examples graded by PCGS. Finding this jewel would be a fine addition to any Gem set of Morgans. Since the population is at a whopping 1,656 they are readily available but still may represent an excellent value compared to the many more common examples in the same price range. Mint State Gold Type remains volatile, as several issues are down once again, but remember, things are changing often here. Proof Gold Type is telling a much different story, and continues to push higher. Sight-Unseen Bids have increased for Dollars, Quarter Eagles, $3 Princesses and $5 Liberties in PCGS PR64.

As market activity increases so does the potential for coins to slip through the cracks and sell for levels that are less than existing visible offers. Those that pay careful attention to others pitfalls may benefit, and sometimes in a big way. Just take a glance through this week's Market columns, they are filled with prices realized at recent auctions along with dealer Asking prices and trades. The a symbol preceding the price indicates that this auction took place within this month while the oa symbol means that the auction occurred in the previous 3 months. More details on the Market column can be found at the top of page 2a.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks. sell list coin how and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase, or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" - Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

PCGS DMPL and NGC DPL Bids are for fully Deep Mirror Prooflike coins. Bids for PCGS PL and NGC PL dollars will be listed monthly in a supplemental insert. CDN (Greysheet) Bids have always represented fully deep mirror prooflike specimens.

CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at these Bid levels. Client or sight-seen trades can be expected to occur at substantially higher levels in many cases.

NCS provides comprehensive certification services for coins with irreversible detrimental surface conditions or damage (commonly known as "problem" or "no grade" coins). All coins encapsulated by NCS are authenticated and guaranteed to be genuine. At the submitter's request, they may be described on the holder as Genuine, or given a Details Grade.

The NCS holder is made from the highest-quality inert materials, providing an optimal long-term storage option for your coins. Proper storage is an essential preventative method for preservation of your treasured collectibles.

Any item submitted for NCS encapsulation that is suitable for non-problem coin grading will be transferred to NGC. Extensive variety attribution service is also available.

Mint State Type Heats Up Baltimore Convention & Auction On Deck

This is the time of year when many choose to take their vacations so you might expect things to slow down a bit in the numismatic world as well. Historically this seems to almost always be the case. With this summer lull in mind it is understandable that we see many areas of discounting taking place. Yet this past week was also laden with several nice opportunities for those that were able to capitalize on some auction transactions. So for those dealers that are on hiatus they not only want to return feeling refreshed they also want to be ready to go and in a strong cash position as we head towards the rigors of the summer ANA convention.

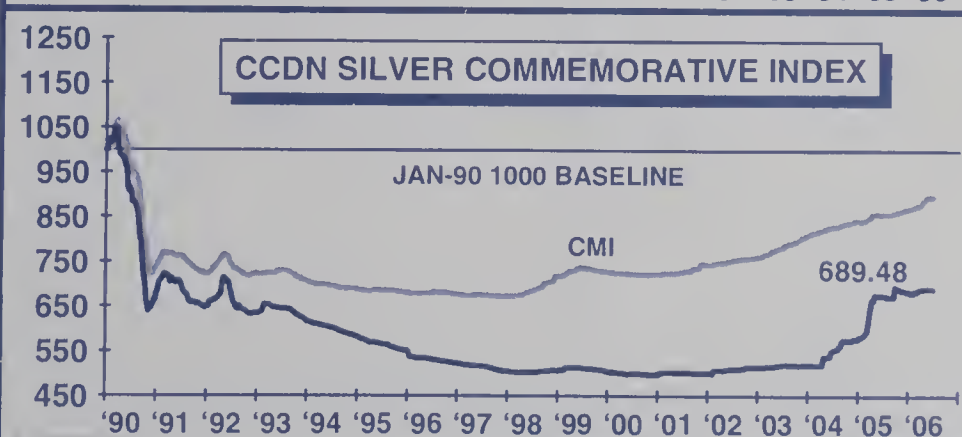

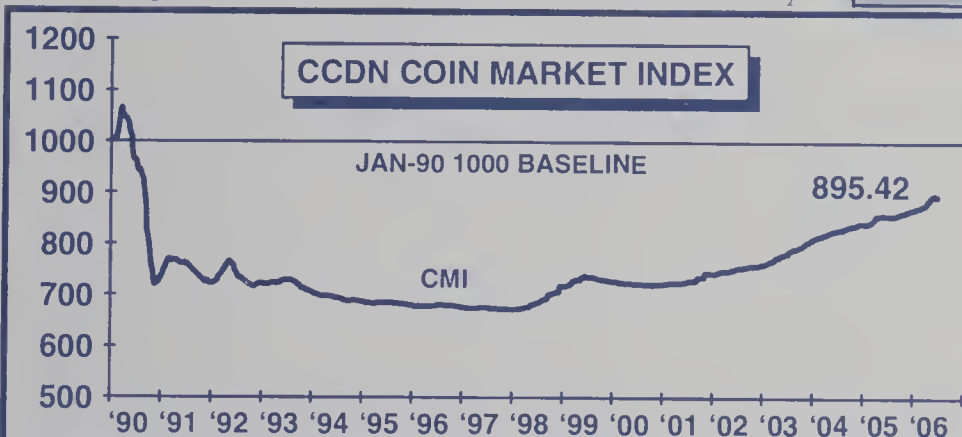

The coin market and the precious metals got a boost after the Federal Reserve Bank raised its federal funds rate by one-quarter point to 5.25 percent. It wasn't the increase that helped but rather the hint that the Fed may hold rates at this level for a while that ignited the metals. With that said, preparations are now being made for the upcoming July 2006 Baltimore Coin & Currency Convention in Maryland. Baltimore and its surrounding rich collector base area will provide an excellent backdrop for the higher expectations that are already taking place preceding the July 14-16 show. Dealers are upbeat because they know that many serious collectors live within driving distance to this show. They really hope that some of these collectors stop by their tables and offer them coins. Of course, wholesale activity is expected to be brisk as well.

Bowers and Merena will host the July 2006 Baltimore Auction on the 13-14th featuring the Anne Kate collection, Part I and the Jim Beg collection. We have listed a few of its many highlights. The sight-unseen market is performing better than one would expect preceding vacations and the Baltimore show and auction schedule. Strong sight-unseen Bids are occurring among Mint State and Proof Type, Mercury Dimes and Walking Liberty Half Dollars. Mint State Type may be the strongest portion of the coin market right now as dealers post more than 4 dozen higher Bids. Flowing Hair, Bust and Liberty Seated coinage are all enjoying incredible demand right now. However, it should not come as any surprise since we have long established many a dealer's need for early material. Still, the huge percentage gains are what's most surprising. Check out Liberty Seated Half Dimes with No Drapery are soaring 83 percent higher in PCGS MS66 at $3,400 Bid. There are 40 examples slabbed at that level by that service so it doesn't hurt to double check your inventory. Gobrecht Dollars are flying higher among Proof Type. Mercury Dimes have been gaining the attention of collectors and so it's easy to see why dealers are looking to add a few. They are most interested in quality common dates in PCGS MS65FB and better condition where Bids increased up to 7%. As we also mentioned, discounting is taking place in several segments of the market as dealers push out material that has overstayed its welcome. However these sales may be more about the need for cash in the short-run. Regardless, the sell-off of mostly short-set Walkers at public auction gave astute buyers a chance for quick profits. Several dates in the 1940s were sold for more than 10 percent below active sight-unseen Bids. Consider a PCGS MS65 1946 that realized only $127 at auction while a $170 sight-unseen Bid remains at more than 25 percent above the auction sale. No, demand hasn't dried-up for all Walkers because double digit Bid increases are in place for many mid to late 1930 issues and supporting Bids are being entertained for some of the earlier better dates, too. Proof Singles have also contributed a few coins to the discount window. Consider a PCGS PR64R 1942 Lincoln Cent that sold for $25 while there was a $50 Bid already on the table. Still, PCGS and NGC PR67 1952 Washington Quarters gained 11 percent each with the $50 sight-unseen Bid now in place. A golden pay day could be found for one fortunate Bidder as a 1914 $20 Saint graded NGC MS64 was hammered down at auction with fees at $3,220. This lucky buyer could dance all the way to the bank with a $2,280 profit as a blind offer of $5,500 waits to be hit. Morgan Dollars are another popular target for discounting and this week's activity didn't disappoint. Several examples sold at auction for bargain levels. The top dog in this group was a PCGS MS66 1901-O at $530, 15 percent below the current Bid of $625. Also, many other dates were a bit lower as dealers found it easy to sell for some cash. Don't start feeling sorry for the Morgans because advances were seen for many MS63DMPL dates as demand rages on for these deep mirrored beauties. Silver Commemoratives, another likely suspect for discounting found several trading lower as well. However they were mainly easily replaced examples trading in the $200 vicinity.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through careful study of market activity including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Seated & Standing Liberty Quarters Ignite Fire-Works Anticipated in Baltimore

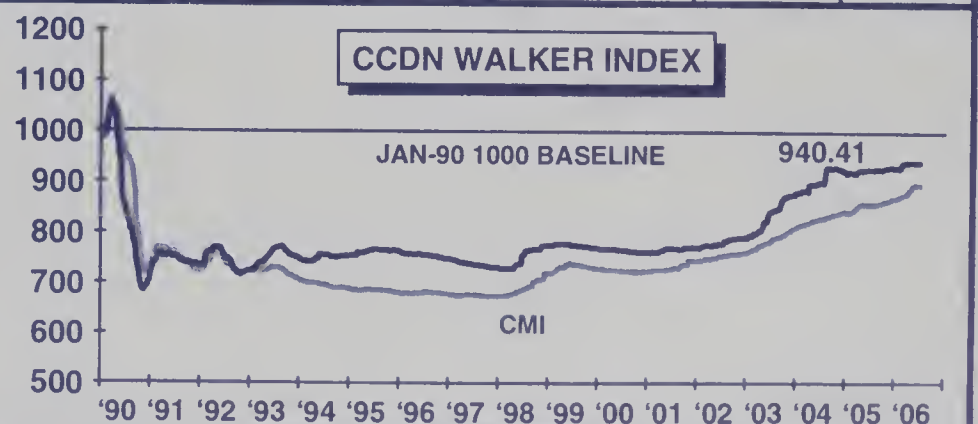

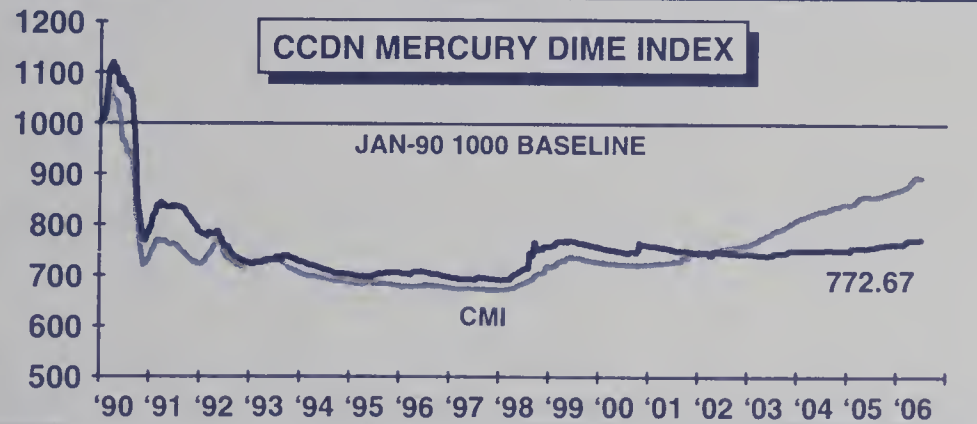

July, for many is traditionally a time for vacation and other long awaited leisurely summer frolics. For others in tune with the rare coin market it ushers in the second half of what has already been a highly profitable 2006. To be certain many dealers that were on sabbatical have already concluded their abbreviated holiday and are now ready to face the literal and figurative heated challenges that this continued summer bull market has to offer. The majority that participates in the seemingly never ending show and auction circuit will be back to business as usual with the opening of the always well-attended Baltimore Coin and Currency Convention July 14-16. Just prior to the show, on July 13-14, the July 2006 Baltimore Auction by Bowers and Merena will be getting underway. Will the auction and bourse prove to supply just more of the same fire-works' display that marked auctions during the first half of 2006? In many cases yes, buyers do anticipate more of the same kind of activity that transpired during the first six months. Dealers know that the auction floor is an important location for those special rarities that appear all too infrequently. This giving them a chance to score some long awaited points in securing want list items for customers as well as some much needed show material. Dealers know it won't be easy and do expect to find themselves embroiled in battle with one another vying for those rare and eye appealing wonder coins. They also know that the strong market that continues to hold its strength won't allow them the good fortune of producing too many bargains either. However, some of them may just get lucky at auction or on the well-traveled bourse. Consequently maintaining a solid cash flow will be a prerequisite so that they will be able to take advantage of any opportunity that presents itself in the next couple of weeks and beyond.

The sight-unseen market is reflecting the vacation mode about as well as can be expected. There is definitely a paucity of Bids, both up and down to report about but that doesn't necessarily mean weakness. Again, this is still quite a formidable market. Mint State Type is taking the top honors this week with nearly one dozen examples experiencing double digit increases. An astounding 46 percent jump is seen for the one-year Type 1853 Liberty Seated Quarter with Arrows & Rays at $13,000 Bid for MS65 examples graded by PCGS. Those serious collectors ambitious enough to seek Gem Type know how tough it is to obtain this rare bird. PCGS has only certified 14 at this level with only 7 higher. The Philadelphia example will have to do as no 1853-O examples have been graded Gem or better by PCGS. Coincidentally, a SEGS graded MS65 specimen is currently being offered by one seller for only $4,400. Gem Standing Liberty Quarters are also posting significantly higher Bids. Type 2 Full Head examples are scoring substantial increases in PCGS MS65 thru MS67 revealing gains as much as 26%. Type 2 Non Full Heads in PCGS MS65 are higher by 17 percent. Other areas with strong representation: Draped Bust Quarters; Barber Quarters, Draped Bust Half Dollars; and Capped Bust Halves. Proof Type is highlighted by solid increases for Gobrecht Dollars in grades PR61 and PR62. Some changes are seen in the popular Silver Commemorative series are of interest. This demand is rather selective in that it is targeting the Texas Centennial Half Dollars and buyers are looking only for PCGS examples. MS66 and MS65 Texas Type examples leaped 5 percent or more, now at $280 and $210 Bid respectively. The PDS Sets also had a good week with the increases seen across-the-board. The toughest of the Sets, the 1938, provided the biggest advance as the $1,590 Bid is just shy of a 10 percent increase. Some Morgan Dollars are being discounted but they aren't particularly scarce or represented by high dollar value coins. The upside is modest as we note a slight increase in generic MS65 examples to $140 Bid for both PCGS and NGC. Peace Dollars finished with activity that nearly mirrors the Morgans. A slight increase is in place for NGC MS64 generic dates while a slight decrease is also occurring among the same dates, but this time for NGC MS65 examples. GSA holdered Morgans that have the wrap-around NGC certification are also making some noise as over a dozen plus signs are following MS64-MS66 Carson City material. Also observed is a continuation of buyers' participation regarding ANACS slabs. Perhaps a reflection of the recent change of ownership philosophy as we have not seen this much demand chasing after ANACS material in nearly two decades. Take a look, as Morgans, Peace Dollars, Walkers and Gold Type all find intense involvement generating multiple advances. The balance of the market is quiet with some discounting occurring among Walking Liberty Halves and some Proof Singles.

ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer
ICG Grader

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg
ICG Grader

Sue has been in the rare coin business for six years. Her discerning "eye" and work ethic has made her an important part of the best team of graders in the rare coin industry.

Triple Digit Increases For Better Dates Metals Move Higher As World Tensions Mount

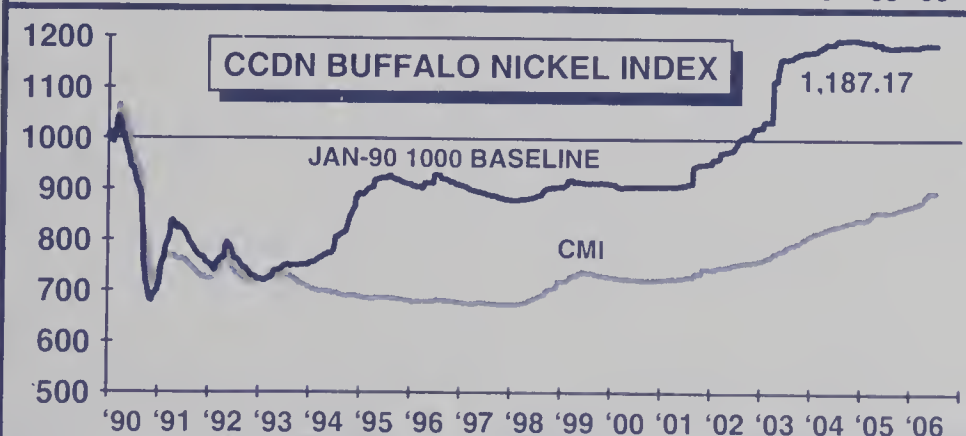

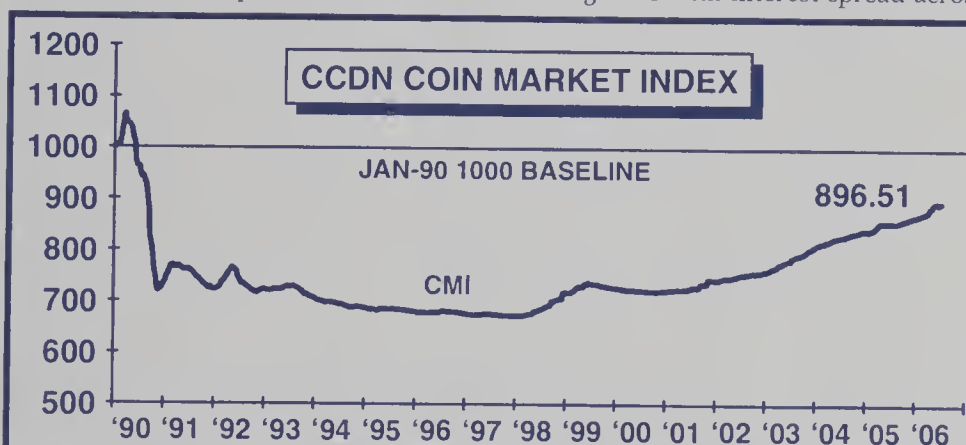

Summer's heat may be responsible for uncomfortable conditions and several fires spreading across our country in mid July, however this doesn't hold a candle to the escalating inferno of "hot spots" seen throughout the world. High anxiety, particularly in the epicenters of Iraq, Iran, Israel, Lebanon, Syria, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India and North Korea are all responsible for increasing the uncertainty index. As hostilities heighten some resulting in war, so does the price of oil and its inflationary baggage. Consequently the demand for precious metals and Gold in particular, because of its safe harbor status, increases as well. These conflicts have set the fuse as all of the metals have rocketed out of their trading ranges and vaulted them across closely watched analyst's trend lines. Gold realizing an impressive six-week high, climbing above $656 per ounce on Thursday.

In turn rare coin dealers can expect, and have seen more interest in bullion as well as for common date numismatic issues. Supplying the demand is easy if you already have the coins in hand. A multitude of transactions have already been consummated as scared money moves toward hard assets. However, those dealers that must find and buy the coins face additional problems, primarily because of the extreme inherent volatility. Many dealers that are already in Maryland attending the Baltimore Coin and Currency Convention and auction are in a good position to fulfill some of this demand. However supplies may be tight as expected fierce competition forces premiums to increase, both on the bourse and at public auction.

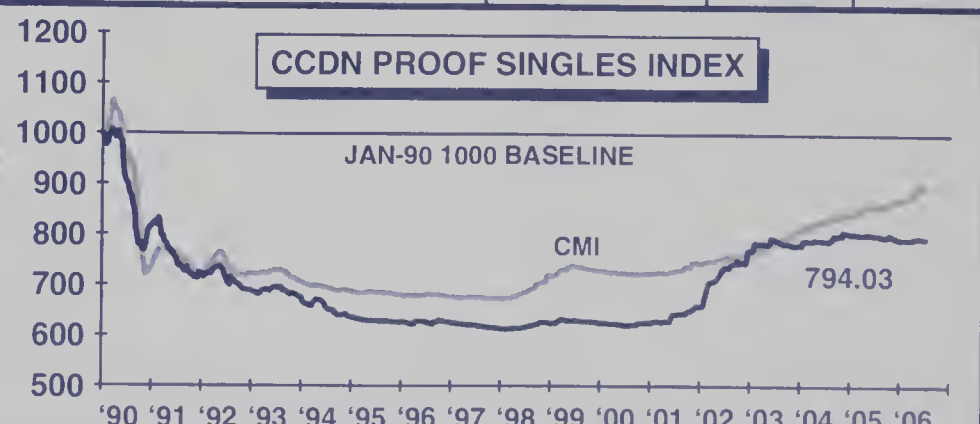

The sight-unseen market is pushing aside this usually sluggish period by demonstrating its bull market strength. The large number of supporting Bids for many series and denominations is being complemented by a solid number of increasing Bids. The percentage increases in particular, are cause for optimism as aggressive Bidders are active. Silver Commemoratives, a usual target for discounting is seen bucking the trend with a relatively large number of plus signs. None were stronger than the 42% jolt from an NGC MS65 1934-D Oregon Trail, now Bid at $270. The plus signs appearing for MS62-65 Hawaiian Halves are no surprise as this issue has pushed higher all year. Specifically, MS63 PCGS and NGC examples have each advanced by 38 percent since January. Overall, more than 80 Silver Commems in various grades participated in this week's explosive demand. The popular Carson City issues are the big draw within the Morgan Dollar series. The increases are mostly found for MS63 and MS64 grades with interest spread across several dates including: 1878-CC thru 1892-CC. However the four "CC" keys are conspicuously absent from this demand. Better dates from New Orleans and San Francisco continue to attract buyers as the 1884-S, 1886-O, 1887-S and 1934-S all hit higher levels. The Type markets have been powerful and we see some of their high octane performance again this week. Dealers remain adamant when they say that early coins are among their greatest need. Liberty Seated and Barber Half Dollars replace last week's Quarters as today's mover. Again, Gem is the grade of choice. 1873-1874 Liberty Seated Halves, with Arrows jumped 25 percent in PCGS MS66 to $20,000 Bid. Following last week's theme, Nickel is the preferred metal within Proof Type as Shield, Liberty, No Cent and 3-Cent Nickels move towards higher ground. No Cent PCGS PR65 Liberty Nickels took the top spot with a 35% spike. They are followed closely by PCGS PR63 and PR64 Shield Nickels claiming 26 and 24 percent respectively. You may think you're seeing double when you check out the triple digit increases for Gem Red 1972 Doubled Die Lincoln Cents and for the key 1911-D $2.50 Indian. One well-known west coast buyer has opened his wallet as the PCGS MS66R 1972 Doubled Die advanced a staggeringly incredible 233% to $1,000 Bid while its MS65R understudy moved a mere 140 percent to $600. Unbelievably, a PCGS MS65 1911-D $2.50 Indian soared 100 percent before this key date Quarter Eagle landed on its $70,000 sight-unseen Bid. PCGS has certified 14 at this level with 4 in MS66 so it is possible to obtain one.

Discounting was kept to a minimum this week although some Walking Liberty Half Dollars and Buffalo Nickels traded below their existing sight-unseen Bid. Opportunities at auction found an NGC MS66 1936-D Walker selling for $920 while at least two eager dealers will pay $1,020 sight-unseen. A 1934D Peace Dollar graded NGC MS63 surrendered to a $184 hammer and fee's price, some 44% under a blind offer of $330. A popular Merc Dime graded PCGS MS65FB slid by 22% under the radar as well. Perhaps other values await down the road as many dealers will be heading to America's heartland to participate in Scotsman's Midwest Summer Sale July 21-22 in Saint Charles, Mo. Some of the many highlights include a 1793 Half Cent graded PCGS VF25, 1856 Flying Eagle Cent PCGS PR62, 1937 D 3 Legged Buffalo PCGS MS64, 1911D Indian Head $2.50 NGC MS61, 1929 $5 Indian Head PCGS MS63 and a 1907 High Relief WR Saint-Gaudens Double Eagle graded PCGS MS63.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through careful study of market activity including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

ANA Looks To Quench Coin Draught Gem SLQs Race Higher

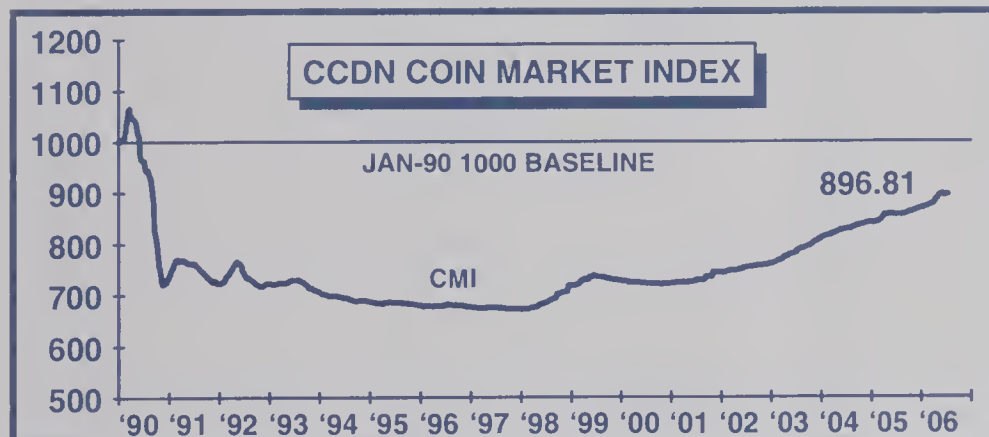

The Baltimore Coin and Currency Convention allowed those dealers in attendance to take a snapshot of the current market landscape. Yet for many this picture didn't develop as they would have liked as several prominent buyers were no-shows. July, after all is still the month of choice for vacation and considering that some major players are on the sidelines the rare coin market is still hot, rivaling the record heat that Mother Nature has blown our way. So as the numismatic market attempts to match the perilous heat of the season we find that the only thing really holding it back is the lack of a fresh supply of original material. Those dealers that were able to locate their businesses life blood on the bourse or at auction were actively seen Bidding strong money. Some of course were frustrated by this shortfall but even they believe that the market remains solid and that most of them making the trek to Baltimore concur it was a profitable one.

The overwhelming demand that has sustained new and continued life to the coin market remains in great part due to the younger and expanding collector base. These affluent and knowledgeable collectors are actively, aggressively and perhaps somewhat arrogantly pursuing select rarities for their collections and portfolios. Dealers continue to work their ambitious want lists often reporting to them that prices continue to escalate when coins appear. Most of these well versed clients understand this and are willing to wait and stretch the purse strings in order to be the new successful owner.

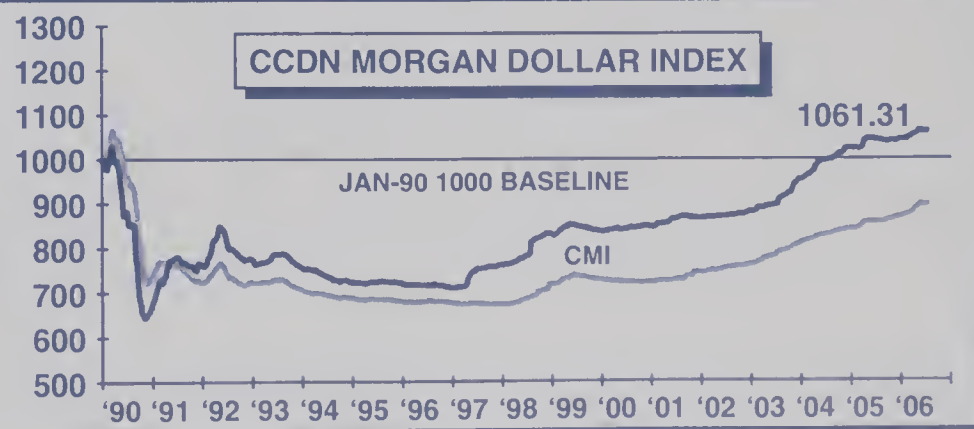

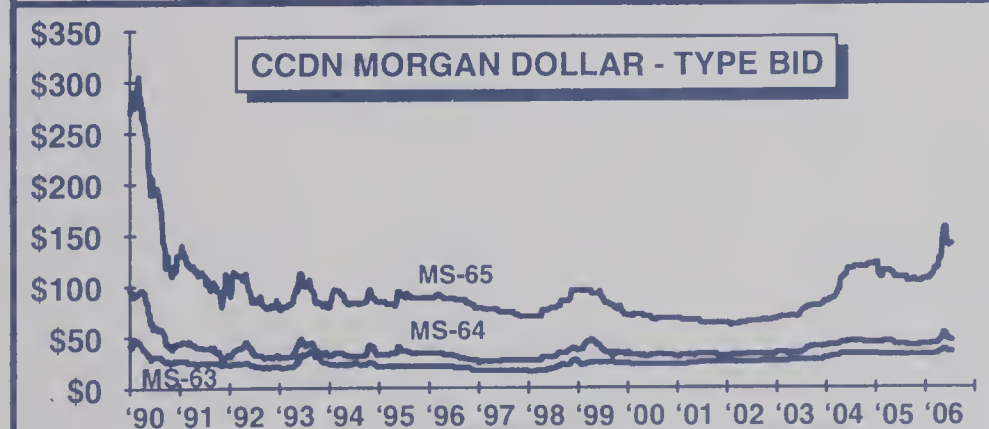

Regardless, most dealers are now prepping for the huge gala that is the Summer American Numismatic Association's National Money Show August 16-19 in Denver. Anybody that has acquired or maintains rare and interesting coins throughout the year will have them on hand at this show. Armies of buyers hope that the recent coin draught will be quenched when many prized hold-outs make an appearance in the mile high city. Of course all of the major buyers will be scoping out the Colorado venue with cash in hand looking and needing to make purchases.

This week's sight-unseen market is beginning to reflect next month's ANA requirements and expectations with some discounting. Expendable coins are often sold to raise some cash; to pay for recent auction successes; or, just to unload stale merchandise. We know that dealers want to be in a strong cash position when they arrive in Denver so their preparation begins early in the weeks prior to the show. Silver Commemoratives, Walking Liberty Halves and Morgan Dollars, three series that are among the darlings of discounting are holding true to their title this week. On the positive side Standing Liberty Quarters found a lot of support with double digit increases for PCGS non Full Head and Full Head issues alike. Common dates are deemed undervalued but some scarcer dated Standing Liberty Quarters are enjoying tremendous jumps as well. Morgan Dollars weakened among pre-1921 generic MS64 examples with many PCGS and NGC issues dropping to $46 Bid. Mint State and Proof Type are both strong with buyers supporting current levels all the time just waiting to score that big hit. Proof Gold is realizing strong demand as we observe the $3 Princess in PCGS PR65 and PR66 higher this week. Volatility continues to take place among bullion sensitive coins. Gold and Silver continue to swing violently, sometimes minute-to-minute responding to the fluid news emanating from many of the world's conflicts. Of course economic reports play important roles as well. For example, this week's Federal Reserve Chairman's statements being interpreted as the end of recent interest rate hikes reversed a severe drop in the precious metals with a sharp increase. Still analysts believe the metals will continue to churn through the usual summer doldrums. Consequently dealers are less likely to commit to big generic Gold and Silver positions, on the buy or sell. Still they are maintaining their supporting Bids, an action that reflects the overall bull market for rare coins. Mint Gold Type is, similarly, proceeding according to the ever changeable winds of Spot. Therefore, abrupt movements up and down equate to only a few minor changes this week. However the $2½ Indian and $10 Liberty gave up some ground in Gem, with the PCGS MS65 Quarter Eagle dropping 7 percent. Dealers would do well to keep a close eye on auctions as it may be well worth their time invested. This may be the case for one lucky dealer who must be smiling as the $490 auction sale of a PCGS MS66 Long Island was more than 19 percent below two active sight-unseen $610 Bidders and a third at $600. How about a PCGS MS65 1882-CC Morgan at $315, 12 percent below the $360 that two blind Bidders are willing to pay. A pair of PCGS Buffaloes and NGC MS66 Walkers each sold at auction more than 10 percent below sight unseen money. A 1924 Saint-Gaudens Double Eagle graded ICG MS67 sold for $4,313 some 31% below a sight unseen Bid waiting to be hit. It pays to pay attention.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers and are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Seated Liberty Dollars Excel In Gem Dealers Looking To Buy "A" Coins

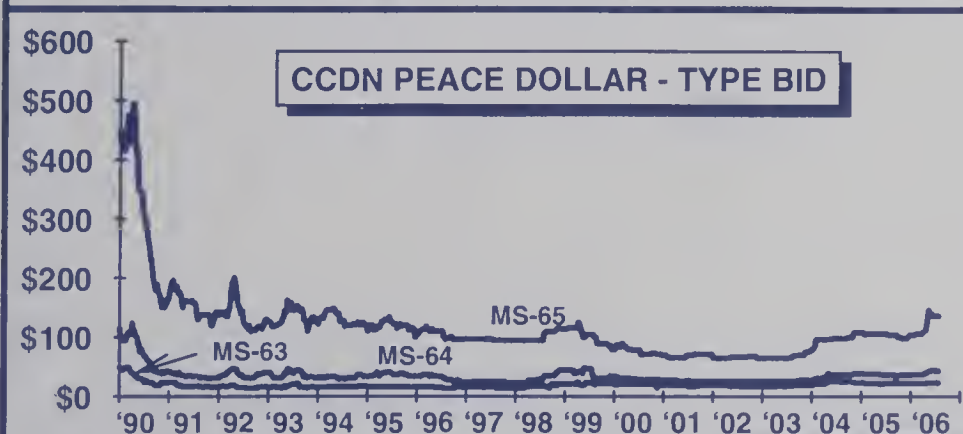

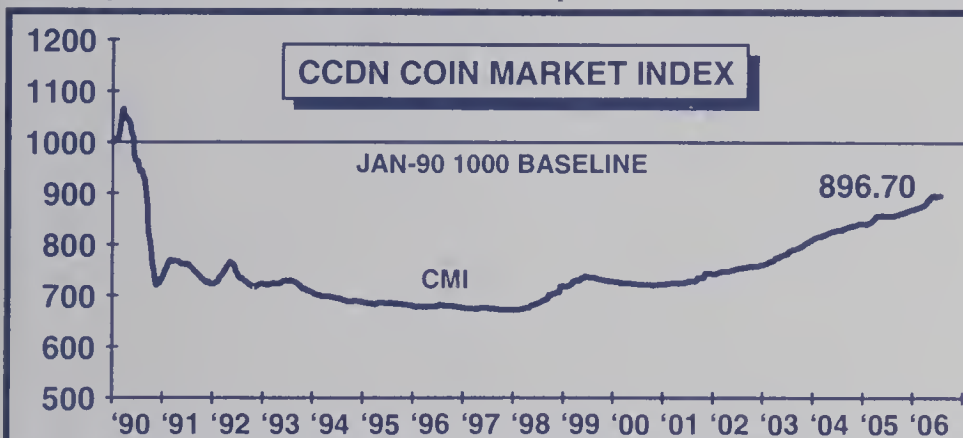

July may be winding down but that's not the case for most coin dealers. Instead, this is the time of year when one must gear-up for the tough few weeks ahead that lead to the American Numismatic Association's National Money Show. Dealers must have their final game plan intact before heading to Denver. It is very important that they have already discussed want list coins with their customers. Many of these want lists were created some time ago and the prices and availability of many of these coins have changed, in some cases dramatically. Still, dealers will try to obtain the best possible coins for their client's money. It is also important that the "B" and "C" choices are discussed as the "A" coin may totally escape them. However, they remain hopeful because they know that most dealers will be bringing many of their "A" coins with them to Denver. Auction representation will also play an important roll in securing some rarities clients have longed desired. No less than four major auction companies will be conducting sales in the Denver area this August. American Numismatic Rarities will begin their sale August 11, the following day Superior Galleries will host their auction, next up is Heritage August 13-14, concluding with Bowers and Merena August 16-18. Constant communication with clients will be necessary through much of the grueling lot pre-viewing process and floor Bidding.

The strong collector demand that is seen today has been building for several years now. During this period there has been a sustained and continually active placement of coins with customers. These collectors are different from those in past years because they tend to put away those coins for a longer period of time leaving the market supply depleted in the process. Dealers know this to be true because they have steadily watched their inventories decline throughout this bullish market. Signs of this shortfall can be clearly seen on dealer wholesale lists and retail offerings. Not only are these lists not as long as they used to be, but the coins that do appear are just not as high a quality or on the same rarity level as they were several years ago. Instead, we see many more modern issues including: Lincoln Cents; Jefferson Nickels; Roosevelt Dimes; State Quarters, Franklin Half Dollars; and contemporary Commemoratives. Of course we acknowledge that there are rare coins still available wholesale. However they may not necessarily be in the first holder of your choice. They may not even be in as high a grade as you need. Nonetheless dealers remain optimistic and will no doubt utilize the upcoming frenzy of auctions to fulfill select needs. They must be financially and mentally prepared to pay strong money for rarities because others will also be stretching their wallets for those same coins.

The sight-unseen market has taken a reprieve this week from its usual activity as there is a lull in the number of transactions taking place. Also adding to the slow down is the fact that dealers are in the process of remaining in a cash strong position for the ANA and they are not as willing to post higher sight-unseen Bids. However that's not case for MS65 Liberty Seated Dollars. PCGS with Motto examples leaped 37 percent while its No Motto counterpart jumped 33 percent. Liberty Seated Dimes, with Arrows (1853-1855) gained ground by more than 17 percent at $6,500 Bid for PCGS MS67 specimens. For the most part the market remains stable at current levels with just a hint of discounting to report. Slight declines are seen within the Gold Commemorative series. Both PCGS and NGC examples of the 1916 McKinley $1 and the Grant with Star are a tad lower. Sales of these coins are an excellent way to obtain a quick $3,000 plus. Proof 64 Mercury Dimes from 1940-1942 suffered declines that included an NGC 1941 dropping 15 percent to $140 Bid. The highly volatile Gold Spot market makes it difficult to judge the status of Mint State Gold Type correctly from one week to the next. World events seem to be changing hourly, and in turn so does the price of precious metals. Interestingly, it is a few of the rarer Gold issues suffering declines this week. The $3 Indian Princess has performed well over the past few years and seems like a decent time to sell and take a profit providing additional funds in hand. PCGS and NGC MS63 examples dropped 5 percent to $7,600 Bid. Most areas are still retaining their supporting Bids as dealers would be pleased to obtain a few at these sight-unseen levels.

Scotsman led the auction pack this past week realizing $1.8 million July 21-22 in Saint Louis. David Lawrence's weekly internet auction brought in approximately $107,663 while the trio of Teletrade auctions amounted to $534,841. Heritage hammered down an estimated $233,863 from their pair of web-only coin auctions. This week's Market columns can reveal a wealth of information on a specific issue and for an entire series, including: lowest trades, auction results and wholesale Asking prices. Take a look at late date Walkers, Buffalo Nickels and Silver Commemoratives for several examples of coins that sold at auction for well below sight-unseen Bid.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. The responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks, and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

NCS provides comprehensive certification services for coins with irreversible detrimental surface conditions or damage (commonly known as “problem” or “no grade” coins). All coins encapsulated by NCS are authenticated and guaranteed to be genuine. At the submitter’s request, they may be described on the holder as Genuine, or given a Details Grade.

The NCS holder is made from the highest-quality inert materials, providing an optimal long-term storage option for your coins. Proper storage is an essential preventative method for preservation of your treasured collectibles.

Any item submitted for NCS encapsulation that is suitable for non-problem coin grading will be transferred to NGC. Extensive variety attribution service is also available.

Anticipation Rising With Denver ANA On Deck Mercs And Walkers Gain Ground

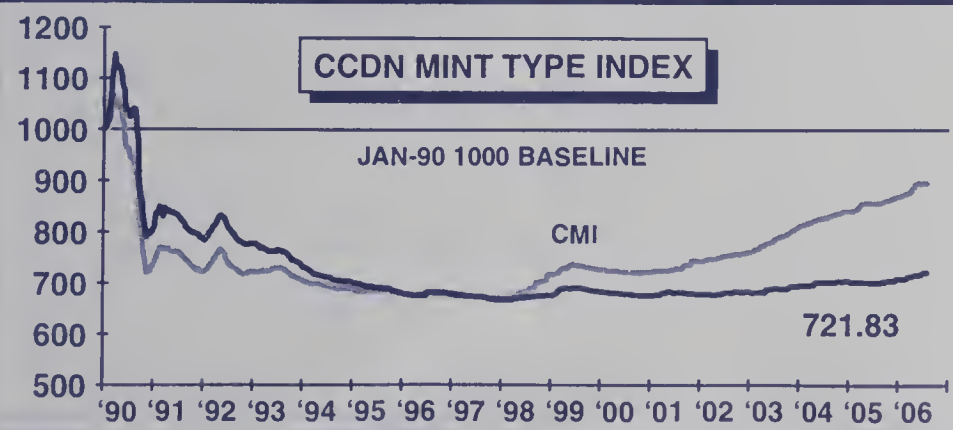

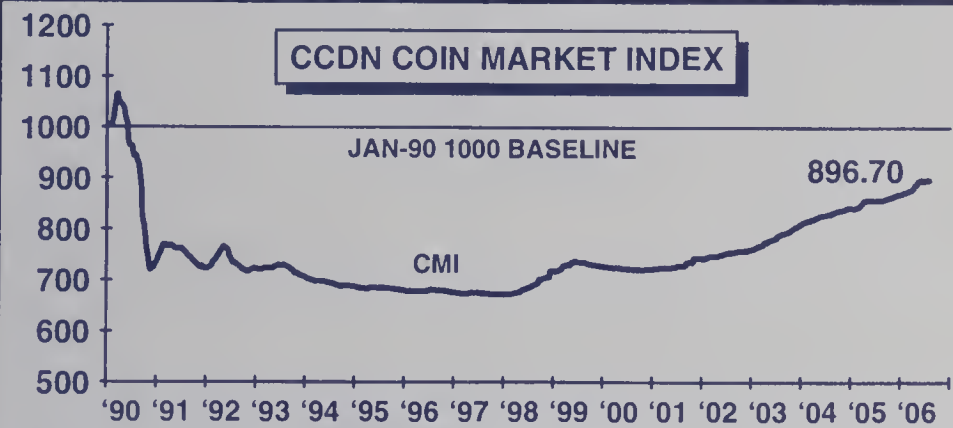

August begins with optimism and expectations running as high as the Rocky Mountain venue for the upcoming American Numismatic Association's World's Fair of Money. As both dealers and collectors set path to the high ground of numismatically rich Denver it's quite fitting that the home of the mile high city's Mint, will be playing host to this year's gala on the centennial anniversary that regular coinage production began here.

Unquestionably acquiring various denominations from the historic Denver Mint has provided many challenges throughout the years. Almost every young collector recalls looking feverishly through their change hoping to find the coveted 1914-D Lincoln Cent or searching through rolls of Dimes in quest of the elusive inaugural 1916-D Mercury rarity. Yet one of numismatics greatest treasures towers over both of them as the 1927-D $20 Saint-Gaudens continues to amaze onlookers whenever specimens change hands. In January 2006 an NGC MS65 example claimed $1,322,500 at public auction. Who can forget the PCGS MS67 trophy that sold in Dallas, November 2005 for nearly $1.6 million.

Dealers are optimistic about Denver and they feel the same way about the balance of 2006. Top notch coins already slated for public auction should also help boost attendance. Yet for dealers, it is serious business as they hope to come away with a number of nice coins for themselves and customers long unattended want lists. The ANA will be a lot of work but it will also allow for good times and camaraderie that has been maintained over the years. A busy week is slated with the Pre-ANA Colorado Coin Expo kicking things off from the 11th-13th while the big show is the 16th-19th. Auctions will take center stage with three blockbuster sales slated prior to the ANA. The lot viewing alone for these sales could take several days! Dealers that have bemoaned about the lack of fresh material may finally get there wish as a veritable mountain of coins will be up for grabs in Denver. Certainly Bidding is expected to be spirited by both dealers and well-schooled collectors and the thousands of auction lots are bound to bring smiles to some faces and grimaces from others. Today's higher Bids along with higher prices realized at auction have indeed sprung additional coins out of hiding. Many consignors are well aware of the current bull market and are willing to part with some of their holdings in hopes of securing an excellent short term gain. Yet even in light of this massive offering, much of today's class material is still safely tucked away.

Stronger sight-unseen Bids are an example of another venue that's indicative of a bull market. Of course dealers offering coins this way have come to expect less than the usually aggressive Bids found running rampant in the sight-seen market. Still, they know that opportunities abound in this forum and sometimes bargains are obtained. Profiting from flipping a particularly "ugly" example that may have fallen thru the cracks at a show or auction are not the sole means of one's rare coin business existence. Instead, it's rather a nice bonus for just being in the right place at the right time and paying attention. Customarily the usual coin emerging from sight-unseen Bids is average to below average for the grade and considered by many as just generic "stuff." Yet there is still a sufficient market for this "stuff" and frequent promotional demand keeps Bidders actively and aggressively pursuing it.

Since the ANA is nearly upon us, the sight-unseen market is quieter than usual but there are still pockets of strength. Higher sight-unseen Bids are targeting select ANACS and ICG issues in a few areas, including Silver Commemoratives. ANACS demand is most noticeably found among Silver Dollar rarities. For example the 1879-CC, 1884-S, 1886-O, 1889-CC, 1892-CC, 1893-CC, 1895-S and 1934-S are all attracting increased Bids. The Bid columns for PCGS and NGC Dollars are rather quiet although the 1904-O DMPL is basking in double digit increases in MS63 and MS64. Capped Bust Half Dollars are sought-after among Type collectors this week. PCGS Full Band Mercury Dimes are exhibiting demand with plus signs favoring generic issues in MS65-MS67. Proof Winged Liberty Dimes find Bidders actively looking to add some after posting strong increases for virtually all dates from Gem thru Superb. Early Walking Liberty Half Dollars are gaining double digit attention of Bidders for both PCGS and NGC issues. Check-out the 1916-S, 1917 and 1918-S in MS64 and better grades. However several middle dates from the 1930s are lower in Gem. Things do pick-up for the short-set years as generics increase in Very Choice and Gem. Spot Gold's continued extreme volatility has increased activity involving Mint State Gold Type. Most generic Gold still has plenty of profit built up from a year ago and dealers are more willing to sell some now because the ANA is near and because Gold isn't running away from them. So with that said, we see several denominations and Types declining in Choice thru Gem.

Your Rare Coins — ICG's Rare Talent A Winning Combination!!

Keith Love
ICG's Senior Grader

Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

J. P. Martin
ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey
ICG's Senior Numismatist

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer
ICG Grader

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg
ICG Grader

Sue has been in the rare coin business for six years. Her discerning "eye" and work ethic has made her an important part of the best team of graders in the rare coin industry.

THIS MONTH'S FEATURE

1913 Liberty Nickel

While its design is simple and straightforward, this coin inspires many collectors. Just five 1913 Liberty Head nickels were produced under mysterious circumstances when the United States Mint was changing from the Liberty Head to the Buffalo design. When collectors learned years later that these coins existed, they became a chief object of admiration. Despite their clouded origins, they now rank among the most coveted and valuable of all U.S. coins. In fact, a 1913 Liberty Nickel was the first U.S. coin to trade at auction for over $1 million.

The five coins remained as a set until the 1940s, when they were separated and sold. Two are now in private collections, including the pictured example from the National Numismatic Collection. Three remain in private hands.

Learn more today about these treasures online in the Legendary Coins Gallery.

Every Numismatic Library needs copies of the latest addition to the COIN DEALER newsletter family of publications:

the Backsheet

Now that we have your attention, we really haven't started an additional newsletter — but your library should include Back Issues of our publications. Back issues are available two ways:

You can purchase small quantities to fill in missing issues, to obtain articles necessary for your research, or to follow your special interests. You may also combine your order for back issues of any of our publications to obtain the lowest price:

1-10 issues - $2.50 each • 11-25 issues - $2.00 each • 26 & over - $1.50 each

Or, you can purchase complete sets of back issues for really dramatic savings:

Complete set of the weekly Coin Dealer newsletter (Greysheet)
 from June 14, 1963 to December 23, 2005, now includes 2,169 issues.
 At $1.50 each this would normally cost $3,254, but a complete set
 is only $2,200.

Complete set of the monthly CDN Monthly Supplement
 (formerly the Monthly Summary)
 from August 1976 to December 2005, now includes 352 issues. At $1.50 each this would normally cost $528, but a complete set is only $405.

Complete set of the CDN Quarterlies
 from January 1992, to December 2005, now includes 168 issues, a complete set is only $185.

Combined weekly CDN (Greysheet), Monthly Supplement & Quarterlies
 now includes 2,689 issues, and extra savings at only $2,675.

Complete set of the weekly Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (Bluesheet)
 from August 22, 1986 to December 23, 2005, now includes 947 issues.
 At $1.50 each this would normally cost $1,421, but a complete set
 is only $1,000.

Complete set of the monthly Currency Dealer newsletter (Greensheet)
 from September 1980 to December 2005, now includes 304 issues.
 At $1.50 each this would normally cost $456, but a complete set
 is only $350.

3,940
Newsletters

For the most complete numismatic pricing library possible, you may order a COMPLETE set of all of the Back Issues listed above for only $3,675.

Bounty Of Fresh Rare Coins Hunted In Denver Days Away From ANA's World Fair Of Money

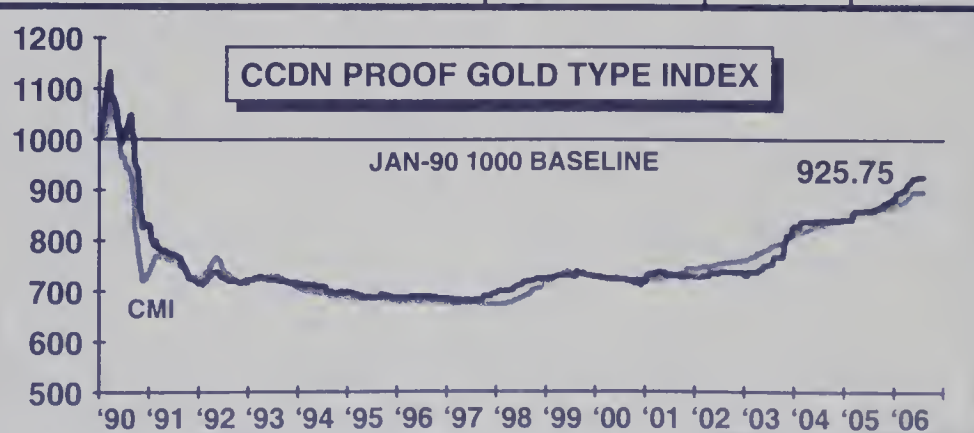

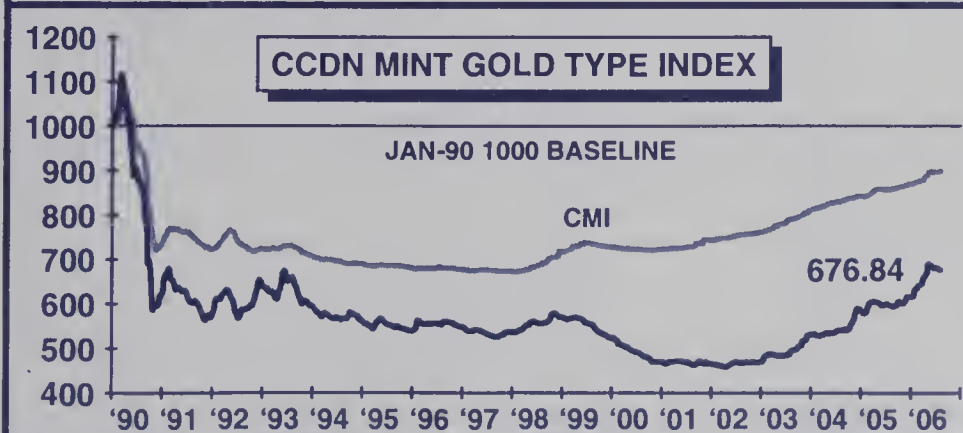

Sight-unseen activity is occurring this week albeit on a somewhat abbreviated scale as many dealers are already in the Denver area to attend what is arguably the most important coin show of the year. First up is the Pre-Show, the Colorado Coin Expo held August 11th-13th in Denver. However this is only the dress rehearsal for the main act as most dealers and serious collectors have their sights and expectations set high in anticipation as to what will take place at the August 16-19 American Numismatic Association's Worlds Fair of Money Show. For many collectors this 115th ANA gala event will provide an illuminating hands on practical experience, for dealers it will most likely afford insights toward current trends and future acquisition strategies. However the primary reason for their attendance is because many of the best coins available for sale today will make their appearance in Denver. Consequently, dealers bringing long want lists containing those must have coins will be as commonplace as those brought by children to department store Santas in December. After all, for many collectors new to the hobby or those veterans of many ANA's this is their numismatic holiday, a season of great joy, as many of those coins that they have heard and read about will be there to see in all their thrilling glory. Certainly many dealers will hope to take advantage of this situation as an abundance of serious buyers will be lined up eager to take ownership of some of these treasures. Just what coins are on these want lists? The results are far reaching as they encompass a vast array of rare coins including everything from 1793 Half Cents thru $50 Pan-Pac slugs; touching nearly every series and major design Type. The following are just some of the coins that dealers have told us that face serious demand today. These include: Fresh material; early (pre-1840) Type coinage of all metals, Copper, Silver and Gold; attractive, premium quality Type coins; all key dates; better dates, especially Carson City issues encompassing all the Liberty Seated series; Circulated thru Gem better dates throughout the Barber series; Proof Gold; and low population Liberty and Indian Gold of all denominations. In all, it's a who's who of the wide diversity that makes up today's strong collector demand. It is this dynamic of demand that keeps the bull market momentum heading in the right direction as we move forward thru the 2nd half of 2006. This year's ANA, along with the four public auctions that are associated with it should present dealers the opportunity they have been waiting for. They are aware that the rare coin market has been doing very well in 2006 and although there have been some pockets of weakness, those pockets haven't been deep, so for the majority a strong show is anticipated.

This week's sight-unseen market as previously mentioned is on the quiet side although there is some Bidding activity taking place. We see that Bid increases for common date MS61 and MS62 Morgan Dollars are in place representing 4.5 and 3.8 percent gain respectively. Silver Spot's ability to maintain above $12 per ounce is helpful in sustaining these Bids. In addition, the popularity of the Morgan Dollar is very much in evidence in 2006 as it has been through the years. These Brilliant Uncirculated common date Morgan Dollars make an excellent promotional item as many 19th and 20th century 100-year old coins can be bought for a nominal amount above its melt value. Several Morgans, however, are also suffering some discounting with an NGC MS66 1889 leading the fall with a drop of more than 8 percent at $935 Bid. Rare Morgans nonetheless are still in great demand as some pre ANA fire was felt when an 1895 PCGS PR65CAM brought a powerful $70,150 in a David Lawrence internet auction this week. Select "D" and "S" Mint State Walking Liberty Half Dollar examples, another popular item, from the mid 1930s attracted some increased Bids as well. The increases are slight with the 1937-S claiming the greatest Bid increase of just over 3 percent for both PCGS and NGC MS63 examples. Two PCGS MS65 Walkers, 1937 and 1941-D both suffered double digit losses dropping to $275 and $110 Bid respectively. Yet two key dates, a 1911-D $2½ Indian and a 1955 Doubled Die Lincoln Cent were the beneficiary of strong Bids in PCGS and NGC MS61 condition. The NGC MS61 1911-D $2½ Indian winning this battle posting over a 12% advance. Mint State Gold Type is in a holding pattern this week as breaking World news played a role here as British intelligence stopped a potential terrorist plot to blow up several aircraft bound for the United States. Initially, this troublesome news caused Gold to rise above $650 but afterward it dropped sharply to the middle $630s when authorities gained control. The extreme volatility of the yellow metal at this time tends to limit sight-unseen Bids in favor of sight-seen. Accordingly, we expect that most of the Gold Type buying that will be taking place in Denver will be in a sight-seen capacity.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

PROOFLIKE MORGAN DOLLARS

NEW! INCLUDES HOW TO MAKE MONEY IN COINS RIGHT NOW

Introducing the boldest, most courageous coin book ever...
THE COIN COLLECTOR'S SURVIVAL MANUAL® FIFTH EDITION
by Scott A. Travers

"The most important coin book ever written... a spectacular tour de force that surely will be proclaimed an instant classic - and undoubtedly will stand for years to come as the gold standard for coin books on consumer protection and investment." -Ed Reiter, Senior Editor, COINage

Consumer advocate Scott A. Travers, reveals trade secrets on how you can make money and avoid even the smallest mistakes in the rare coin marketplace in his new Random House book. This straight-forward guide candidly examines grading controversies and the popularity of registry sets, playing the "crack out" game with third-party encapsulated coins, and the dangers of online auctions and coin doctoring.

1,200 consumer protection caveats give you the most candid advice on how to buy and sell coins profitably, whether it's a sleeper found on the bourse or a multi-million dollar rarity seen at auction. Detailed photographs of coins with genuine and difficult-to-detect artificial toning give you unprecedented side-by-side comparisons.

Illustrated with more than 260 state-of-the-art digital color and black and white images of coins, this 400-page guide packs a powerful, one-two punch. It combines a thorough update of earlier editions of The Coin Collector's Survival Manual with another of Travers' seven acclaimed books, How to Make Money in Coins Right Now. Both were bestsellers in their own right, and now both are available in a single, updated and timely volume. Among the topics covered in the new mega-book:

- Coins overgraded by grading services (text page 79, color photos Insert page 13).
How you can capitalize on the gyrations of gold prices when buying rare and generic gold coins. What specific coins you should buy when gold is moving up, and how to minimize losses when gold prices are falling (page 157).
Extraordinary Insights and secrets of crack-outs and getting lucrative upgrades from third-party grading services. Well-known dealer Jim Halperin tells how he made millions in profits by resubmitting coins and expands his secret list (page 140).
Exposing the pitfalls and avoiding the perils when buying coins through online auctions (page 212).
Detecting altered, counterfeit and "doctored" coins (page 126).
How the popular registry set programs have changed the numismatic market, and how to use registry sets to your advantage (page 187).
Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when not to do anything (page 251).
Comprehensive discussions by leading experts about taxes and tax consequences on buying and selling numismatic items, including record keeping, estate planning secrets, retirement plans and in-kind exchanges (page 284).
Security issues now facing the most advanced collectors and investors after 9/11 and natural disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina (page 318).

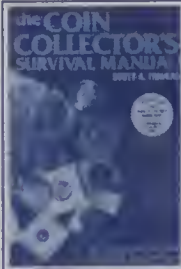

This is the book about the coin business "you can't afford to be without." Newsweek
"Should be read before a single coin is bought - and read again and again!" Coin World
"...if followed closely, it should help [you] do far more than just survive; it should point the way to prosperity." The New York Times
"A significant contribution to the consumer protection literature...must reading for any potential investor who believes it is better to buy a book first than to have to hire a lawyer later." Barry J. Cutler, former Director, Federal Trade Commission Bureau of Consumer Protection

Now you can survive and make money in coins right now!

Auctions Already Top $53 Million As ANA Begins Paquet $20 Liberty Claims $1.6 Million

With the Colorado Coin Expo under their belts some dealers have voiced that the Denver rare coin experience has not quite lived up to its top billing. Light attendance apparently curbed retail sales at the pre ANA show held August 11-13. However, wholesale trading proved to be a better barometer of the bull market demand. Here, Denver provided convincing evidence that the rare coin market is able to attract strong buyers of major rarities and other premium quality specimens that boast eye appeal. The Colorado Coin Expo did find many dealers actively trading with each other on the bourse for any coin that he, or she thought to represent an excellent value. Buyers are becoming more prudent and calculating today by carefully considering their options before blindly buying for the sake of buying. Still, fresh material is what remains high on the list of needs of dealers. Since these types of coins are not plentiful enough to meet raging demand those which are offered are scooped up immediately at higher prices. The "Mile High City" also displayed an amazing appetite for these coins at the three pre-ANA auctions where over $53 million has already changed hands. Not too long ago it would have been unthinkable to do that amount of business in such a short period of time. However the huge amount of money that is available for rare coins is still seen chasing that select group of rarities that's virtually finite in number. If this raging demand is maintained or even increases we can expect more records for rarities to fall past the wayside. This was especially noticeable during a four day tour de force that immediately preceded the American Numismatic Association's Worlds Fair of Money Show. American Numismatic Rarities drew first blood with a mammoth $15.8 million August 11. Strong prices were being paid for rarities and quality examples setting the tone for things to come. How powerful is demand? Check out a PCGS F15 1792 Silver Center Cent that realized $253,000, or a Pioneer Gold example that nearly cracked $1 million when a PCGS SP67 1852 Moffat & Company sold. Superior continued the momentum with its $7.1 million auction August 12. A key Standing Liberty Quarter, 1927-S grading PCGS MS65FH settled at $183,208. Next it was Heritage with its Denver Signature sale followed by the Platinum Night auction August 13-14. This time when the dust cleared nearly $30 million was tallied. Top honors went to the famous Philadelphia Paquet reverse $20 Liberty, one of only two known, this PCGS MS61 rarity thundered to its final winning Bid of $1.6 million. Bowers and Merena, is currently hosting the official ANA Auction as this is being written. Yet the first session anchored by the Richard Hennessy collection of Buffalo Nickels saw the 1916 Double Die rarity graded MS63 by NGC bring home a solid $112,125.

In contrast to the numerous record prices currently being realized for rarities at auction, there appears to be a growing number of lots selling for below current sight-unseen Bid. The increased number of incidences is most certainly a result of the huge number of auction lots going under the hammer as well as increased volatility in the world's ongoing affairs. Higher gasoline prices at the pump may be another contributing factor as the summer season winds down, thoughts also emerge for higher winter heating costs. Less disposable income means cutbacks are inevitable. Some areas where recent auction prices realized are below Bid include: Morgan Dollars, Gold and Silver Commems, $20 Saints and Franklin Half Dollars. Most sold for just a bit below previous Bids however a PCGS MS65 1915-S $1 Pan-Pac went for 17 percent below sight-unseen Bid at $1,860, while a PCGS MS63 1893-O $1 sold for $3,025, more than 13 percent under Bid. Several Franklin Half Dollars and few $20 Saints sold for well below Bid with the most serious being an NGC MS66 1908 No Motto that sold at auction for only $1,280, nearly 42% below current offers. Mint State Gold Type along with Gold Spot is continuing to suffer losses with $5 Indians among those falling the hardest. The sight-unseen market is often one of the first spots to expose any market weakness and while there is some discounting to report the power of the market continues to out perform any apparent deficiencies. Mint State Silver Type in the five-figure range was trading sight-unseen this past week. Included in the mix were the popular one-year Type 1853 Arrows and Rays Quarter trading for $25K in PCGS MS66 and a Capped Bust Half Dollar with Reeded Edge in PCGS MS65 at $12,000.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers and are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit on a sight basis.

NCS provides comprehensive certification services for coins with irreversible detrimental surface conditions or damage (commonly known as “problem” or “no grade” coins). All coins encapsulated by NCS are authenticated and guaranteed to be genuine. At the submitter’s request, they may be described on the holder as Genuine, or given a Details Grade.

The NCS holder is made from the highest-quality inert materials, providing an optimal long-term storage option for your coins. Proper storage is an essential preventative method for preservation of your treasured collectibles.

Any item submitted for NCS encapsulation that is suitable for non-problem coin grading will be transferred to NGC. Extensive variety attribution service is also available.

Denver Auctions Rake In Over $70 Million Generic Gold, Silver Dollars Suffer Declines

In all, Denver auctions claimed more than $70 million as Bidders battled to the end for coins to bring home to clients and for their inventories. The final auction held by Bowers and Merena August 16th-18th saw a pair of coveted Gold coins; a 1921 $20 Saint Gaudens graded PCGS MS63 and the 1795 13 Leaves Eagle grading NGC MS65 realizing nearly $2 million combined. This major sale of the 2006 Summer American Numismatic Association's World's Fair of Money came to a close with a final tally of $17.7 million. Still for the average dealers with tables at the ANA they believed that the big show was just that—average, one without solid public support via attendance. One high profile dealer rated the bourse as a "C-". Undoubtedly most dealers expected much more in Denver. However that doesn't mean that they all went home empty handed because in addition to auction successes there was a lot of wholesale activity occurring on the bourse. Another factor that handicapped the show's bottom line was the weakness in demand for Gold. The precious yellow metal remained lackluster throughout the Denver experience with no sign that it was resuming its overall bullish theme. One observant dealer told us that approximately 75 percent of dealers have "some" position in generic Gold. They often go to an ANA or other high profile shows with their generic Gold to sell in order to raise money for other, more desirable and rare coins. In essence, they use their generic Gold for cash flow. Consequently, since they received less for their generic Gold than they expected they had less money to spend for the coins they had hoped to purchase. Dealers most hampered were those that relied on sales of generic Gold and other generic Type at the ANA. Just the same, we know that many coins were still facing extremely strong demand at the big show. For example, one east coast dealer said that early Type coins continue to face extraordinary demand. He sees this demand chasing early Copper, Silver and Gold coins of all denominations. Today's buyers of this material are looking for problem-free, original examples. They are particularly in need of the one- and two-year Type issues in Very Fine and better condition. One dealer was very pleased to buy a PCGS AU55 1793 Liberty Cap Half Cent on the bourse for $40,000. This coin was a pleasing example with much eye appeal and that's exactly what is most important to buyers in today's market.

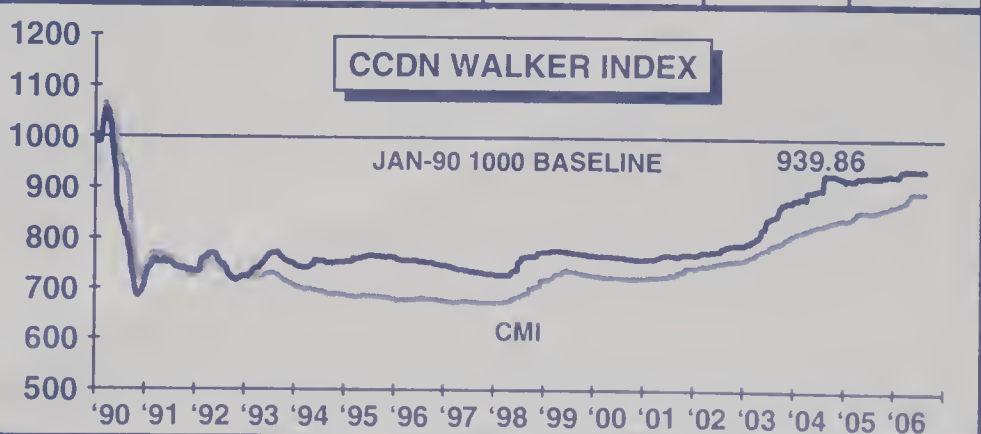

We also learned that a Mail Bid Sale of mostly Capped Bust Half Dollars conducted by Sheridan Downey closed August 16 on the bourse realizing more than $150,000. Some examples that sold finding a new home included varieties of R4 and higher. The popular 1815/2, an O-101 in PCGS MS61 sold at auction for $18,150 while a desirable NGC 58 1807 "Bearded Goddess" O-111a R5 brought $14,883.

The sight-unseen market is still relatively quiet following this numismatic extravaganza but we expect things to hasten as dealers hit the electronic trading networks looking to capitalize on some bargains. Generic Morgan Dollars displayed weakness on the bourse at the ANA and they continue to drop in the sight-unseen arena. Common dates grading MS66 took the biggest loss as PCGS slabs gave up over 8% while NGC suffered more than a 10% hit. A few better Gold Commemoratives were jettisoned as well including a $1 1904 Lewis & Clark dropped $200 in PCGS MS66 to $13,800 and an NGC MS67 $2½ Sesquicentennial that lost $2,875 after trading at auction for $46,000. Generic Gold Type was one of the weakest areas at the ANA and auctions and that softness is carrying over to the sight-unseen market as evidenced by the numerous minus signs.

On the positive side and perhaps as telling about the current state of the market, is considering that literally tens of thousand of lots were auctioned off in Denver, a very small percentage actually sold at "bargain" prices, substantially below sight-unseen Bid. Perhaps equally as telling is that an after ANA internet only sale realized nearly $1.2 million without the benefit of any coins selling in excess of $3,738. Volumes of coins are being auctioned this way weekly and dealers are certainly aware of this aggressive activity. Joining the seemingly lucrative internet auction parade we find that Legend Numismatics will be testing the waters as they will conduct their inaugural internet only offering September 8. The innovator of this format celebrating its 20th anniversary finds Teletrade, looking to take advantage of the raging Paper Money market as they will now feature certified Currency auctions commencing on September 10, this augmenting their successful regular tri-weekly certified coin sales. Is this too much saturation or will the newcomers be welcomed with open arms by the numismatic fraternity? Time will tell.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unreported high Bid by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks. sell lists can show and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "H" - Trade appearing last month; "ot" - Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Proof Type Accelerates, Generics Lower Amplified Activity Expected For September

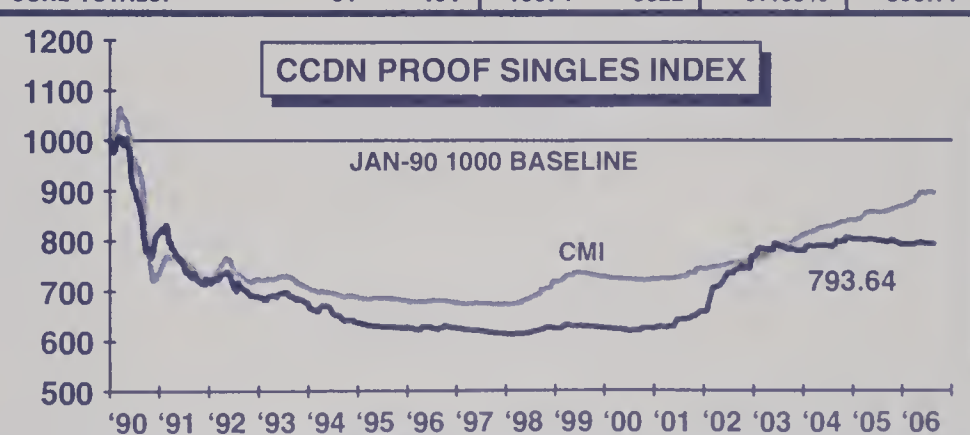

We begin the last third of the year in anticipation of an increase in rare coin market activity. As September rolls around most dealers are ready for the final push in what has been for most another financially prosperous numismatic campaign. Many collectors that have been on vacation and otherwise preoccupied, are relieved as their children are finally back to the classroom. This being the perfect time for those astute collectors that are also parents, to devote more time to their other passion and perhaps fill some holes in their collections. September will certainly avail many such opportunities for both of them as the Long Beach Expo and related auctions that surround it will be dominating the playing field the last week of summer. The early fall is also a critical time for dealers as they must now strategize and buy those coins that will replenish their rather lean and anemic inventories and carry them through to the end of the year, culminating of course with the demanding holiday rush. Of course quality coins are out there but dealers face keen competition, often with each other as they attempt to procure their businesses' life blood. They must be careful though, as this market weighs heavily on originality and eye appeal. They are also acutely aware that it's the better dates and early Type material that are receiving the majority of demand from those knowledgeable collectors. Yet on the other hand many neophyte hobbyists are just as content to own examples that are average quality for the grade. It is quite the balancing act. Of course other distractions have been raising havoc. Dealers have had to roll with all the punches that the precious metals have dished out this year, and continue to do as this is being written. Buying and selling common date numismatic, and bullion Gold and Silver coins in a choppy market like this one makes for some restless evenings. However markets that trade within a somewhat predictable range may allow an opportunity for savvy collectors to build a position at these levels. When prices are moving up dramatically, it is not possible to obtain all the coins you want before the market moves out of your price range. Instead, today's market is allowing those collectors to buy at a reasonable price without rushing and also with the added bonus that the premiums being paid above the coin's melt value is currently extremely attractive. Consequently many collectors that are putting together Mint State Gold Type sets right now are finding that their timing is looking pretty good compared to a few months ago. Dealers acknowledge that it is still tough finding quantities of select Gold but patient and persistent collectors are usually able to break through in the win column.

The sight-unseen market is behaving as it normally does following a number of major rare coin auctions. However, we may detect a bit of reticence in the actions of Bidders as prices in certain areas may have gotten ahead of themselves. In part this is because dealers that weren't able to raise enough funds in Denver to cover their auction bills often hit the sight-unseen market. What should I sell? Mint State Gold Type, generic Walkers and Morgan Dollars are among those coins selected to help pay the auction piper. We see that nearly 20 PCGS and NGC Walkers in the mid to late 1930s and beyond have been discounted this week. These coins are easily replaced as they are often available on numerous fixed price lists. Mint state Gold Type is lower as select issues are able to supplement dealer's cash flow. Lower High Reliefs and softer $3 Gold can help to manage a number of bills, too. Gem MS65 pre 1921 Morgans are another of those quick sell coins that have become an easy target for dismissal. Their attractive levels allow dealers to sell with a profit and still generate much needed funds. Many dealers currently have quantities of PCGS and NGC examples to sell at around $138-$150 a pop. GSA Morgans are also relatively soft among the common "CC" dates, but more active and higher Bids are targeting GSA non "CC" and non certified examples at $245 Bid. Dealers are willing to pay higher levels for these provided they have the undamaged original box and papers that came with the coins. Most other areas of the market seem quiet as dealers for the most part are reluctant to aggressively raise Bids for material sight-unseen. Prices are still pretty strong and it would take a surge in demand to ignite higher Bids. Proof Type may be one of those bright spots getting a spark in an otherwise lackluster sight-unseen market. Liberty Seated with Motto and Barber Half Dollars are ahead in PR62 thru PR64 for both PCGS and NGC examples. Interest here is dominating the action among Proof Type as Bids display double digit increases for this material. These coins, now Bidding between $500-$1,200 make an excellent value purchase as they are still deemed too cheap. Liberty Halves with Motto in PCGS PR64 and NGC PR65 Liberty Nickels lead Proof Type with 25 percent gains. PCGS and NGC PR63 Barber Halves are nearly 23 percent higher at $700 Bid.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit on a sight basis.

Keith Love
ICG's Senior Grader

Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

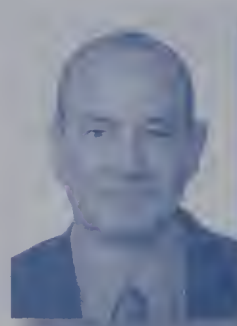

J. P. Martin
ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey
ICG's Senior Numismatist

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer
ICG Grader

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg
ICG Grader

Sue has been in the rare coin business for six years. Her discerning "eye" and work ethic has made her an important part of the best team of graders in the rare coin industry.

Sight-Unseen Bids Edge Upward Stack's & American Numismatic Rarities Merge

Long Beach is up next on the grueling show circuit with some dealers now anticipating just an "average" venue here and not the rip roaring affair that is usually known to take place during a bull market. On the heels of a massive and resource depleting round of auctions and bourse activity in Colorado during the ANA less than a month ago it is understandable that some dealers may have formed this opinion. Still other dealers, perhaps those in a better financial position, do believe that they will have a solid and satisfying visit to the Golden State during the September 13-16 show and related auctions. However, it is also evident that dealers don't expect an upward spike in California. Their reasons are varied but the upcoming elections in November immediately come to mind. We know that elections can often create uncertainty within the economy. Dealers are also aware that many rare coin prices seem high right now. Of course the buying public is cognizant of this fact and they want the best value they can get from dealers. The precious metals too, continue to compound the equation with their enigmatic ways, sharply higher one day and sharply lower the next. Considering these factors it's easy to see why some major players believe that the market will be running at less than full throttle. They believe it will have a "steady as she goes" attitude. Of course there are bound to be a few areas that get hot, but mainly they expect a consolidation game to play out in Long Beach.

An astute rare coin analyst also anticipates the market to maintain its current trading range until mid November and that the next 45 days should be steady. He doesn't expect the next major leg up until 2007 and even then it will depend on the economic issues. Gold may also prove to be a psychological factor this fall playing a role alongside the election outcomes and the Federal Reserve System's decisions. Interest rate changes may have an immediate short term effect on the economy and they could certainly sway things one way or another for the longer term. Still, this expert analyst believes that the "status quo" should remain in effect until the end of the year. He acknowledges that the strong demand for quality coins should continue as they remain on dealers' buy lists. Furthermore, it will still be difficult finding Gem quality rare coins because there are not a lot of them overhanging the market right now. Dealers are certainly not over inventoried in this area.

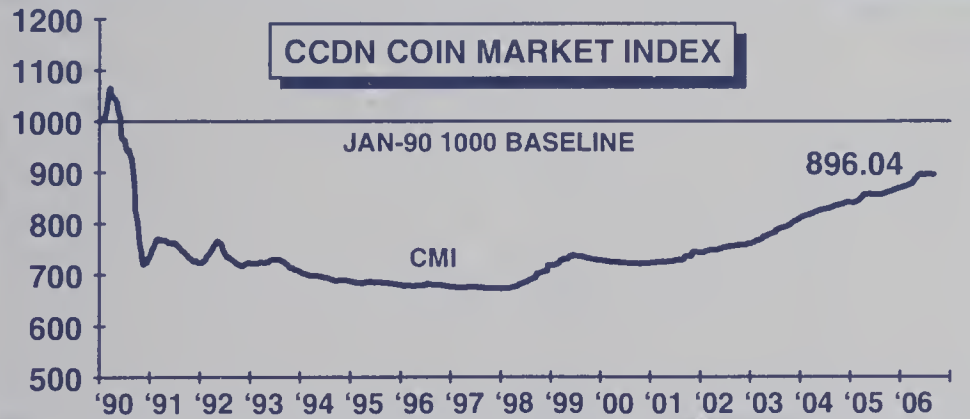

The big get even bigger as two major auction companies combine their exceptional talent, experience and client base in the September 6th mega merger between American Numismatic Rarities of Wolfeboro, N.H., and Stack's of New York. They plan to continue doing business under the banner of Stack's, but for now each will maintain its current offices, auction schedules and location. In a similar move it had been previously announced that Superior Galleries of Beverly Hills has joined forces with Dallas Gold and Silver Exchange. This deal is expected to close later next month.

The sight-unseen market is on the receiving end of the current demand. Dealers still need to buy coins and they are looking for bargains at the same time. So the sight-unseen market may be just what the doctor has ordered. Many buyers are hoping to replenish some of their needs in this forum at attractive levels below sight-seen Bid. Bids are increasing for a variety of series with common coins being the largest target of the demand. Of course these common dates are needed in Mint State and Proof grades. Morgan Dollars may be one area of the market that is making a slight exception. While select common dates are slightly higher, the top spot is reserved for a major rarity - the 1884-S in NGC MS64. This key is up 6 percent to $38,400 Bid while NGC MS62 examples plow ahead to $5,900. Another Morgan prize finds an NGC MS66 1890-CC now Bid at $8,200. Perhaps indicative of the bargain hunter's frame of mind out there, the vast majority of increases in this report, are targeting the perhaps still undervalued NGC slabs. Proof Type was led by Copper and Nickel coins. Most of them had found dealer interest but none better than the 17% surge of NGC Matte PR65 Red and Brown Lincoln Cents at $422 Bid this week. Interest is also keen for Mercury Dimes, particularly from the 1940s in NGC MS65 thru MS67 condition with Full Bands. Increases ranged up to an impressive 17.6 percent jump by a 1943-D in NGC MS67FB. Incidentally, Proof Mercs are also moving higher in PCGS PR65 and better as at least one west coast dealer feels the need. Heritage will conduct their Long Beach auction September 13-16. However, first Superior and Ira & Larry Goldberg will each host Pre-Long Beach auctions in Beverly Hills September 10-12. We have listed a few highlights from each of these sales.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers. Individual responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

 *The ICG Seven Day Guarantee - ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions.
 Example: If your 10 coin Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CONECA world and ancient coins. "Days" are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. Nothing in this offer precludes or supersedes the terms and conditions on the ICG grading submission form.

PROOFLIKE MORGAN DOLLARS

P/L Dollars may be semi-reflective with less reflectivity than the deep mirror Prooflike. Bids for P/L's are usually much lower than for DMPL's but command some premium over non-P/L strikes.

Preservation. Identification. Appreciation.

Your notes deserve the best. That's why PMG developed this holder — combining the qualities that collectors value most.

The PMG holder...

...Is made from the highest-quality, inert materials. Since there are no openings or perforations, it guards against environmental hazards and contaminants.

...Uses a heavy-gauge material, ideal for long-term storage. Its durability provides superior protection even for notes printed on the thinnest papers, such as Obsolete and Confederate banknotes.

...Features a large label that displays precise and specific information about your note, including a full attribution, pedigree, and graders' comments, as applicable.

PMG's primary commitment is to provide accurate and consistent grading of paper money — to impart confidence and reliability. This also includes understanding what numismatists want from a holder. And that's why we are bringing a new standard of impartiality and integrity.

Pre-Long Beach Sales Capture $14.2 Million Expo Busy Despite Weak Metal Prices

That all famous "buzz," signaling a powerhouse market was missing on the bourse during dealer set-up for the Long Beach Expo. Many buyers in attendance were somewhat tentative initially; others were shell-shocked after the precipitous $60 drop in Gold Spot along with an equally substantial percentage decline in Silver Spot over the last several days. This being the all too familiar cue as of late for generic Gold Type to drift even lower. One dealer was kind, simply saying it was "soft" and that other areas of the market were also displaying weakness for common generic material as well. As a result, many dealers said that they had pulled most of their sight-unseen Bids listed on the electronic dealer trading networks before heading to California. They did so because they needed to reevaluate the situation as they believe that their previous Bids were just too high. This would enable them to improve their liquidity and prosper at the Long Beach Expo and associated auctions. However declines in the precious metals didn't curtail brisk business from taking place on the bourse, reminding us that we are still experiencing a bull rare coin market. Dealers told us that many transactions were occurring in hotel rooms in Long Beach prior to set-up as well. They said that business is taking place, for the most part at current Bid levels. Basically, dealers are looking to buy coins that represent an excellent value at a reasonable price. They understand fully that their customers are willing to pay a certain amount for select coins and will try to accommodate that need to make a sale and keep a happy camper in the fold. For example, Charlotte and Dahlonga Mint Gold that's priced in an affordable range (AU grades) sells very well, but in the Mint State category, especially if they aren't too attractive or well struck don't usually have buyers lined up. Dealers want to be careful and buy coins that they know will be an easy sell in this market. One savvy dealer commented that he was out on the bourse with his buying emphasis targeting Proof 3-Cent Copper Nickels, Shield Nickels and Liberty Nickels. Another favorite choice of his is Proof Indian Head Cents in full Red and/or Red and Brown. They are still buying quality coins at current levels he confided to us; and happy to buy "PQ" (premium quality) coins for considerably more.

The sight-unseen market is, to some degree a reflection of the tentative reactions of dealers at the Expo's outset. Visible weakness is evident in a number of generic areas with Gold Type and Dollars taking center stage. Morgan Dollars are giving up some ground in grades MS64 through MS66. These coins are available in substantial quantities and, if no promotions are currently taking place, become an easy decision for quick sale. Gem examples are now lower at $135 Bid while MS64 issues dropped slightly as well. Generic Gold, those denominations that are most bullion sensitive lost value in several Mint State grades. Naturally, $20 Saints and Liberty issues led the pack to the lower tier. The usually strong Type markets took a back seat this week as Buffalo Nickels found some buyers willing to push Bids. Multiple buyers are looking for quality Buffaloes in MS65 and better condition. Common and rare dates are part of this herd seen moving higher. Also, be sure to notice that the Proof Buffalo Nickels are elevated in similar grades too. The balance of the sight-unseen market is very similar to this week's Mint State and Proof Type arena. There is some support but nobody is willing to step-up to the plate with higher Bids.

The two Pre-Long Beach auctions held in Beverly Hills September 10-12 realized more than $14 million. Superior Galleries claimed $4.1 million while Ira & Larry Goldberg contributed $10.1 million. We have listed a few highlights from both of these important sales.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets. Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids.

"The Registry community has been a real source of coins and camaraderie, which has enhanced my collecting experience."

— Dr. Neal Naranjo

Dr. Neal Naranjo

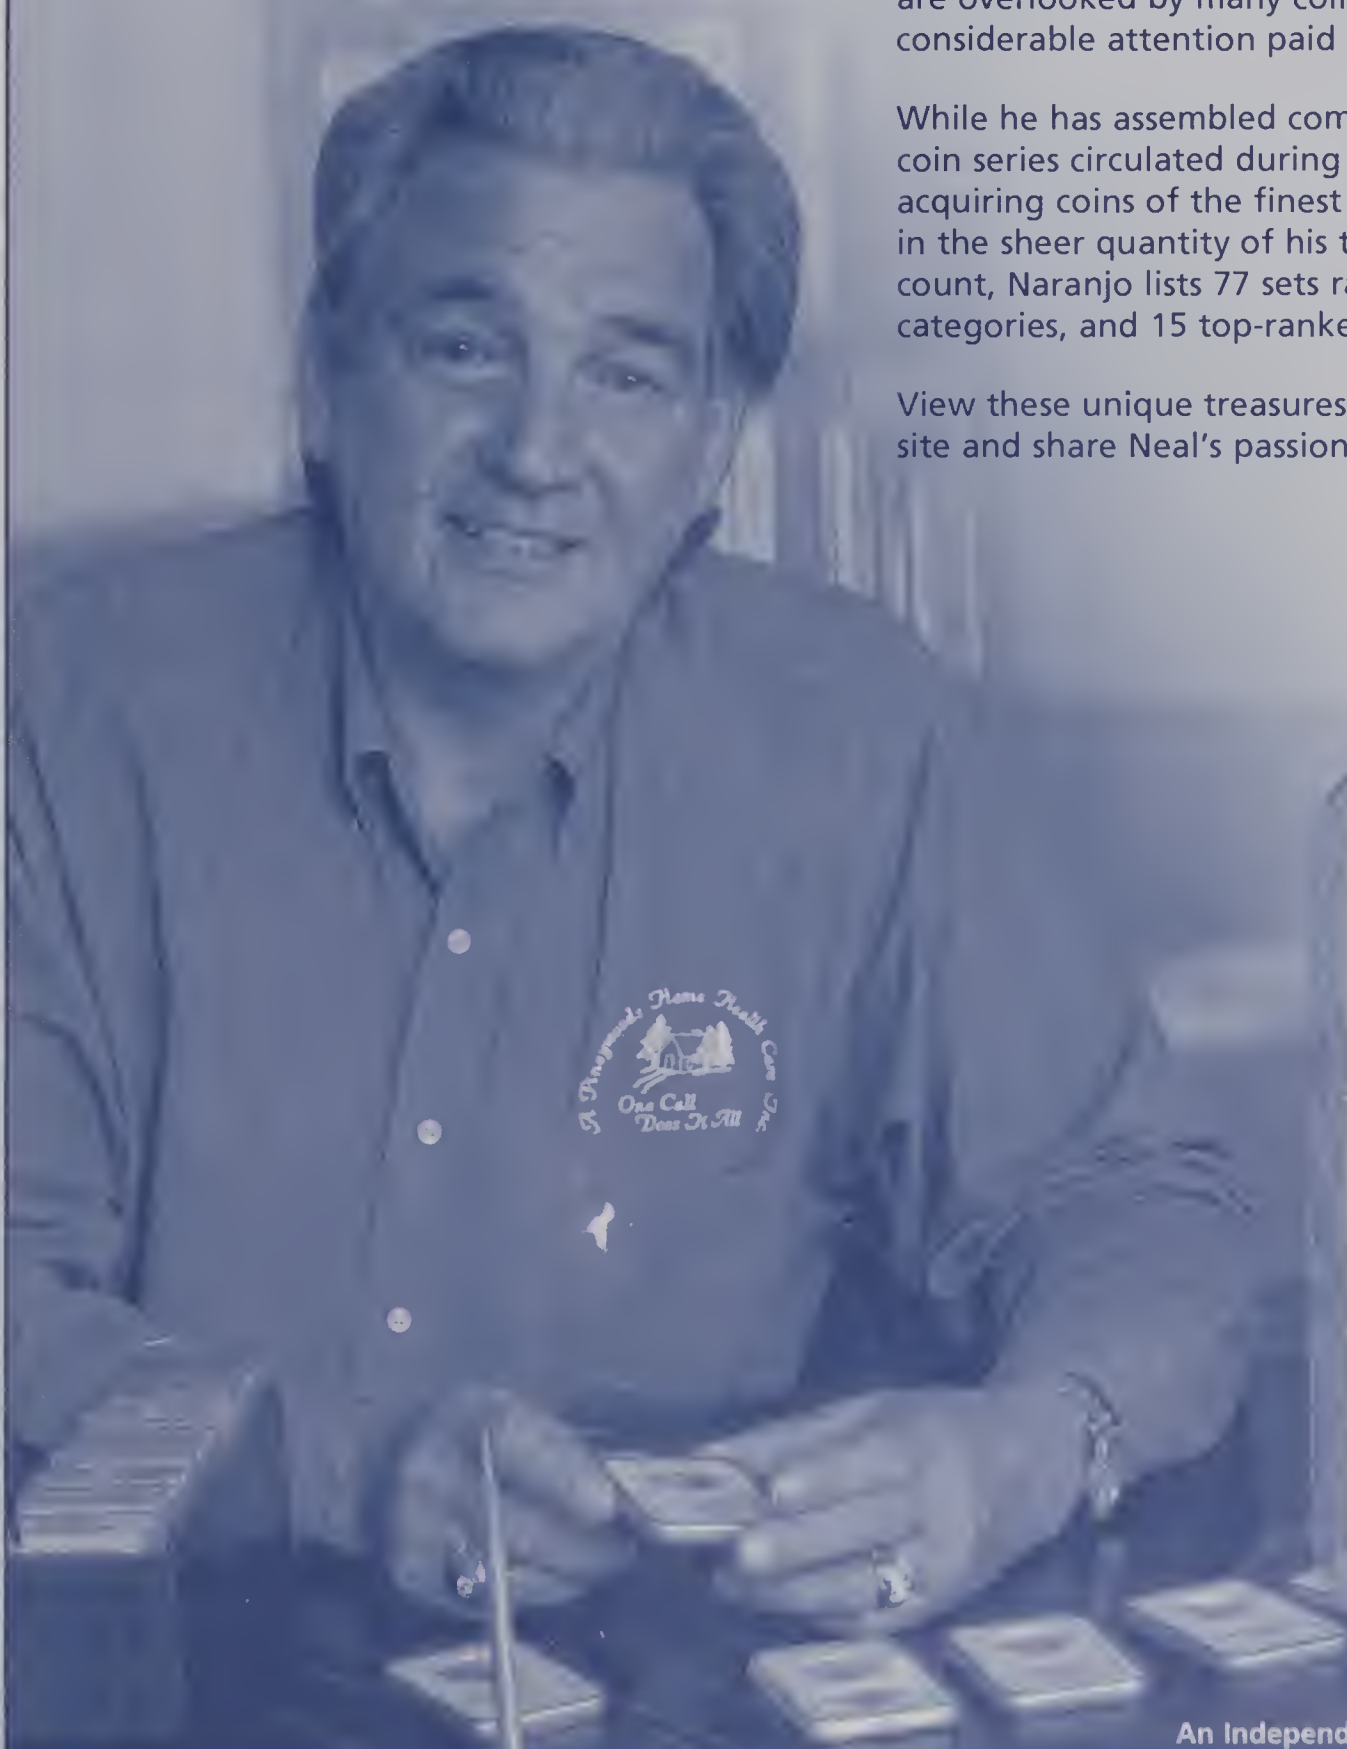

Occupation: Health Care Administrator

Collects: Kennedy Half Dollars, Twentieth Century US Coins

Neal Naranjo is an accomplished collector of US coins and an erstwhile champion of modern coins. Moderns, he believes, are overlooked by many collectors despite their beauty and the considerable attention paid to the quality of their manufacture.

While he has assembled complete collections of virtually every US coin series circulated during his lifetime, his pursuit has moved to acquiring coins of the finest condition. His achievement is evident in the sheer quantity of his top-rated NGC Registry sets. As of last count, Naranjo lists 77 sets ranked in the top 5 of their respective categories, and 15 top-ranked sets!

View these unique treasures in the coin gallery on the NGC Web site and share Neal's passion.

Generic Dollars And Gold Type Drift Stacks Hammers $2.3 Million In NY

With another west coast swing under many dealer's belts several road show warriors headed east to another important venue. Many are resuming the never ending battle there, taking in the 3rd annual New York Invitational show in NYC, September 20-22 along with related auctions. Although Long Beach may have been somewhat flat in comparison to other recent shows; many high profile dealers still face a deficit in their coin acquisitions, with most still in dire need of top quality original material for their depleted inventories and customers. Other buyers with ample funds are also in the mix needing to shore up sufficient stock of likely best sellers to augment sales for the all too fast approaching holiday rush. All of these factors portend a hectic final chapter for the 2006 numismatic campaign. Although current activity within the sight-unseen certified coin market might not bear this observation out as it is similar to what was taking place last week at the Long Beach Expo. Transactions are occurring yet taking place at lower levels for most generic Dollars, Type Gold and Walkers. Dealers know that volumes of this type of material are usually widely available and easily replaceable if future needs arise. When dealers have cash flow problems these are usually the coins that are the first candidates to go, especially if one believes they are possibly headed to even lower territory. Silver Commemoratives still remain popular in many circles yet several that are deemed expendable and readily replaced are also lower. Looking at the market columns here you will see that the primary reason for most of the reductions in sight-unseen Bids is a direct result from lower prices realized at recent public auctions. Gold Commems are singing a similar refrain, with minus signs in place for ten out of the eleven regular issues. Buyers have lowered their Bids here awhile ago so it was only a matter of time before Asking prices would follow suit. Accepting the fact that levels are lower is crucial in making sales while a market is softening. This becomes easier over time as one builds experience and realizes that it is often better to take a slight loss now instead of absorbing a potentially bigger hit down the road. Sight-Unseen trades are occurring for generic Morgan and Peace Dollars again as slightly lower levels prevail in Mint State 63 through MS67. Declines like this for common date Dollars have been common place in three of the past four weeks yet both PCGS and NGC generics grading MS65 are still enjoying over a 25% increase above levels from a year ago. One of the largest wholesale buyers of this type of material said that he believed that Bids for MS64 and lower grades will stabilize shortly if not already. He also asserts that common Morgan Dollars in grades MS65 and better may continue to drift a bit before additional buyers return. Some savvy market analysts will say that there is a distinct correlation between precious metal prices, primarily Gold and Silver and Gem generic Dollars. Currently Spot Silver is trading in the $11 per ounce range while Spot Gold is hovering around $580. If the precious metals return to their bullish upward movement, higher prices for Dollars will likely resume. These coins are nearly always needed for retail sales just prior to the holiday gift giving season. Mint State Type remains strong and vital for the most part with just a few areas showing slight indifference and rollbacks. Barber Half Dollars and Liberty Seated Dollars in NGC MS64 were such a pair selling through the electronic dealer trading networks at deflated prices. Once again lower auction results have initiated the minus signs seen here in the NGC MS65 Bid column. Mint State Gold Type is unquestionably softer and this is completely obvious from the barrage of offerings at discounted prices. Denominations receiving the most damage appear to be those series so heavily promoted in the past year. Type Two Gold Dollars, Three Dollar Princesses and Indians, both Five and Ten. High Relief $20 Saints in MS65 represent the sole bright spot within Mint State Gold Type with a loftier sight-unseen Bid of $52,500. Proof Type continues to be solid as NGC Barber Half Dollars in PR64 move up a notch to $1,150 Bid.

Stack's has successfully completed its first public auction since announcing their merger with American Numismatic Rarities as $2.3 million fell to the hammer in New York September 19-20. Several scarcer Buffalo Nickels hit the auction block in American Numismatic Rarities' Glode M. Requa sale September 21 with most fairing quite well. A trio including a 1917-S grading NGC MS66 realized $6,612, a tough 1921-S graded MS65 by NGC brought home a solid $6,325 and the popular 1927-S another NGC MS65 powered to an impressive $12,650. Those issues not as fortunate include Walking Liberty Half Dollars which have surrendered some earlier gains as a number of issues chime in with suppressed levels for both common and better examples. Similar to common date Dollars, late date Walkers in MS64-MS65 are normally obtainable in quantity with little difficulty finding them. Although this market is going through a bit of much needed adjustment, quality still shines and rarities remain the hunted as passionate buyers remain in hot pursuit.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity including the big nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks. Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder.
In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit on a sight basis.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin, listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "t" Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Gold Seizes $600, But For How Long? Weakness Suppresses Sight-Unseen Market

September closes with continued weakness being experienced in the generic coin market. However, could it be that some signs of this Achilles' heel may be coming to an end? One positive is Gold. It appears that on the backs of higher crude oil prices Gold Spot has managed to reclaim the $600 per ounce plateau. It has been more than two weeks since it last closed above that major benchmark level. Revitalized Gold futures surpassed $610 per ounce, on its way to a three week high. Silver has also improved to $11.50 per ounce but like Gold, all the precious metals seem to be very tentative. Many are questioning their ability to hold these levels and a lot of their success may depend on oil's ability to hold or increase its price. Still, analysts believe that Silver and Gold were simply in an oversold situation that just needed some excuse to correct. While the generic market struggles to find buyers, it is a totally different story when it comes to the not so common coins. Rare coins continue to attract ready Bidders without much concern for the daily gyrations of oil, Gold, Silver or any host of additional factors. This proved to be true September 19-21 in New York City after Stack's and American Numismatic Rarities concluded two auctions that captured more than $5.4 million. What does it all mean? Dealers will continue to try to buy those rarities for their customers or that spruce-up their inventories while collectors are actively buying coins that measure up to their needs and goals. The necessity to upgrade or fill a hole in one's collection is among the strongest forces that's driving today's demand. Repeatedly, dealers tell us that the key and semi-key dates are experiencing dramatic, sustained demand. It almost seems like this aspect of the rare coin market is immune to any outside factors, but of course we know that is not entirely true. Still, these are the coins that are among the steadiest performers and continue to shine year after year.

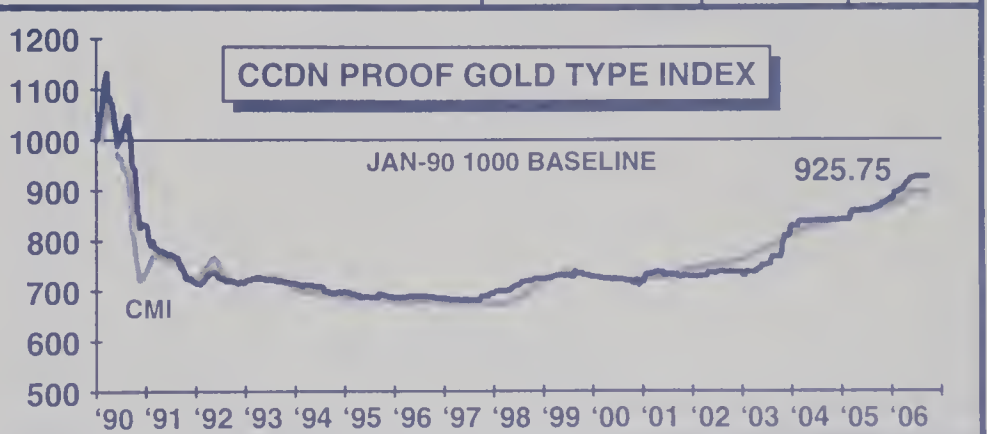

The sight-unseen market remains suppressed as dealers opt to unload common Type and generic examples. Dealers are taking this efficient path because they hope to improve their cash flow position at the same time jettisoning those coins that are not in favor. Silver Commemoratives that wholesale below $500 per coin is an easy sale's decision. Notice the presence of minus signs for PCGS and NGC issues such as: Columbia, Lexington, Delaware, Stone Mountain and Wisconsin. These Commems are readily available in the Mint State grades and consequently easy pickings for a quick sale. Classic Gold Commems remain soft with further weakness building on last week's declines. Morgan Dollars are a perfect series to see the limitations and where the possible improvement can be found among generic coins. PCGS and NGC are depicting increases among MS61 and MS62 generics while failing is apparent at the other end of the Mint State grade spectrum with MS65-MS67 continuing to slide. The MS61 and MS62 increase may be because of a rapidly improving Silver Spot; regardless we note that this is over a 17% advance in an area that had definitely been on the ropes. As we have repeatedly stated, those slightly better dates that are lumped in the generic category may be a good buy for some astute collectors. Be sure to also notice the modest increase in common date MS66 Peace Dollars to $510 Bid. Mint State Type is not impervious to declines as Capped Bust Dime were lowered by as much as 14% after an NGC MS67 1814 traded at auction for $27,600. Mint State Gold Type continues on the same path although that situation may quickly improve if Gold Spot maintains its recent rejuvenated strength. Unfortunately those minus signs dominating the Gold Type pages are not an aberration but simply a flight towards the safety and security of a better cash flow position. Dealers are doing this by selling those coins that will provide them substantial amounts. For example check out PCGS and NGC Type I and II Gold Dollars; $3 Princess; MS64 $5 and $10 Indians; and High Reliefs in MS63. The Walking Liberty Half Dollar Series is also experiencing the wrath of sellers. However it is mostly the common dates in high grade in the forties that are monopolizing the action. Declines range from 5-8 percent with the majority being MS64 and MS65 examples. Proof Walkers are also finding ready sellers as well. Next up are a number of sales to help get dealers ready for the final push in 2006. October starts off with the Whitman Coin and Collectibles Expo held in Atlanta October 4-7. Stack's will offer part 15 of the phenomenal John J. Ford Jr. collection taking the spotlight on October 4th and their partner, American Numismatic Rarities following up with the Buckhead sale on the 5th. Next Doyle New York will conduct an auction on October 12, including material from the Samuel Mills Damon estate. October rounds out with Scotsman's sale during the fourth annual Silver Dollar and Rare Coin Expo in St. Louis Oct. 19th and 20th.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through careful study of market activity. The Bluesheet is based on nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an ask or a high Bid or by Ask Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers according to the requirements of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Gold Rebounds After Dropping Below $560

Dealers Seek Liquidity In Sight-Unseen Market

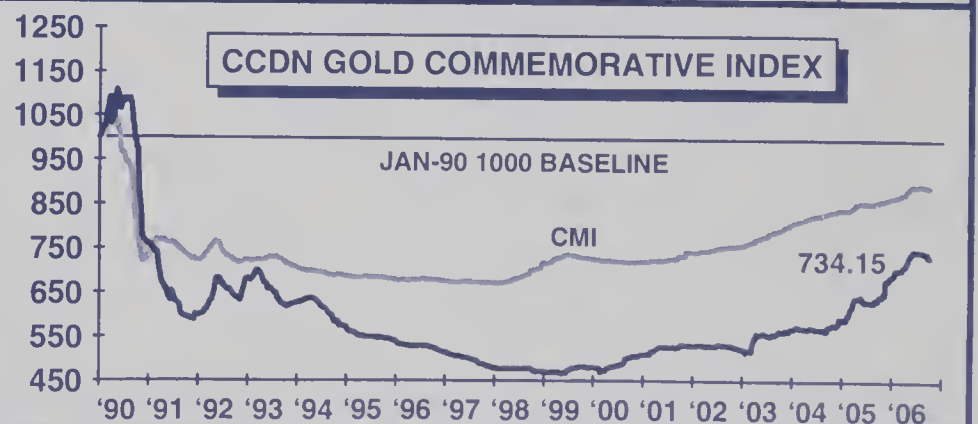

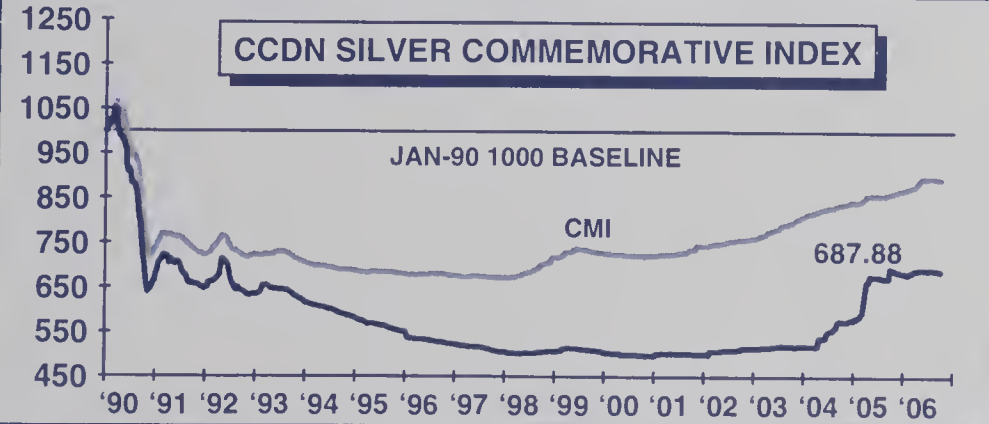

October has begun in dramatic fashion with the precious metals riding a roller coaster on the proverbial wheels of the oil market. Last week when Gold Spot hit $600 we wondered if it would stick and how long it would last. That answer came back fast and decisively. Huge per ounce price swings have been the norm lately as Gold and Silver seem to react to the whims of the volatile oil market. Many analysts say that Gold indeed, is being driven today directly by the activity taking place in the per barrel price of crude oil. Gold did advance for future purchase by nearly $12 per ounce Thursday to $578.80 following the precipitous drop of the previous few days. This latest increase was again triggered by oil's ability to reclaim the $60 per barrel level. However Gold's decline of nearly 7 percent preceding this latest increase has sent shock waves through even the most ardent Gold devotees. Some have questioned Gold's bull market status and if it in fact is over. Gold analysts have said that the decline, while sharp has been in line with Gold's explosive increase that took it over $700 per ounce earlier this year. Consequently many pundits still believe that the bull market remains intact. Prior to the latest advance Gold futures suffered a 4-day loss of over $44 per ounce. This extreme volatility has played havoc with coin dealers as well as for common date $20 Liberty and Saint-Gaudens pieces that rise and fall with each new turn of events. Many of the lesser denominations in MS63 and better grades have sustained dramatic declines from earlier higher levels as well. Some dealers and serious collectors believe that perhaps the latest decline may be signaling a solid buying opportunity. Mint State Gold Type bargain hunters may be using this chance to accumulate some examples at prices that are much easier on the pocketbook. Dealers will also be on the look out for some bargains that may be revealed via public auction as some less brave decide to unload their treasures. October seems to have a full plate of sales scheduled and dealers need to be in a position to capitalize on any opportunity. Of course many of them are already doing battle in Atlanta at the Whitman Coin and Collectibles Expo and auctions. Stack's and the American Numismatic Rarities sales are still in progress as this is being written. Stack's will feature the George W. Byers, Jr. Collection October 17 followed by their 71st anniversary sale the next day. It's not too late to think about participating in the Silver Dollar Expo that will be held in St. Louis October 19-20 along with the Scotsman auction. Finally, Bowers and Merena will host a sale at the ANA Las Vegas show October 24-27 completing a very active and busy month.

This week's sight-unseen prices are reflective of a market that's in a state of flux. It hasn't really decided which way it's headed but we do see that the strong Bids that were so prevalent earlier in the year have been replaced by dealers' more cautious actions. Selective Bids are seen for some issues while many areas just remain weak. Silver Commemoratives are not being too heavily pursued as more minus signs are evident. Rhode Island Type in NGC MS66 led the decline at 23 percent. Huguenot-Walloon suffered as PCGS MS65 and MS66 issues lost 22 and 17 percent respectively. Gold Commems are quiet as well, as you might expect after their decline during the latter portion of September. Morgan and Peace Dollar enthusiasts continue to see weakness within the generic issues. Buyers and promotions have all but disappeared as prices continue to drift lower. However with Morgans Bid at $118 for NGC MS65 examples and $120 for PCGS slabs support may be established just around the corner as bargain hunters try to cash in on some common dates at what they believe to be a good level. The popular GSA Dollars certified by NGC have maintained buyer involvement and are on good footing. As expected, minus signs abound among Mint State Gold Type. Most of the declines are relatively minor in the 2% range with the largest drop seen for $2½ Libs in MS64 representing an 8% decline from last week. Will bottom fishing soon replace negative sentiments? A lot depends on Gold's bias from here. Shield Nickels are higher among Mint State Type while Liberty Seated and Barber Half Dollars each moved forward 4 percent in the Proof Type category. The Mercury Dime chart looks impressive although the gains are modest as several dealers are in the hunt for volumes of late date Full Banded material in MS65 and better condition. Common date Walkers from the 1930s and 1940s below $1,000 are down this week. Proof counterparts are also joining in this decline as well. These Walkers provide an excellent source of quick funds for dealers. It is also important to understand that the market for rare coins including rare dates and varieties remains strong with high prices being paid at public auctions and on the bourse at shows.

Proof Gold Type Reflecting Solid Advance Generic Offerings Remain Soft

As the final phase of 2006 is in sight the rare coin market remains a powerful force as unbelievable demand is still chasing select rarities and veritable numismatic icons to unprecedented levels. The same holds true for many other coins that exhibit exceptional preservation and conditional rarity. Indeed those wonder coins with a sharp strike or alluring color patination are on many dealers' high priority lists. However on the other side of the numismatic highway many generic offerings, those common dates within a series and just average quality examples for the assigned grade appear to be floundering in the breakdown lane. As we close out the year there is a definite division to the market, a closer look reveals the divergence.

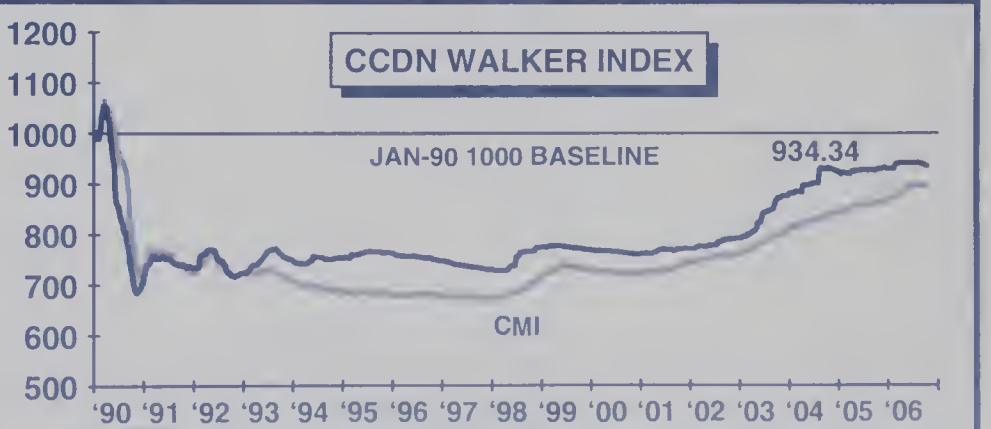

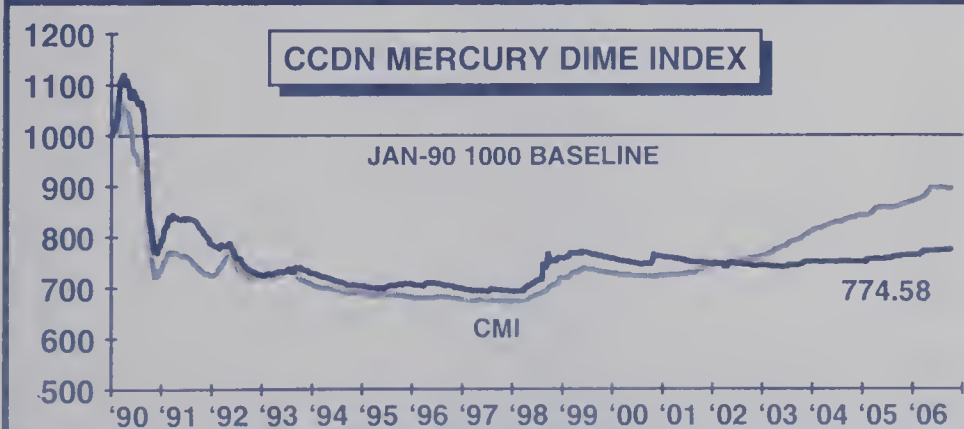

Dealers tell us that in addition to established rarities, that there is very strong demand for those coins that are considered to be premium quality or "PQ" for the grade. They also see similar passion for coins with exceptional eye appeal, or exhibiting a fabulous strike, or with attractive original toning, or of a particular rarity. Dealers and collectors alike are willing to tender strong, even record Bids for coins that meet any of these stringent qualifications. They tell us that they would be extremely happy to buy all that they can. These fresh offerings are what they are looking to find, and unfortunately there isn't enough of this material available to satisfy this huge demand. Dealers become frustrated because they have customers wanting to buy, but only if the coin is right. Still, the problem facing serious collectors is the severe lack of availability of those coins that meet their demanding criteria. Dealers are all too well aware of this. Perhaps the true indicator of the sustained bull market is that many dealers still have volumes of viable want lists for this type of material that needs to be filled. However on the other side of the playing field we find the low end, average for the grade material is residing on the bench. Joining them we also find some scarcer and even rare material that time has not been particularly kind to, those that have impairments including nicks, scratches, discoloration, heavy adjustment marks and any number of other problems. Consequently they are finding very little support as Bids decline and prime interest looks elsewhere. Have prices fallen far enough to signal an end? Check out this week's Morgan Dollar and Mint Gold Type Bid columns.

The demand is strong for select issues while others continue to falter. That's why there is both positive and negative action following the market at the same time.

This week's sight-unseen market is representative of the dichotomy that exists today. Common dates are finding few buyers and we even see coins selling at auction slightly below sight-unseen Bid. Unfortunately the small dollar value of the coin and the price difference doesn't make it advantageous for any significant reward. Mercury Dimes are a perfect example of this situation. Those selling below their existing sight-unseen Bids include high quality Full Band 1935 and later dates which remain very common. On the other hand select NGC PR66 and PR67 Proof Merces advanced nicely with the 1938 jumping 25 percent to $350 Bid for NGC PR66 examples. Dealers feel that these Proof Dimes are simply too undervalued compared to PCGS slabs. Proof Gold is hardly common and it is a piping hot area today. Again we see many plus signs and significant percentage gains for NGC issues that are believed to be undervalued. This heated demand is chasing most of the Proof Gold denominations in several grades. Interest is so strong that more than two dozen issues are realizing double digit increases! This is even more astounding when you consider that these sight-unseen Bid increases are for five-figure rare coins. Again the rarities and high-end material are the attention getters. Conversely late date Buffaloes are another example where common, quality issues are just sluggish. Silver Commemoratives and Walking Liberty Half Dollars are lower with declines for high grade common Walkers associated with dates in the mid 1930s and 1940s. Lackluster common Silver Commems are under pressure as buyers are scarce and Bids are vanishing. Morgan Dollars and Mint State Gold Type are somewhat mixed this week. Common issues continue under pressure while select needs and low prices have forced dealers to Bid higher in some cases. High quality Gold Type has dropped to the point where some buyers are now returning. NGC MS65 $5 No Motto Liberty is a rousing 33% higher at $20,600 Bid. Proof Type is doing well with 3-Cent Copper Nickels heading the list. This odd denomination is higher in PR66 and PR67. As the remainder of October is chock full of auction sales it will be interesting to see how the current scenario plays out.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the BlueSheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active graders (grades determined by the actual number of coins graded by each grader) and optionally reported sight/unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid level, as the strong influence of the low Bid level may be maintained. As a result, Bids which are near or below current Bid, CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. CCDn does not sell prices, only bid levels. The bid levels may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Certification does not guarantee protection against the normal risks associated with potentially volatile markets.
Client or sight-seen sales may command a substantial premium above Bluesheet Dealer-to-Dealer Bids

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Introducing the boldest, most courageous coin book ever... THE COIN COLLECTOR'S SURVIVAL MANUAL® FIFTH EDITION by Scott A. Travers

"The most important coin book ever written... a spectacular tour de force that surely will be proclaimed an instant classic – and undoubtedly will stand for years to come as the gold standard for coin books on consumer protection and investment." –Ed Reiter, Senior Editor, COINage

Consumer advocate Scott A. Travers, reveals trade secrets on how you can make money and avoid even the smallest mistakes in the rare coin marketplace in his new Random House book. This straight-forward guide candidly examines grading controversies and the popularity of registry sets, playing the "crack out" game with third-party encapsulated coins, and the dangers of online auctions and coin doctoring.

1,200 consumer protection caveats give you the most candid advice on how to buy and sell coins profitably, whether it's a sleeper found on the bourse or a multi-million dollar rarity seen at auction. Detailed photographs of coins with genuine and difficult-to-detect artificial toning give you unprecedented side-by-side comparisons.

Illustrated with more than 260 state-of-the-art digital color and black and white images of coins, this 400-page guide packs a powerful, one-two punch. It combines a thorough update of earlier editions of The Coin Collector's Survival Manual with another of Travers' seven acclaimed books, How to Make Money in Coins Right Now. Both were bestsellers in their own right, and now both are available in a single, updated and timely volume. Among the topics covered in the new mega-book:

- Coins overgraded by grading services (text page 79, color photos insert page 13).
- How you can capitalize on the gyrations of gold prices when buying rare and generic gold coins. What specific coins you should buy when gold is moving up, and how to minimize losses when gold prices are falling (page 157).
- Extraordinary insights and secrets of crack-outs and getting lucrative upgrades from third-party grading services. Well-known dealer Jim Halperin tells how he made millions in profits by resubmitting coins and expands his secret list (page 140).
- Exposing the pitfalls and avoiding the perils when buying coins through online auctions (page 212).
- Detecting altered, counterfeit and "doctored" coins (page 126).
- How the popular registry set programs have changed the numismatic market, and how to use registry sets to your advantage (page 187).
- Knowing when to buy, when to sell, and when not to do anything (page 251).
- Comprehensive discussions by leading experts about taxes and tax consequences on buying and selling numismatic items, including record keeping, estate planning secrets, retirement plans and in-kind exchanges (page 284).
- Security issues now facing the most advanced collectors and investors after 9/11 and natural disasters, such as Hurricane Katrina (page 318).

This is the book about the coin business "you can't afford to be without." Newsweek

"Should be read before a single coin is bought - and read again and again!" Coin World

"...if followed closely, it should help [you] do far more than just survive; it should point the way to prosperity." The New York Times

"A significant contribution to the consumer protection literature...must reading for any potential investor who believes it is better to buy a book first than to have to hire a lawyer later." Barry J. Cutler, former Director, Federal Trade Commission Bureau of Consumer Protection

Now you can survive and make money in coins right now!

NEED TO MAIL?

Need to contact America's leading numismatic dealers? Make your advertising and postage dollars count with America's best dealer listing. The company name and numismatist sections of the

are available for rental. Since the Directory is fully copyrighted, this is your only source for this proven list of approximately 5,000+ current names and addresses. And current is a promise taken seriously - the data base is updated daily. All for only $325 - well below the mailing industry standard of $75/thousand.

To make this offer even more attractive, labels are available in both First Class order or Presorted for Basic Bulk Rate mailings (you can save more than $425 over First Class postage rates!). Need just one state or region? Need a trial sample? Contact us for details!

Proof Type And Commems Rally Rarities Highlight Stack's $12 Million In Sales

Last week's assessment that alluded to the very strong demand that has been maintained despite the weakness being experienced in the generic areas of the market has been up held. As a matter of fact the intense demand that has many collectors and dealers passionately chasing the rare dates and varieties may have intensified, if that is possible. The auction venue is still the most logical place to find and acquire these coveted coins when they finally emerge. Serious collectors know that fresh material often enters the marketplace in this way and that's what they want. Fresh material offers the opportunity for one to buy coins that haven't been "played with" and these are the coins that have today's greatest appeal. After all many of these closely guarded treasures have been away from the public's wanting hands for decades. When these various collectors' cabinets come to market is when sparks seem to fly. Dealers of course have been actively seeking this kind of material all along but they are acutely aware of the competitive nature of buyers when they do hit the auction block.

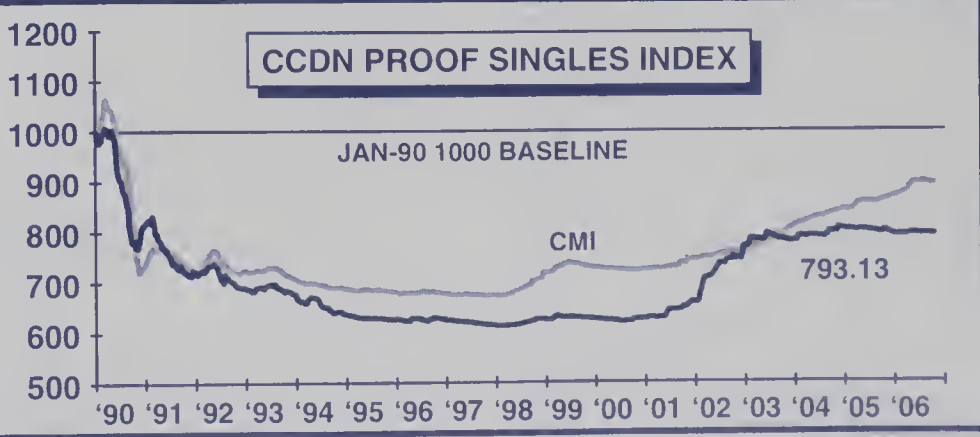

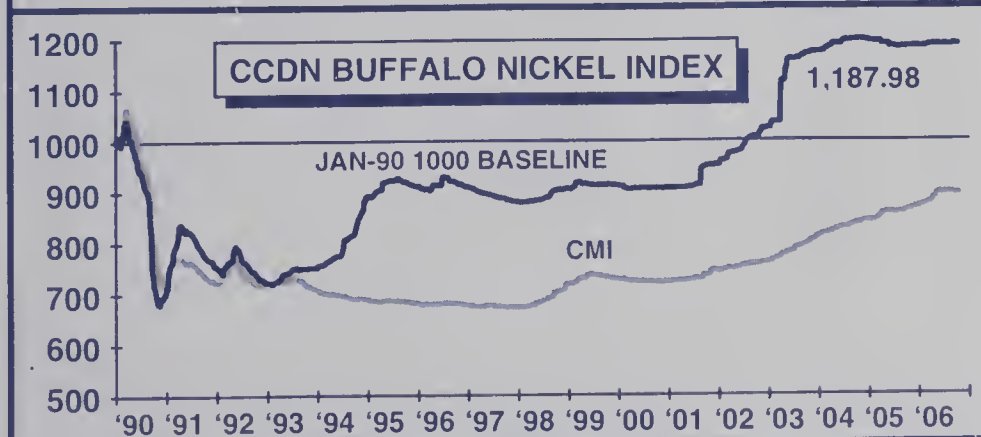

Such was the case in New York October 17 when the George "Buddy" Byers collection of U.S. Half Dollars were offered to the highest Bidder. Many had hoped to be able to snag some examples from the Byers collection as heated floor and phone bidding battles ensued. This auction proved to be "very strong as nearly all of the major coins were sold to collectors." This is how one east coast dealer summed up the activity in the "packed" room that included many serious enthusiasts. Price levels attained were much better than expected considering that the general market had been in a bit of a malaise since Gold Spot has been stuck between the $550 and $600 floors. However, that's not the case for rarities and fresh material because the Bidding paddles for these coins are being raised high in the air with only ownership on one's mind. It just reinforces the notion that the market is extremely strong when quality coins come along as the number of lots as well as the number of rare coin auctions continues to grow. There seems to be a strong emphasis on placing coins on consignment for public auction today. It sounds like a good idea on the surface as this is one of the best rare coin markets that we have seen. However, some serious collectors seem somewhat reluctant to sell as they know the difficulty they would face if they were to replace their numismatic treasures. Many have worked very hard just to locate these extreme rarities and if they don't need to liquidate for whatever reason then why bother? Still, the auction venue may be able to net them a greater amount for their coins than can otherwise be attained. Of course when fresh material is thrown in the mix it becomes an entirely different ball game as was the case for the Byers' sale. Stack's $12.1 million auction was actually a triple play including the George "Buddy" Byers Half Dollar Collection, the 71st Anniversary Sale and Part 16 of John J. Ford, Jr. Collection Oct. 17-18 in New York. Certified highlights include the finest known 1817/4 Capped Bust Half generating an impressive $310,500 for an AU50 PCGS example. Another powerhouse was found in the 1853O No Arrows Liberty Seated Half as the PCGS VF35 chased home $368,000. Proof Gold remains vital as an 1899 $20 Lib PCGS65 DCam realized $92,000.

This week's sight-unseen market is displaying more signs of life and activity even though it remains mixed. Lower levels have created more interest in select areas. Silver Commems are benefiting as higher Bids are targeting Gem quality Oregon, Texas and Boone examples mostly in the $250-$500 range. Buyers are hungry for upwards of 25 or more in some cases. Generic Morgan Dollars remain weak as quantities of MS65s remain available and are being dumped out at lower levels as PCGS and NGC commoners slide to $116 Bid. However, dealers are clamoring for Proof Gold and Proof Type as sight-unseen Bids climb higher, some with rather impressive percentage increases. The gains among Proof Type is a good sign for the market as strong demand is covering a wide range of material in multiple grades. However it's not totally pervasive as buyers are mostly putting an emphasis on NGC examples that they deem to be undervalued. Virtually all denominations of Proof Gold are realizing sight-unseen increases as buyers try to find some low grade examples that they assert are just too cheap for its true rarity. Consequently lower Proof grade examples are moving higher. Mint State Type is all about Large Cents as strong percentage gains are being sustained for all Types in PCGS MS63 and better condition. All of this bodes well for the remainder of the month as many dealers have headed west to take in the Silver Dollar and Rare Coin Expo in St Louis as well as Scotsman's sale both commencing October 20th. Then many will try their luck in Las Vegas October 27 as the ANA sponsored show and Bowers & Merena Auction will close out the month.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks. Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels. www.cdnpublications.com

Sight-Unseen Bids Spur Trades

Auction Calendar Crowded In October, November

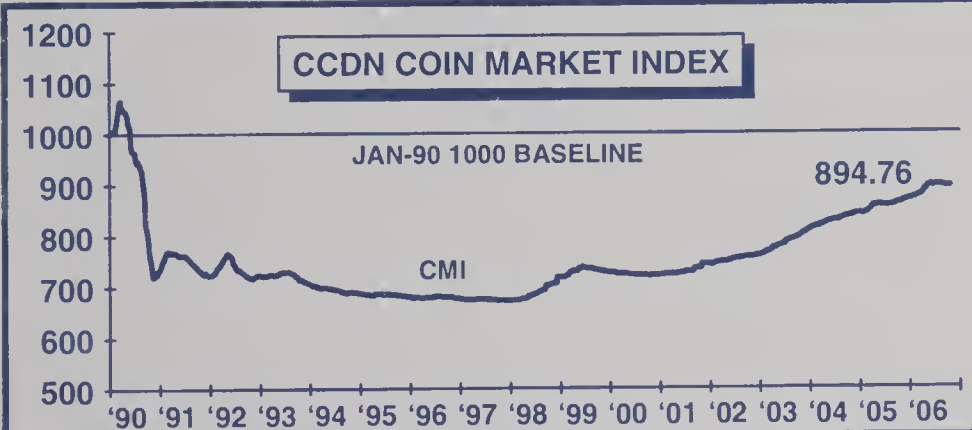

The rare coin market continues to be mixed. Fall is supposed to be a time when the market excels and buying picks-up following summer vacations, instead, it's rather choppy. Things seem to be in a holding pattern, and for those looking to buy coins it's an advantage. This consolidation period is an important ingredient for everyday transactions to occur and that is precisely what many rare coin dealers want because it allows them to do business in a regular fashion. They appreciate a pace that's less hectic than we were experiencing earlier in the year when Bids were charging higher and demand was outrageously strong. However better and key date coins continue to do very well at public auction and in private transactions. Serious collectors have bid their time, and with the help of dealers many are able to buy select rarities at reasonable prices. In some instances they are paying a little bit less than they had originally budgeted for. The precious metals, especially Gold and Silver have also played an important role in the current softer toned market. Earlier in the year when both metals were hitting two decades and more highs' dealers noticed many more people coming through the doors. That interest has slowed down and Gold remains extremely volatile. It is trading in a range that brings each new assault ever so close to the magic $600 benchmark only to have it turned back as buyers have become scarce at that level. This volatility should stay in place as long as the value of the U.S. dollar and the price of oil continue to bounce around. Analysts are waiting for the bull market to resume but many think it may stay in its present position a while longer. Until then, we can expect Gold Type to also bounce around, reacting to the increased volatility of Spot. Softness in the general market was seen first hand by dealers in St. Louis attending the Silver Dollar Expo. Some blame it on the venue while others chalk it up to a flat Silver Dollar market. However that's not entirely true as select Morgan better dates or quality pieces are still attracting some strong money as evidenced by the nearly $1.9 Million realized at the Scotsman's sale there on Oct 20th. Down south, the October 24-25 Dallas Signature auction by Heritage realized more than $8.4 million. Select rarities did well while generics stayed soft. Leading the pack we note the rare 1921 $20 Saint graded as MS63 by PCGS strode in with an impressive $218,500, a tough to find 1919S Buffalo Nickel grading PCGS MS66 claimed $109,250 another 1919, this a Denver strike Standing Liberty Quarter grading

MS66FH by NGC topped $63,250 and a superb 1915 S/S PanPac Half graded MS68 by PCGS brought home $66,125.

The current sight-unseen market may well be an expose in what you don't see. Perhaps at first glance the lack of apparent plus signs may indicate to some that the market is softening further. However the recent wave of aggressive Bids targeting many high grade Silver Commems and NGC Type coins has born a veritable bounty of coins for these tactful Bidders as sellers have come to market in a big way with multiple goods for sale. Just take a look at the prominent "t" for trades that occurred this month in the corresponding Market columns. Conversely the best way to describe sight-unseen Morgan activity is lackluster, but then you can't expect them to do well every week. Generic Morgan and Peace Dollars are still not attracting a lot of buyers at the moment however Deep Mirror Prooflike and the fabulous keys continue to prosper but this hasn't been enough to carry total prosperity for this popular series. Those new collectors, as well as the more experienced may seize this period as an opportunity. The Silver and Gold Commem markets are similarly quiet in select areas as would-be buyers ponder their next moves. Weaker prices at public auction demonstrated the softness within Gold Commems as various MS66 issues have sold off. Walking Liberty Halves are nearly silent as well which considering their recent track record is encouraging.

Dealers will have little time to worry about all this as many will be participating in yet another auction and ANA show Oct 27 in Las Vegas. Bowers and Merena will host the auction, culminating a very busy October. November will maintain the pace with the Norweb collection auction by Stack's Nov 7-8 in Baltimore. On Nov 10-12 the Baltimore Coin & Currency Convention is expected to attract some public and a large contingent of dealers. Bowers and Merena will conduct an auction Nov 9-10 in conjunction with the show. We listed a few highlights from each of the upcoming November sales.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks. If listed on Internet and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Market Direction Uncertain As Economy Weakens

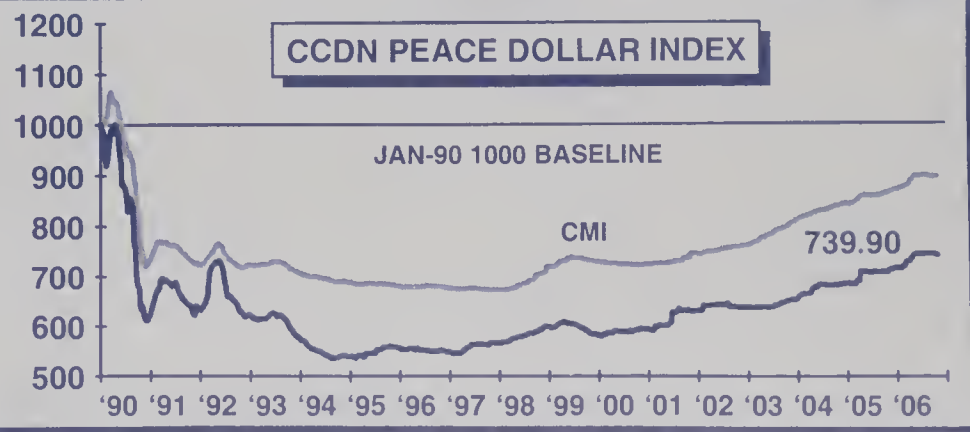

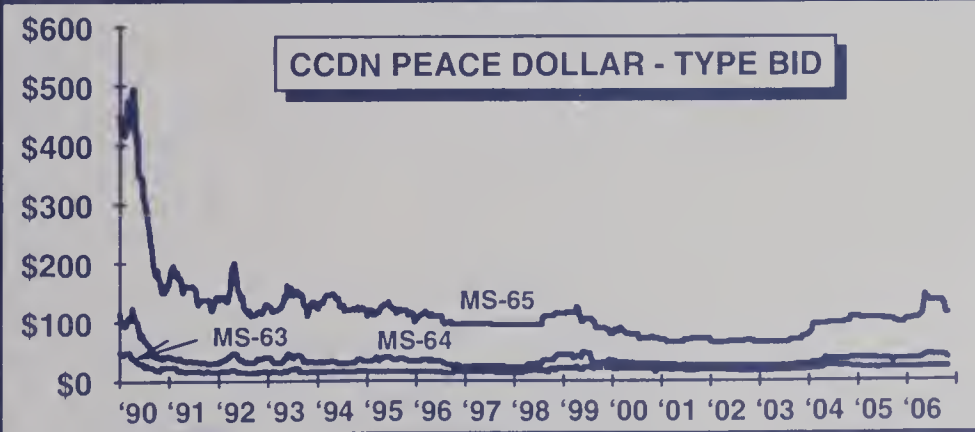

October wasn't the usually expected strong month for Gold, but as November begins we have some good news for the yellow metal. Gold has soared through $600 per ounce with ease while climbing to its highest level in nearly two months as the futures hit $624.80 in New York on Thursday. We all know that this is an obvious plus for the Gold Type sector of the rare coin market. Higher Gold stimulates more interest in bullion purchases that has a spill over effect into numismatic coins as a bonus. That's the good news however we also learned, unfortunately, that our economy is slowing. This was confirmed by the GDP's lower than expected measurement of productivity growth for the third quarter. The slowing of the economy measured by various economic statistics had an immediate impact as the U.S. dollar weakened further against most of the major world currencies. We are all cognizant that a declining dollar usually means stronger Gold and that's what has happened. Dealers are grateful that the precious metals have rebounded yet they are hoping that the weaker economy doesn't last too long or hit their customers too hard as we prepare for the holiday season. Dealers in mass are probably on their way to Baltimore hoping to get a jump on those holiday needs. First up is the Stack's Nov 7-8 Norweb collection auction followed by the Nov 9-10 Bowers and Merena auction. Their sale is being held in conjunction with Baltimore Coin & Currency Convention Nov 10-12.

The sight-unseen market remains in a state of flux as dealers try to figure out their plan of attack given all this new financial information. They are trying to decide what it all means and what is the best direction for them and their businesses to take moving forward. Many minus signs are evident this week as some select coins are dumped, either at public auction or discounted at lower wholesale Asking prices. In times of greater uncertainty, there is usually a flight towards the safety of proven rarities and liquidity. That is what may be taking place right now. Generic issues continue to come under pressure as those common, available coins make them an easy target for dismissal. Yet, we are also seeing other areas hitting the skids this week. Silver Commemoratives are often found on the hit list when funds are needed. We see that 30 NGC and PCGS Comems are being discounted with a PCGS MS66 Iowa leading the decline with a 26 percent drop to $200 Bid. There are more than 2,100 graded in PCGS MS66 and 2,850 in MS65 so when needed, a plentiful supply is always available. Many Gem quality Iowa pieces were saved so it's not that unusual to see this issue slide. Gold Comems, another good provider of cash have also been discounted at auction. Generic Morgan Dollars are still soft as dealers continue to push these common cartwheels out the door. At auction we note that the 1878 7/8F graded MS63 by NGC was a good buy as it sold some 38% under current blind money. However, we know that better dates continue to find strong support as the collector base for this issue remains powerful. Peace Dollars are still relatively healthy yet one of the keys to the series, the 1928 also in a NGC slab graded MS65 sold for nearly 10 percent lower in auction realizing $1,650. Mint State and Proof Type are rather subdued this week although Shield Nickels in NGC PR66 dropped 13 percent after an 1882 sold for only $690 at auction. In spite of Gold Spot's triumphs most issues within Mint Gold Type are mixed. Denominations from $1 thru $10 were discounted while the more bullion sensitive $20 Liberty and Saint-Gauden issues increased on the back of Spot's move. Dealers have been telling us that Proof Gold is red hot. More evidence of that demand is seen as astute dealers try to capitalize on some undervalued NGC examples. Strong percentage sight-unseen Bid increases are found among 4-, 5- and 6-figure rarities. In all, we see that more than 60 NGC issues of all denominations finished with significant gains. The highly popular and rare $4 Flowing Hair Stella tops the chart with a 20 percent gain in NGC PR67 at $240,000 Bid. There were some surprises as several semi-key Mercury Dimes sold for lower levels at auction. A PCGS MS65FB 1920-D sold for $2,400, 11 percent below last week's Bid and an NGC MS65FB 1920-S at $4,140 was 9 percent lower. However this week's biggest surprise took place among Walking Liberty Half Dollars. The generic examples from the 1940s for PCGS and NGC posted higher Bids while some better dates were sold for a significant discount through the auction venue.

Keith Love
ICG's Senior Grader

Keith has been in the rare coin business for more than 20 years as a top wholesaler, PCGS grader, and finally ICG's founder and CEO. Keith co-created and has taught the ANA Advanced Coin Grading class for more than five years. The ANA calls Keith "A renowned expert."

J. P. Martin
ICG's Senior Numismatist

J.P. has been involved in the coin industry for more than 25 years. He worked at the ANA as a grader, authenticator and numismatist for almost 15 years. J.P. has written two ANA correspondence courses on grading and authenticating, starred in the ANA educational videos on grading and authenticating, and taught counterfeit detection to a number of Secret Service agents. J.P. is a rare coin genius.

Michael Fahey
ICG's Senior Numismatist

Michael has spent 25 years at ANACS and has been a grader at a third-party service longer than anyone in history. Michael is a columnist for Coin World, has written for The Numismatist, and has authored ANA Counterfeit Detection reports. Michael will be rejoining J.P. Martin as the two worked together for years at ANACS in Colorado Springs.

Walt Armitage
ICG's Senior Grader

Walt began his coin career more than 25 years ago. In addition to operating his own successful rare coin business, Walt has spent ten years grading at ICG and PCGS and set up the World Coin Grading program at both services. An ICG founder, Walt is one of the most respected numismatists in the world.

Larry Wilson
ICG Grader

Larry has more than 30 years experience in the rare coin industry. Working with Keith Love as a rare coin wholesaler, Larry has become one of the most educated numismatists in the country. Specializing in U.S. Type and Gold, Larry has served as a mentor to many of today's successful rare coin dealers.

James Davis
ICG Grader

Jim started collecting coins 35 years ago and soon figured out he had a true knack for the hobby and started buying and selling coins for profit. He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Cameron Kiefer
ICG Grader

Cameron is a former Young Numismatist (YN) of the Year, the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) highest award, given annually to the most outstanding numismatist 21 years of age or younger. He is an active coin grading instructor at The ANA Summer Seminar and at many coin conventions. Cameron is certainly an up-in-coming star at ICG and in the numismatic world.

Sue Berg

Stack's Norweb Collection Claims $13.2 Million

Generics Trade At Lower Levels

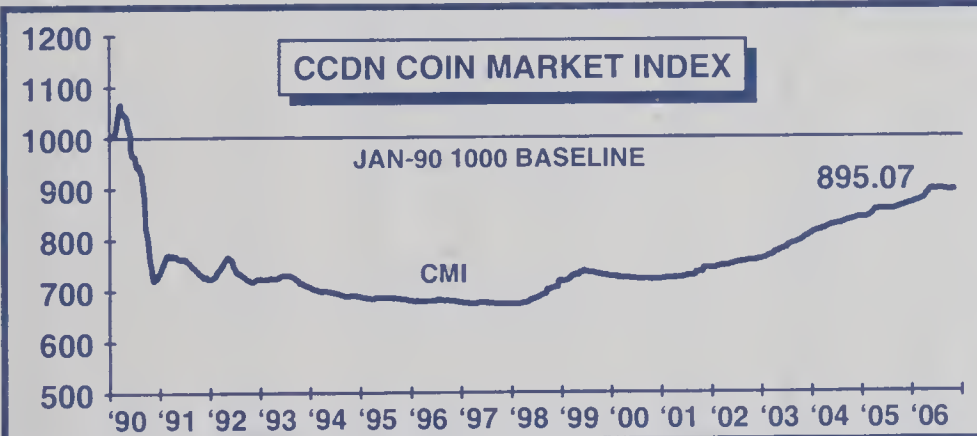

Nobody said that the precious metals' ride wouldn't be a bumpy one! As Gold Spot continues to gyrate up and down rare coin dealers have fastened their seat belts and just seem to go with the ebb and flow. The more than $10 drop in Gold Spot to $615 was apparently nothing more than profit taking, according to analysts. Since then oil found buyer support at $58 per barrel and Gold quickly recovered the $10 and pushed even higher past $630 per ounce as fund buyers got more interested. Silver is doing very well also as it is poised, once again, to hit $13 per ounce. Of course the election results have weighed in, where Democrats have taken back control of the House of Representatives and the Senate, a situation that may add its share of uncertainty to the market, especially because the President maintains his veto power. Still, the rare coin market moves in its own vacuum at times, oblivious to everything that's going on around it. For example, whenever a big time collection or coin hits the auction block, there are usually major battles almost certain to produce record prices. Stack's $13.2 million sale held November 7-8 was just such an auction. We have listed a few of the regular issue certified coin highlights below. Much attention surrounded the sale of the Norweb Collection in Baltimore, featuring Washingtonia pieces along with other consignor rarities. The strength of the rare coin market may be gauged by the powerful Bids seen for some of the more esoteric areas of the coin market. One of two known Gold examples of the 1889 100th Anniversary of Washington's Inaugural Medal, designed by Augustus St. Gaudens brought $391,000 while the massive and unique 1848 Zachary Taylor Gold Medal realized $460,000. A PCGS MS64B 1792 Pattern Washington Cent sold at $299,000. Also, the Archangel Collection of Private and Territorial Gold Coin portion of the auction found extraordinary demand often reaching 6-figures. An 1852 $10 Moffat & Co. grading MS64 prooflike realized $276,000 while an MS64 (1849) $10 Miners Bank claimed $230,000. It all adds up to seriously strong underlying collector demand for rare coins as well as for exnumia.

On the other hand, you may not know it by what's happening in the specialized sight-unseen market. As the holiday season is edging closer, dealers continue to prepare themselves for the expected increase in demand. Maintaining liquidity is very important if one is to take advantage of the many auctions and shows that are slated for this month. The Baltimore Convention and Bowers and Merena auction are underway and this is quickly followed by the Santa Clara Expo and Superior auction in California November 16-19. So, for dealers looking for some quick cash many Silver and Gold Commems are still an easy sell. We see that several PCGS and NGC Silver Commem candidates are being discounted in MS65 and better condition this week. Sales of these coins provide dealers with some much needed funds to be ready to take advantage of the upcoming shows and auctions. They also know that when needed at a later time they are just as easy to replace. Common Full Banded Gem Mercury Dimes, MS65 Walkers as well as Common Gem Type II Buffalo Nickels are being jettisoned as well. We still see a steady stream of the above mentioned trio sliding by at auction venues for as much as 36% under Bid for common PCGS MS65FB Mercs, 21% under for Gem Walkers and 20% below blind market for common Type II Buffalo Nickels. As sight-unseen buyers on the electronic dealer trading networks remain omnipresent for multiples of this type of material, someone is apparently missing the boat. Whether it is the buyers missing an opportunity by not participating in the multitude of public auctions or the auctions houses not capitalizing top dollar for their consignors remains to be seen. Generic and slightly better date Morgans are also ripe for sale as well. MS65 common dates now Bid at $112 for both PCGS and NGC examples. Weakness is also apparent for common Prooflike Dollars. The Type markets are quiet although we still see a lot of supporting Bids at current levels. Better date Washington Quarters were hit as well. When these issues were hot dealers stocked up and now since they have cooled many have decided to sell-off some. Matte Proof Lincoln Cents found more visible buyer support for the perceived undervalued NGC examples in all color schemes in PR64 thru PR67. Middle 1930s to 1947 Walking Liberty Half Dollars in MS65 and MS66 were in decline with several suffering double digit decreases. Proof Walkers and Mercury Dimes were discounted as they are usually available when you need a few.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers — are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Selective Buying Expected In Santa Clara Market Saturated With Average Material

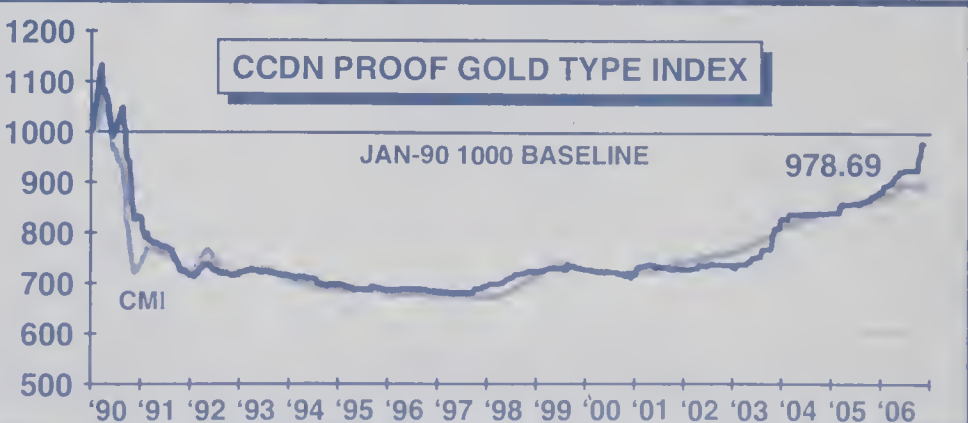

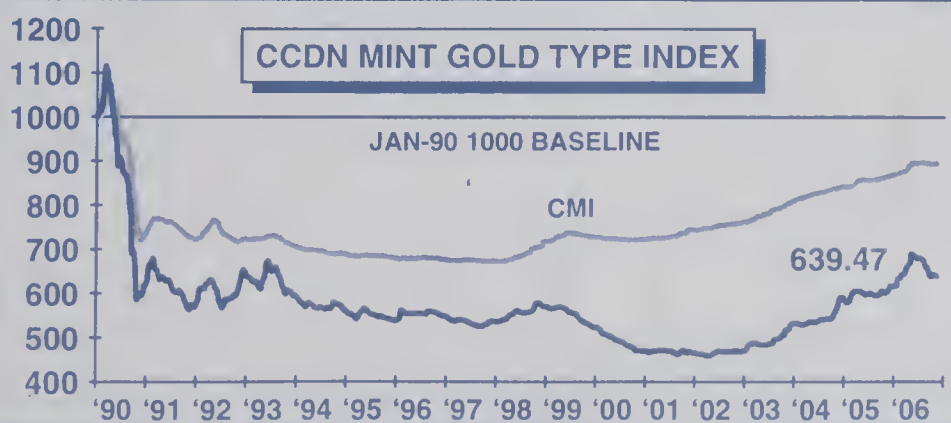

Nothing has really changed this week as far as the precious metals are concerned as their activity level has been running on high octane. Although Gold came under some selling pressure after crude oil dropped on the world markets, the yellow metal still holds significant buyer bias above the $600 benchmark. So as both Gold and Silver continue to position themselves around $620 and over $12.50 respectively, things are generally looking more bullish. Usually this scenario bodes well for the rare coin market yet we still see a mixed bag of numismatic goods with many areas experiencing weakness. A large number of auctions have flooded the marketplace with a multitude of coins; finding record prices for some and for others ample opportunity to escape with some bargains. Auction prices realized, current Bids and offers to sell coins combine to define a market's position. Right now many knowledgeable dealers believe that the market is becoming saturated with average coins. Recent higher Bids and phenomenal prices realized made it an easy choice to consign one's coin collection or to sell a particular rarity. As these coins pour endlessly on the scene, it makes it more difficult for them to all find homes with the ultimate consumer, the collector. It is also important to remember that this is a time when dealers are interested in clearing out some material to make room for those coins that are the "hot" items. Obviously generic coins are the first in line to sell and raise some quick money. Conversely, it is becoming more apparent that some of the better dates are also participating in this market saturation. Those better dates in higher grades that are near the lower end of that grade level definition are not realizing prices as strong as a premium quality or "PQ" example could command on the bourse, or at public auction. However, it is also important to remember that several segments of today's marketplace are still finding strong demand. These areas include just about all Proof Gold Type, Early Mint State Copper as well as most Draped and Capped Bust Silver denominations, just to name a few. Yet the flip side of this finds a tremendous amount of material that is just considered average or slightly below, those that seem to grace many dealers' inventories from show to show. That is why the market continues to remain mixed this mid November. These sentiments are also accompanying many dealers already in Santa Clara for the Expo and Superior auction. Selectivity will be the very important operative as dealers try to do some business in California. The mixed nature of today's sight-unseen market is pointing out some areas of weakness quite clearly. A top grade collection of Walking Liberty Half Dollars, for example, sold at public auction and the results explained some of these discrepancies. There were approximately two dozen MS64 and better Walkers losing 5 percent or more. A 1937-S grading PCGS MS67 gave up nearly 30% after an example sold at auction for $3,740. Keep in mind that this is still a rare coin in this condition. The combined population of PCGS and NGC in MS67 stands at 25 with none graded higher. However premium PCGS MS65 specimens of the 1919-D and 1921-S did receive huge results, raking in $172,500 and $161,000 respectively. Earlier in the bull rare coin market you could almost buy any coin and make money. Not today! Consequently many like to go with the prevailing flow and concentrate on those areas that are hot. Generic Mercury Dimes gave up ground as many coins were let go at auction, some selling for as much as 50 percent below blind money. This remains a paradox as several buyers are still looking to secure large quantities of generic Gem and better Full Banded Mercs. In other sight-unseen trading we don't see too many areas of strength. Morgan Dollars continued their slide as well. Two better dates led the list on the down side: a PCGS MS65 1904 dove 32 percent to $1,500 while a PCGS MS63 1886-O fell 14 percent to $2,075. Mostly, generic and slightly better dates at $2,500 and less are rather lethargic. Silver and Gold Commems are also on the soft side. Mint State Gold Type is lackluster as buyers reflect the concern of oil dropping which lessens any future inflationary outlook.

Referring to the CCDN Coin Market Index 12 month graph, the market appears to have made its peak for the year reaching 897.12 on June 9. Of course present performance is everything to dealers and there are still strong performers to turn this around as Mint State and Proof Type do remain solid with many supporting Bids. The 1883 No Cent Liberty Nickels in PR61 thru PR64 are inching higher this week. Liberty Seated Half Dimes with Legend posted a 9% percent gain for NGC PR67 pieces as well.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services determined through consultation with the nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices. The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by low bids and trades. Auction Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Market Maintains Mixed Reviews Ultra Grades Receiving Super Bids

Most dealers are taking a Thanksgiving holiday break this time of year and they have a lot to be thankful for. The rare coin market, although not as hot as it was just six months ago is still very healthy. Dealers continue to tell us that they have many customers willing to pay strong money for the coins that measure up to today's increasingly high standards. These customers are deeply interested in buying coins that have strong eye appeal and pizzazz. These "PQ" coins are being put away at a rapid rate but finding them amongst a myriad of average and/or below average coins being dumped on the market has become quite the task. Bids in select areas of the market remain fairly solid, so it becomes an easy decision to sell those coins that are lackluster and in abundant supply. We know that well-heeled collectors are comfortable paying incredible record prices for the highest graded coins that exist. The flight towards quality has been increasing exponentially since the formulation and tracking of Registry Sets. These specialized enthusiasts enjoy the challenge and satisfaction of being number one or even in the top ten of a particular series. This phenomenon has been responsible for some amazing prices being realized at public auction and in private treatise of super graded rarities. As the recent appearance of a pair of PCGS MS67 Walkers will attest as a 1940S in this grade brought home an amazing $32,775 over 10 times the current sight-unseen offer of $3,200. The always popular "King" of the short-set, 1941S was a shocker realizing $90,850 this approaching 7 times over the blind offer of $13,400. Certainly these coins had the key ingredients for savvy individuals looking to beef up a registry set of Walkers. Other coins that usually can be bought for several hundred dollars in a lower Mint State grade can often reach five- and six-figures if it appears in MS68 or Proof 68 or better too. This is the super demand for quality that is with us as we close out November and it will be interesting to see if this trend continues into 2007. Gold and Silver are also receiving accolades as November winds down. Gold is shining once more as it continues to trade in a range that keeps it above $620 per ounce. Silver has maintained its price above $12.50 and has now cracked the $13 per ounce level. A bullish precious metals' market is always a plus for the rare coin market. If these metal prices are maintained or go even higher, this will bode well for strong finish of an already successful 2006.

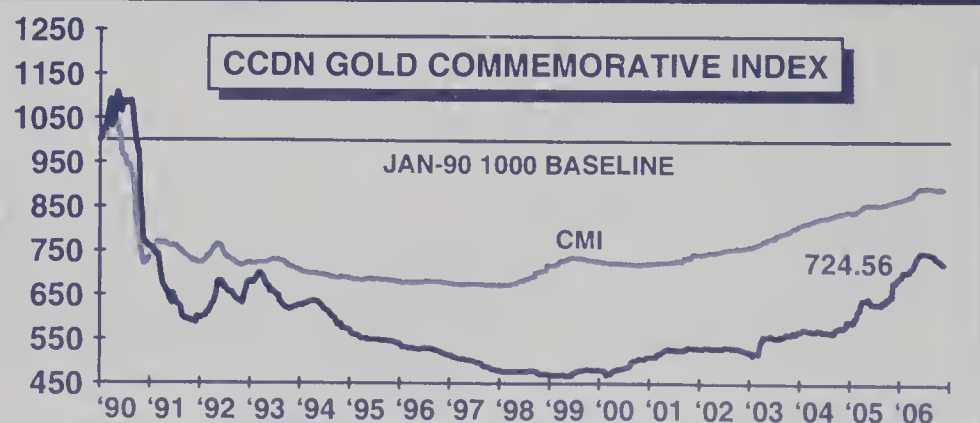

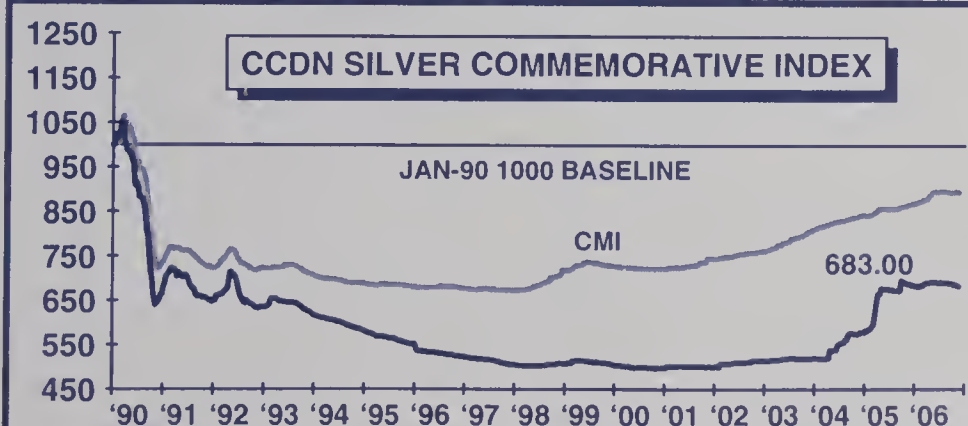

This week's sight-unseen market is reflective of what many dealers have been telling us. It is basically mixed. The weakness seen is a result of the market saturation that we alluded to last week. As quantities of average coins are dumped on the market, at public auction and via reduced wholesale prices from dealer inventories, it is a given that Bid levels will decline. Dealers are eager to begin the 2007 campaign in a cash strong position and selling off some coins in November and December is just the prudent way to accomplish this goal. Silver and Gold Commemoratives are virtually unchanged as they get a reprieve following last week's declines. Morgan Dollars are not as lucky and didn't get the pardon as they continue to slide back while looking for support. We see that relatively common dates in Gem are being blown-out to the tune of 5-12 percent below last week's level. Dealers are not concerned as they are confident that they can easily acquire this type of material at any time in the future. We do want to point out that the tide may be turning as a slight increase in NGC MS65 generic Morgans is visible as well. Proof Type is still among the strongest segments of the sight-unseen market. We see very little discounting occurring here as many collectors are chasing after this material. Proof Halves are 2-3 percent higher with PR63 Liberty Seated, Motto and PR63 Barber Halves inching upward. Mint State Type declined with Barber Quarters losing ground in PCGS MS64-65. Liberty Nickels and 3-Cent Silvers followed suit with double digit loses for NGC MS66 and MS64 examples respectively. Mint State Gold Type mirrors the general market with mixed activity. The 5 and 10 beat finds Buffalo Nickels down and Mercury Dimes mixed, in keeping with the selectivity of today's market. A few MS65FB NGC common date Merces are up 5 percent while a 1942-D in NGC MS67FB leaped 18 percent to $65 Bid. Walking Liberty Half Dollars had a weak week with some middle and some late dates dropping in a range of 3-13 percent. The softest portion of this weakness was seen among 1935 and 1936 Philadelphia issues in Gem. Take a look at the chart to the left giving the breakdown for the popular Walking Liberty Half Dollar short-set in MS64-MS67 over the last two years. Perhaps some quality conscious players may want to step in.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks, sell lists, coin shows and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase, or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month.

COMMEMORATIVES

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

The Fine Print

The ICG Seven Day Guarantee: ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. Example: If your Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CNECA coins and ancient coins. "Days" are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. Nothing in this offer precludes it superseding the terms and conditions on the ICG grading submission form.

Discounting Triggered To Raise Funds Proof Type Higher In Mixed Sight-Unseen Market

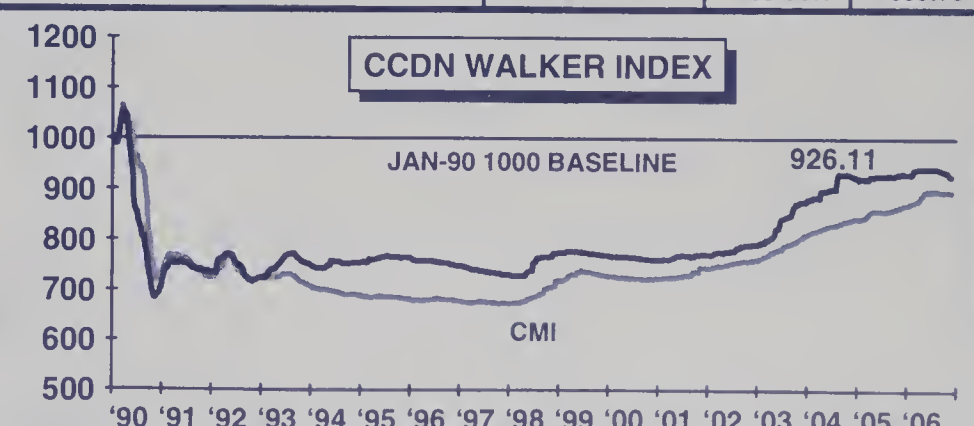

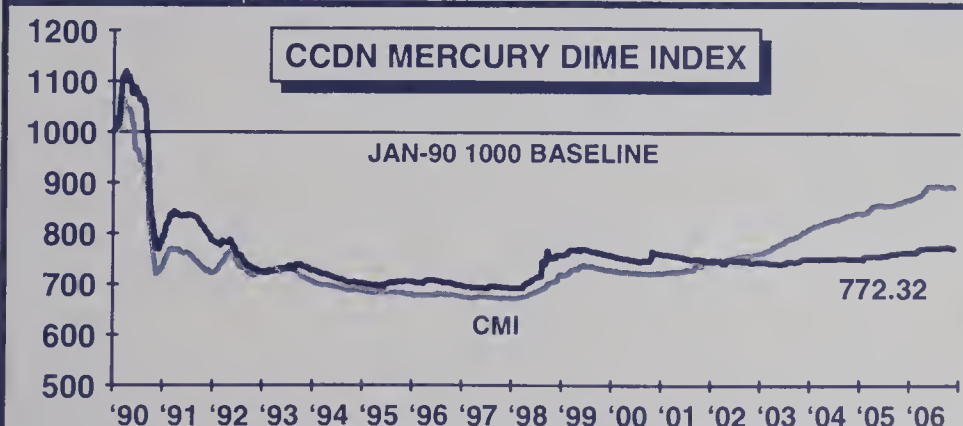

Most dealers agree that 2006 has been a banner year with a steady stream of demand for most coins. It has also been a campaign that has seen many series and rarities commanding higher levels on a consistent basis. As such the overall healthy tone to the market is still receiving accolades from many although they know that things were much more profitable earlier in the year. Still, the majority are able to conduct business and that's paramount as we begin December. Yet for some dealers running low on cash reserves, this is their final chance to "blow-out" some of those coins that are spotted, ugly or just average for the grade. Some of these are those "surprise" coins that are mixed in with larger lots perhaps bought hurriedly on the bourse or in other acquisitions. Regardless of how they arrived, they need to go! Of course many of them will also be generic or near common for their Type as these are the main targets for generating those extra funds to keep liquidity running high. Most need to be in this comfort zone because the new year is set to open with a bang, that being the Florida United Numismatist Convention and auction January 4-7. Buyers understand that this initial major show of the year is one that may predict market direction and insights for 2007. It also is important because many dealers and high-powered investors tend to bring some of their better material to this attractive venue. Hopefully many coins in attendance will be amongst those prominently featured on want lists for your customers.

The precious metals have had a hand in the fueling of the bull market and Gold and Silver may be in the beginnings of staging an end of the year rally. As this article is being written Gold has powered above $645 per ounce while Silver is pushing $13.90. Some analysts point towards a larger than expected October increase in the core inflation rate combined with a weaker U.S. Dollar as the reason. Often, as inflationary fears grow people seek financial haven protection by buying Gold. A sustained rally above $640 tells analysts that Gold may reach $700 by the end of 2006. The increases in Silver and Gold will push bullion sensitive issues higher in the short run while courting more interest for those coins valued more for their rarity in the long run. This surge, coming at time when holiday sales are already expected to be strong, should only add to the bottom line of what has been a prosperous 2006.

The sight-unseen market is still displaying quite a bit of discounting as public auctions complete many transactions at, and below Bid. This weakness is generally expected during this time of year as dealers look to fortify their cash needs while preparing to get off to a good start in 2007. Silver Commemoratives are not a stranger to the discounting group as more than two dozen issues grading MS65 and better drop. An NGC MS66 1934-D Oregon Trail takes top dishonor in the decline by falling 13.4 percent. Also, a PCGS MS65 York sold at an auction for only $200, 20 percent below the current sight-unseen Bid of $250. Morgan Dollars, on the other hand, have a little bit of everything. Generic dates grading MS63 thru MS66 are up slightly. MS65 generic Peace Dollars are equally higher as well. Surging Spot Silver is certainly being a noble ally here as we note that dealers on various electronic networks are trading many more common Dollars. However, more than 30 select Morgan issues covering a broad spectrum are being discounted. An NGC MS65 1891 is 13 percent lower precipitated by its $3,680 auction sale. Most of the Morgans selling for below Bid are insignificant for a quick trade due to the low dollar amount of benefit. Some other market bright spots reveal that Proof Type is a stellar performer again this week. The tiny turned up big winners as an NGC PR62 3-Cent Silver Type II powered 20 percent higher matched by an NGC PR67 Liberty Seated Half Dime with Legend. Nine issues jumped 10 percent or more as dealers clamor their need for Proof Type by Bidding perceived undervalued issues higher. Conversely Mint State Type is very quiet. No sell-off is seen in this segment yet some weakness is observed for a couple of Choice to Gem Barber Quarters and Halves. Mint State Gold Type is mixed with bullion sensitive $20 issues higher and other denominations in various grades declining. Yet as Gold Spot continues to escalate dealers need to remember to protect their "Asks" as several astute players can quickly take advantage of a market upturn before dealers adjust their selling prices to the prevailing market. Minor discounting is found among select Buffalo Nickels and Mercury Dimes but none too serious. Walkers displayed eight fairly common Gem Uncirculated and Proof examples sliding by 10 percent or more.

*The ICG Seven Day Guarantee - ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. Example: If your 10 coin Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CONECA, world and ancient coins. "Days" are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. Nothing in this offer precludes or supersedes the terms and conditions on the ICG grading submission form.

He is an ANA Life Member and took his first classes on grading and authenticating coins at the ANA in the early Eighties. He is the founder of the South Bay Coin Club and before joining ICG was the owner of four coin shops in Southern California. Davis enjoys error coins and is an expert in all U.S. coins.

Coin Presentation

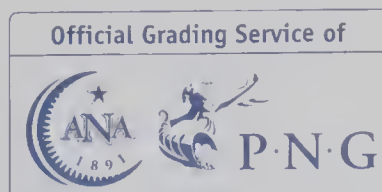

Redefined.

Bring the Pride of Your Collection into Your Home or Office with an NGC Photo Proof.

*Just one of the ways

The coins in your collection are among your most cherished possessions. Yet, because of their value, many of your finest and most interesting pieces must be securely locked away. While you'd love to keep these prized examples at home to display for family and friends, this risk has until now made it impractical. Now you can bring the satisfaction of presenting your finest pieces back into your home and office with the PHOTO PROOF digital imaging and presentation service from NGC. With PHOTO PROOF, you can share the joy of coin collecting with young and old, while your coins remain safely stored in a vault.

Year End Clearance Continues 1839 Liberty Seated Half, No Drapery Soars

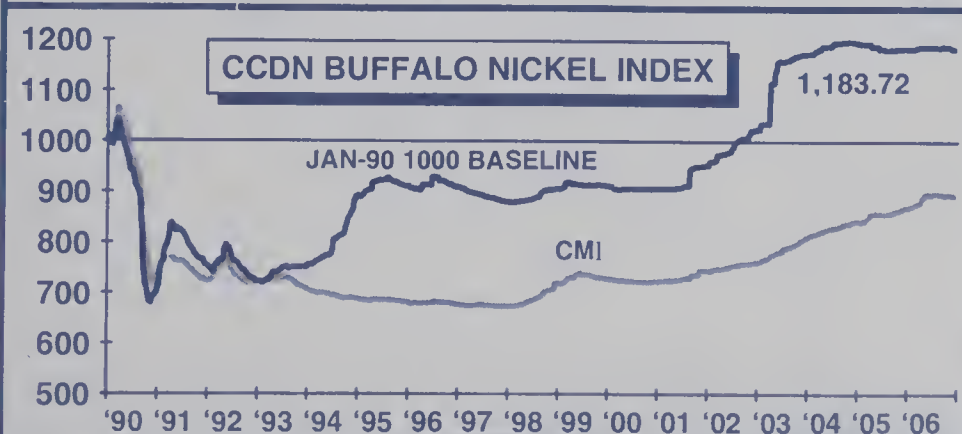

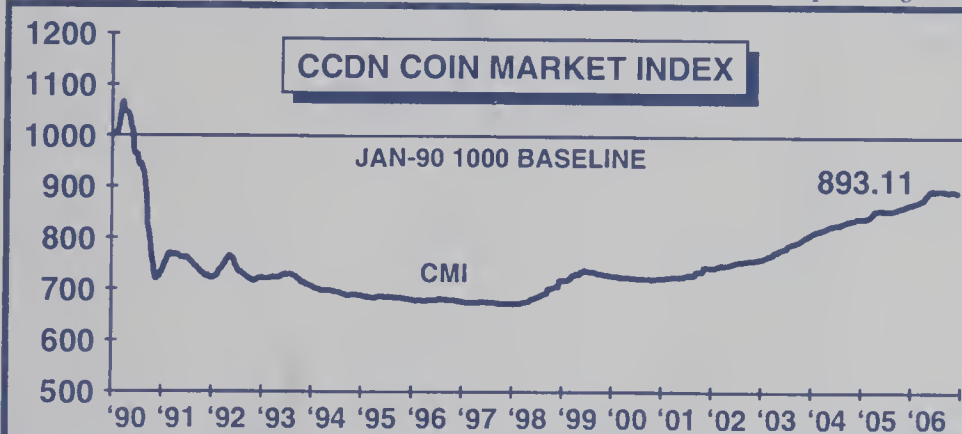

The precious metals' market has been quite the volatile player all year long and December has been no exception. Gold, after staging an impressive rally early this month that carried it above $645 per ounce began to retreat while hitting a 2-week low falling below $630. Gold has since reclaimed some composure at $630 per ounce while Silver moved above $13.80 per ounce. Analysts say that Gold is following the movement of the U.S. Dollar where it maintains its inverse relationship. This time it was an encouraging U.S. job growth data report that allowed the dollar to surge at the expense of the yellow metal. Economists also point towards Gold as being more costly for those holding foreign currencies whenever the U.S. dollar is stronger. Still pundits continue to be bullish about the precious metals. They maintain this positive bias because of the report about China's increase in consumption. This Asian power is presently the third largest Gold consumer in the world and is adding even stronger demand to the equation with a projected 17 percent increase this year. Only India and the U.S. consume more. This unpredictability plays havoc with bullion sensitive coins that have acted, at times, like a yo-yo.

While the December rare coin market remains mixed, we do notice that signs of strong demand for select areas demonstrate that we are still entrenched in a bull market. This momentum should bode well for the Florida United Numismatists Show and auction scheduled for January 4-7, 2007 in Orlando. This is one of the most important shows held all year and its activity is closely monitored for the new year's market direction. The appearance here of the finest known 1913 Liberty Nickel, the Eliaseberg specimen has already propagated quite a stir. This American numismatic icon graded by PCGS as a PR66 will anchor what will surely be a blockbuster sale as Stack's will start the 2007 auction campaign on January 2nd in Orlando. The Morgan Dollar series activity is also an important market indicator and we have seen genuine improvement taking place over the last few weeks. The timing should benefit the appearance of the finest PCGS Registry Set of DMPL Dollars to be displayed at FUN. Dealers will obviously be interested in doing some serious buying in Orlando. They want to get off on the right step for the new year by placing some nice coins with their customers and beefing up their inventories. Early coinage and rarities exhibiting quality at each grade level have been performing admirably for most of 2006 and more of the same is expected for 2007. These early historic and rare coins of Copper, Silver, and Gold are what dealers have been willing to pay strong money for at public auction and they expect that trend to continue. Similarly, the key dates and various semi-keys are generally expected to outperform other groups as the next campaign begins.

The sight-unseen market remains mixed with a heavy tilt towards the minus. Select areas are still susceptible towards the quick sale and dealers are willing to let coins go in an effort to make room for new material entering 2007. Discounting is evident with several coins selling significantly below sight-unseen Bid. Silver and Gold Commemoratives are a primary target as we see coins in this segment selling at double digit discounted levels. Morgan and Peace Dollars face a similar situation as select coins are blown-out at auction. These are not keys or generics but rather those slightly better dates that are still easy enough to find when needed. Buffalo Nickels, Mercury Dimes and Walking Liberty Half Dollars are in the same boat as well. Auction sales have taken its toll and bargain hunters are enjoying an early holiday gift this year. Check out some of these sales: a PCGS MS66 1938 Walker at $430; an NGC MS65 1939-S Walker sold for $207; the pride of the Walkers' short-set, 1941S grading NGC MS65 possibly an incredible bargain at $322. Several early Washington Quarters were also weary participants as a key 1936D graded MS65 by PCGS was a steal at $633 an NGC MS66 1928 Buffalo brought $518; and a PCGS 67FB 1935-S Mercury Dime was let go at $920.

Type continues to be among the best performers as we take down the curtain for 2006. Dealers tell us that many of their customers are searching for nice Type and they are always on the lookout for this material. This week's stand-out is the 1839 No Drapery Liberty Seated Half Dollar. It jumped a staggering 125 percent to $18,000 Bid for any PCGS MS63 example. This will certainly prove to be a daunting task as there have only been 12 graded at this level with only 9 deemed better. Of course some ugly Type examples are ripe for a quick sale and we see this occurring, especially when the end of the year rolls around and the need for cash beckons.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers — are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder. In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

Generic Dollars Edge Forward Analysts Ponder 2007 Coin Market

The rare coin market appears to be closing out the year in excellent shape. Some were expecting a harder landing after a very volatile year but it looks as if some strength is returning to the market instead. The Federal Reserve Bank's committee met for the final time this year and decided to keep the Federal Funds Rate, short term interest rate between banks unchanged at 5.25 percent. The Fed is still concerned about inflation but it becomes a delicate balancing act trying not to weaken the economy in the process. Dealers of course are quite cognizant of these financial trends as they plan various acquisition strategies for the year ahead.

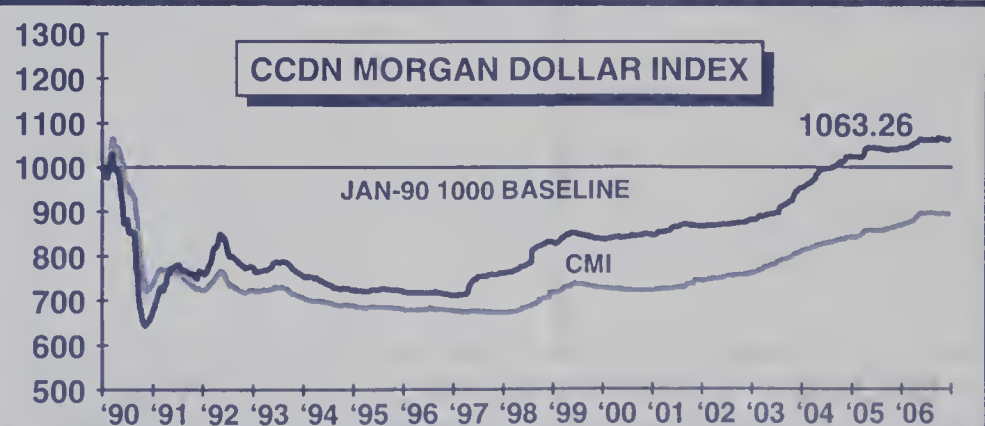

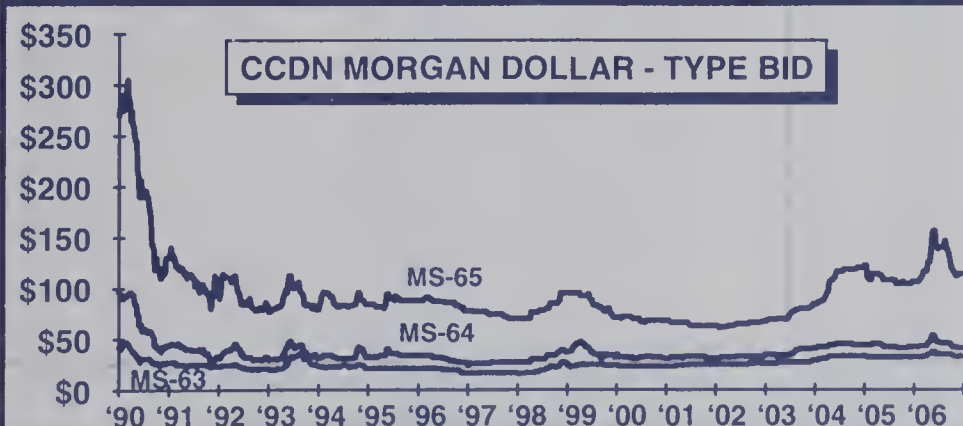

Precious metals were a driving force earlier in 2006 and after a fall from favor have rebounded nicely as we are ready to close the book on another successful campaign. The rejuvenation within the precious metals sector may be one reason why interest in rare coins is again on the upturn. After all it wasn't that long ago that the doomsayers were out in force when Gold Spot was hovering around $560 and Silver under $11 during the first week of October. Now the most recent bump in the metals seems to have brought in more buyers from the sidelines looking to purchase and sell bullion. It is precisely this increase in traffic that dealers are banking on will ultimately introduce more buyers to the numismatic camp. Dealers are of course looking forward to a veritable traffic jam of customers on the bourse as the Florida United Numismatist Show in Orlando January 4-7 is their next destination. The new year will start fast and furious as a large number of auction lots are scheduled to be sold and that will certainly consume a great deal of the funds that dealers and collectors have allotted. We know that the finest known 1913 Liberty Head Nickel, a Superb Gem Proof from the Eliasberg Collection will potentially be the first multimillion dollar coin sale of the year when it hits the auction block January 2nd in Orlando. This and other select rarities are being offered by Stack's. Superior will host its Orlando 2007 Elite Coin Auction January 2-3 as well. Heritage follows with the Florida United Numismatists 2007 Orlando Signature Coin Auction January 3-6. So, there will be plenty of material available for dealers and collectors alike to digest. Perhaps not quite the January white sale, yet many collectors will be out in force looking for some bargains and to escape the winter blues.

Most of the dealers that we spoke to believe that the market will continue bullish. However, they don't necessarily expect prices to spike as dramatically as we have seen earlier in this bull's rampage. Also, they expect the selective discerning nature of today's demand to continue as well. Regardless, dealers and coin market analysts will take a hard look at all the Florida United Numismatists' activity hoping to anticipate or spot any market defining trends for 2007.

This week's sight-unseen market is still mixed but some positive things are happening. Interest and increasing Bids have pushed Generic Dollars higher as some bottom feeders want to buy while the buying is good. The lower Mint State grades from MS61-MS63 have each inched higher for the Morgans while Peace Dollars moved higher in MS63-MS64. Supporting Bids are being maintained for the majority of issues within these popular Silver Dollar series. On the other hand weakness is still evident among some Silver Commemoratives and Walking Liberty Halves from 1938-1947. We do see that some better Commems such as the MS66 Cincinnati, 1921 Pilgrim in MS67 and the MS63 Hawaiian all reflect minor discounting. The good news here is that the number of declining issues is diminishing. Conversely several late date MS67 Walkers were clobbered with a PCGS and NGC MS67 1947 dropping nearly 18 and 13 percent respectively. Liquidity may be behind these sharp declines but it also means that someone may have just been on the receiving end of an early holiday gift. Mint State and Proof Type continue to outperform the general market. Trade Dollars and Standing Liberty Quarters lead the charge as buyers try to add a few before the FUN show. Trade Dollars moved ahead by as much as 9 percent for those issues grading MS62 and MS63. Trade Dollars often take a back seat to the more popular Morgan and Peace Dollars but a few astute dealers see them as an excellent value right now. Mint Gold is spawning some interest as bullion edges higher. Franklin Halves are a tale of two cities as several here enjoyed gains by as much as 20% only to see several sell lower at auction, dropping Bid by as much as 40 percent for the 1949 in NGC MS66. Still as the holiday rush is on plenty of material such as this may be available at veritable bargain prices.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity (including the highest nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDn may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid or by Asks or Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDn uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers and are strictly the responsibility of the dealers, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDn does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

THIS MONTH'S FEATURE

1793 Chain Cent

The first regular coins struck by the federal government of the United States on its own machinery and within its own premises were the 36,103 Chain cents struck in the first twelve days of March of 1793. The chain device on the reverse was an obvious allusion to the interconnectedness of the fifteen states in the Union.

The most famous variety of Chain cent has the word AMERICA abbreviated as AMERI. on the reverse. This is a highly prized coin as it is considered the first variety struck of the first regular issue produced in the United States Mint.

Probably no more than 1,500 to 2,000 Chain cents of all varieties may actually survive today. Many of these are impaired, low grade coins. The uncirculated example illustrated above resides in the Smithsonian's National Numismatic Collection.

The Fine Print
 The ICG Seven Day Guarantee: ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. Example: If your 15 coin Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CON, CA and all other coins. "Days" are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back. Nothing in this offer precludes or supersedes the terms and conditions on the ICG grading submission form.

OBSOLETE MARKET MATURES AUCTION RESULTS DISPLAY STRENGTH

across the market

The market for currency notes and coins has been active in the past few months, with a number of significant transactions taking place. The most notable of these has been the sale of a large quantity of 1963-1964 100 dollar bills, which were sold for a total of $1.2 million. This sale was the result of a long-term collection of these bills, which were held by a private collector. The sale was conducted by a leading auctioneer, and the results were very successful. The 100 dollar bills were sold at a premium of 10% over their face value, which is a very good result for this type of currency.

The fact that such a large quantity of 100 dollar bills were sold at a premium is a very good indication of the strength of the market for currency notes and coins. It also shows that there is still a strong demand for these items, even though they are now considered obsolete.

Pre FUN Liquidation Persists Last Issue For The Year — Happy Holidays

This will be the last issue of the Certified Coin Dealer Newsletter for 2006. We hope that you and your families have a healthy and happy holiday season. The next CCDN will be published on January 5, 2007.

Most coin dealers have been very pleased with the amount of business generated in 2006. Many of them still assert that the bull market remains in control. Yet as they contemplate the fast approaching 2007 they do concede that it isn't quite as strong and vigorous as in past years. Nonetheless as we view the CCDN Coin Market Index below, we note some extremely strong performers since January led by Proof Gold Type, Saint-Gaudens as well as Early Gold Type to name a few. Dealers are also further encouraged by the progress made throughout 2006 by the precious metals, primarily Gold and Silver. They are also happy because future prognostications for Gold and Silver by analysts call for a strong 2007. They know that increasing metals' prices help to stimulate and create new demand for all coins, not only those that are sold based on their bullion value. Pundits concur that the secular bull market for the precious metals is definitely not an aberration. It is also helpful that a U.S. delegation in Beijing said that China might be interested in reducing its holding of U.S. dollars by as much as one trillion. The tentative plan is to convert those funds to Euros, Gold and Silver; certainly a bullish act for the metals in 2007. However as the growing collector base and interest in rare coins remain intact, the key operatives as we start the new year will still be selectivity, rarity, and quality.

The first real test in 2007 will happen quickly with the impending sale of the finest of five known 1913 Liberty Head Nickels. A PCGS PR66 example that formerly resided in the famed Louis E. Eliasberg collection will hit the auction block January 2. It has already received a pre-sale Bid of $3,220,000. This numismatic icon is part of the Orlando Sale by Stack's. The action doesn't stop there because Superior is hosting their Elite Auction January 2-3. Heritage concludes the auction barrage with the official Florida United Numismatists sale January 3-6 in Orlando. Dealers have been preparing for these sales as well as for the FUN show by selling select coins. It doesn't hurt to sell this material at this time of year anyway because they like to be in a strong cash position when starting the new campaign.

It is understandable that the sight-unseen market is closing the 2006 calendar quietly, with only those issues that are ripe for raising some cash still being jettisoned. Naturally this means that some issues must be sold right away so we see several selling below Bid. Discounting often occurs at the end of the month and even more so when that month is December. By now most dealers have resolved their final 2006 activities and are looking ahead towards a promising 2007. Silver Commemoratives are a usual target because they are popular with collectors, easy to sell as well as being fairly easy to buy back. Notice the dozen MS63 thru MS66 issues with minus signs culminating in 9-18 percent declines. An NGC MS66 1951 Booker T. Washington PDS set heads the list with the 18 percent drop. A few Gold Commems also dropped. Some sundry Mint State Type is being sold at lower levels as well. Spotty December auction sales combined with lower Asking prices to push some issues down. For example, Barber Dimes in NGC MS66 dropped nearly 13 percent from last week at $640 Bid. A PCGS MS65 1912 Liberty Head Nickel sold at auction for only $460, 12 percent below a sight-unseen Bid of $525. Walking Liberty Half Dollars are another favorite when it comes to "dumping" to free-up some cash. Notice that many of the middle dates are being sold off as most of the later dates have previously been discounted. A PCGS MS66 1938 is now Bid at $415, a 21 percent decline from its previous $525 Bid. A PCGS MS66 1934 is down 18 percent from its former $525 Bid at $430. Mercury Dimes lead the pack when it comes to selling at auction for well below current sight-unseen Bid. Unfortunately the low dollar amount usually doesn't make it an attractive opportunity.

However this week may make you think again as a PCGS MS67FB 1941-S brought only $55 at auction in the face of $160 sight-unseen Bids. Two dealers are looking for 21 examples at that level. These coins are out there as 213 examples have been graded as such by PCGS. Weakness is also pervasive within the Morgan Dollar series. As you can see, many relatively common issues have been reduced during the latter days of December. If you're looking for some positives check out Proof Type where PR63 Liberty Seated Halves along with PR63 and PR64 Barber Halves gained some ground. Besides that, positive attitudes about the 2007 market also remain outstanding.

The Certified Coin Dealer newsletter (the Bluesheet) reports current wholesale market Bids for coins certified by the most active grading services, determined through careful study of market activity, nationally reported sight-unseen Bids, Asks, Trades, prior levels, and auction prices). The CCDN may not respond to the removal of a high Bid, but will be strongly influenced by the lowering of an unsupported high Bid by Asks. Trades which are near or below current Bid. CCDN uses every means available to insure accuracy and completeness of the wholesale levels shown. Individual buy and sell prices will vary among dealers, are strictly for informational purposes only, and may fluctuate according to needs. CCDN does not represent that it is possible to purchase selected coins at Bid levels.

MARKET LISTINGS

MARKET columns reflect the latest dealer-to-dealer selling prices seen in the market, based on monitoring Low Asks or Last Trades from wholesale trading networks sell lists coin shows and other sources of wholesale transactions. Auction prices realized or retail trading information are used to adjust prices for infrequently traded issues. The Publisher warrants that it has exercised due diligence; presently, there is no practicable method of following all wholesale postings or transactions. Readers should be aware that there is no implied guaranty or belief that the prices listed are actually representative of the current market value of any coin; listing does not guarantee that such a coin is now available for purchase, or that it was actually available at the time the Market price was posted. Due to the volatile nature of the market, current values may be greater or less than the market price listed. A higher grade coin might display a lower Market level than a lower grade specimen, due to limited sell information. Listing Policy: During the thirty days prior to publication, we track the lowest sales-related price in the marketplace. Last Trade information normally takes precedence over Low Asks, except when a lower Ask is posted during the last week before publication. We delete stagnant Market prices which are lower than current Bid. Since the timeliness of the information is important, we use the following timing symbols: "w" - Lowest asking price during the week prior to publication (week old); "m" - Lowest asking price during the previous three weeks (month old); "t" - Trade during the most recent month; "lm" - Lowest asking price appearing last month; "lt" Trade appearing last month; "ot" Trade older than 2 months; " " a blank, for all Market prices older than two months; "a" for auction transactions; "oa" - auction older than 1 month

Some bids within represent very conservative sight-unseen buy prices on the part of the highest visible bidder
In these cases, a more accurate reflection of a coin's true value may be found in the CDN, albeit, on a sight basis.

The ICG Seven Day Guarantee: ICG will award you a certificate redeemable for double the quantity of coins submitted if we do not perform on our current guaranteed turnaround time of seven days on 15 Day Service and Economy Service submissions. Example: If your Economy submission turnaround time is eight days, ICG will send you a certificate good for a free 20-coin economy submission. Guarantee only applies to regular U.S. coin submissions, which excludes varieties, errors, CNE's, and ancient coins. *Days are ICG working days and exclude weekends and holidays. Turnaround time does not include shipping time and is measured from the day ICG receives your coins until the day ICG ships them back.
